9 U.S. Airmen Freed By Soviet

Released At Iran Border, They Are Brought To Tehran For Rest

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Nine American airmen were freed by the Russians at the Iranian border Monday after being held 11 days on charges of violating Soviet air space.

They were brought to Tehran by car and plane for a brief rest, bath and dinner before taking off for Wiesbaden, Germany. There they will report directly to U.S. Air Force European headquarters.

The nine men, seized when their plane was forced down in Soviet Armenia, were turned over to Iranian authorities at the Caspian seaside town of Astara in northwest Iran near Soviet Azerbaijan.

Flown To Tehran

Cars immediately took them to Rasht, where a waiting U.S. Air Force plane flew them to Tehran.

The men, all dressed in green flying suits, looked tired when they arrived here. Two carried small parcels. The U.S. Embassy said all nine were safe but declined further comment on their general condition. Reporters were not allowed to talk to them.

An Iranian officer who accompanied the airmen to Tehran said they appeared cheerful during the handing over formalities at the Astara frontier post. He said the Americans were not questioned by Iranian authorities at the border except for a check of their names and with a list supplied by the Russians.

Their release left nine U.S. Army men in the hands of the East German Communists. This group was seized on June 7 when their helicopter flew astray from West Germany in a thunderstorm.

The Russians had charged that the Air Force men were flying a snooping mission for the U.S. Strategic Air Command June 27 when their C118 military transport was intercepted 102 miles inside Soviet Armenia by Soviet jets. The Soviet announcement of the interception and seizure of the men said the plane burned after it landed. It was not clear whether the burning was due to Soviet jet action or whether the U.S. airmen burned it purposely to destroy military equipment.

Demanded Release

The United States, demanding the quick release of the airmen, said the plane did not deliberately cross into Soviet territory but flew off course due to navigational error in overcast weather. The U.S. statement said the plane was flying on a diplomatic mission to Iran from Germany via Cyprus and Turkey.

The Soviets said the plane crossed the Soviet-Turkish border south of Yerevan, capital of the Soviet Armenia Republic. Yerevan is about 10 miles from Turkey's east border.

Moscow radio's announcement of the release dropped the name of one of the men previously listed by Washington as having been aboard the plane.

The broadcast left out the name of Maj. Bennie A. Shupe, whose wife, Marjorie, lives in Miami, Fla. In its place it listed the name of Maj. S. D. Allen but gave no address. In Wiesbaden, the Air Force said the Russians apparently made a mistake that could have resulted from Shupe's middle name, which is Allen. The Air Force said Shupe was definitely on the plane, and that there was no Maj. Allen aboard.

NAMED — A German industralist has called nonsense a published statement that the late Ernest Heinkel, above, told a British air vice marshal that Germany was plotting World War III. Alfred Klein, general manager of the Heinkel aircraft firm, said he was referring to a statement by D. C. T. Bennett of the RAF. (AP Photofax).

Ike Requests More Authority On Passports

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower called upon Congress Monday for quick legislation to give the government authority to deny passports in the interest of U.S. foreign relations and national security.

He asked the legislation to offset a 5-4 Supreme Court decision June 16 holding that the State Department under present law lacks authority to deny passports on the basis of inquiry into the beliefs and associations of applicants.

Each day and week that passes without legislation, Eisenhower said in a special message," exposes us to great danger."

Eisenhower recalled that in recent years the secretary of state has based his limitation on passports on two general grounds: That an applicant's travel, usually to a specific country or countries, was inimical to this country's foreign relations, and the applicant was a member of the Communist party, or under its discipline, or was going abroad to aid the international Communist movement.

"It is essential that the government today have power to deny passports where their possession would seriously impair the conduct of the foreign relations of the United States or would be inimical to the security of the United States," Eisenhower said.

Since June 24 the State Department has been issuing passports in accordance with the Supreme Court ruling.

Doctor Suggests Smother Cancer During Treatment

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

LONDON (AP)—A smothering treatment to kill cancer was suggested Monday by Dr. Samuel Graff of New York City.

It cuts in half the amount of oxygen in the air a person breathes. That means all his body cells get less oxygen. But cancer cells would smother and die first, before healthy cells were harmed, Dr. Graff theorized in a talk to the 7th International Cancer Congress.

He said the trick is gradually to accustom or acclimatize the person to low-oxygen air so his health cells get used to it and can get by.

Dr. Graff, of Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons, thinks cancer cells must always keep growing or else die. They die if they don't get enough oxygen, and they grow so fast they need more oxygen than normal cells. Therefore a reduction in available oxygen should do them in first.

Cancers in animals are affected when the air is lowered to the amount of oxygen present at four-miles altitude, Dr. Graff said. Below that, there's not much effect. The oxygen can be lowered by using a pressure chamber, or by putting more nitrogen into the air.

The method has been tried on one human patient, dying from widespread cancer. He succumbed, but not before the test showed he could become accustomed to breathing the low-oxygen air without bad effects, Dr. Graff said.

Cracks Seen In Lebanon Rebel Force

Stalemate May Bring A Victory Through Compromise

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Cracks are appearing in the rebel front fighting Lebanese President Camille Chamoun. But the rebels may be winning the war while losing the battles.

Fighting in Beirut Monday was sporadic, scattered and disorganized, as it has been on most days of the two - month - old civil war. The government continued to have the upper hand, but basically it was a stalemate.

Fighting was sharper in the port city of Tripoli. Four persons, all bystanders, were killed there as rebels and security forces clashed on the main street of the city and in another part of the town.

In Beirut, security forces again pounded insurgents in the Basta Moslem quarter. Small skirmishes took place from time to time and stray shots wounded two people in Capital Square.

The casulties were light, as usual. But although they might seem of little consequence in any organized warfare, they may mean more in the strange revolt that is shaking Lebanon.

Apparent Weariness

This is indicated by the apparent weariness of the rebels. Their leaders are cautiously beginning to admit that further bloodshed can provide no solution for the problems facing the country. Government leaders also are coming to an increased awareness of this.

The revolt seems to have passed beyond the control of those who began it. It is unlikely that there is any one man in the whole rebel movement capable of stopping the violence.

Apart from the fact that Syrians and Egyptians obviously are involved in the struggle, the rebels themselves seem unable to agree on where they are going or what they want.

In the unlikely event that the revolt succeeded, it is certain that the next day would find the rebels quarreling among themselves. Various rebel leaders have little in common.

The rebels seem likely to win at least a partial victory, no matter how many battles they lose. The best the West can hope for now is apparently a Lebanon neutral in the cold war and neutral in the struggle between President Nasser's United Arab Republic and other Arab countries.

Short Of Goal

This outcome would be short of the goal of Lebanese who want an alliance with Nasser. But it would represent a rebel victory, since it would end the strongly pro-Western policies of Chamoun's government.

One reason for increasing prospects of a compromise is the country's economic stagnation. Port activities in Beirut have been crippled, and it will be months before normal prosperity can be restored. Lebanon's thriving trade and mercantile businesses have been hurt seriously. Tourism has been hit hard.

The government still insists that it can restore order if U.A.R. interference can be overcome.

Plane Delayed By Bomb Scare

DENVER (AP)—A United Air Lines plane en route to Portland from Chicago resumed its flight Monday after a delay of two hours caused by a report a bomb was aboard. None was found in a thorough search.

Chicago police were told in an anonymous telephone call that a bomb was on the DC7 flight 725. The plane was reached over Rock River, Wyo., and ordered to land in Denver. It carried 20 passengers and a crew of five.

She Moved Her Car, Alright!

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Margaret Hayward said she only wanted to move her car so she could listen to a baseball game on the radio while she was taking a sunbath—but it moved too far.

Police said the vehicle moved right through the double doors of the Hayward garage, then through the back wall of the building, down an incline and into the adjacent brick home of the Robert Martins. They estimated damage at $1,800.

Ike Signs Alaska Measure

President Also Asks Statehood For Hawaiians

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Monday signed legislation to make Alaska the 49th state, and took the occasion to urge statehood for Hawaii.

Shortly after he signed the Alaska statehood bill, Eisenhower issued a statement once more calling upon Congress to admit Hawaii as a state during this session of Congress.

Hawaii Qualified

"I personally believe that Hawaii is qualified for statehood equally with Alaska," Eisenhower said.

Eisenhower signed the Alaska statehood bill before a group of newsmen and photographers. Then he passed the signed bill over to White House counsel Gerald D. Morgan.

"Okay, now that's 49 states," Eisenhower commited.

Then, as an afterthought, he added: "No, maybe we don't do that until the plebiscite."

The reference was to balloting this fall in which Alaskans are to vote whether to accept immediate statehood and the terms of the bill on which Congress completed action a week ago.

Acceptance Remaining

Alaska's acceptance of these terms and election of state and national officers are the remaining prerequisites to issuance of a presidential proclamation, probably in December, formally admiting it to the union.

In a letter to Alaska's Gov. Mike Stepovich, notifying him of the signing, the President expressed the hope Alaskans would vote to accept statehood.

"You and the people of Alaska have my very best wishes," he wrote.

Cuban Rebels Release Three

HAVANA (AP)—Three more of the kidnaped Americans were released Monday by the Cuban rebels.

The U.S. embassy here identified them as:

James P. Stephens Jr., of Edmond, Okla., a United Fruit official.

Sherman Avery White of New York, general manager of the U.S.-built Nicaro nickel plant.

J. Andrew Poll of Grand Rapids, Mich., assistant general manager of the Nicaro company.

The latter two were kidnaped by the rebels June 30, Stephens on July 1.

Fourteen Americans and two Canadians have now been released by the rebels. Remaining in their hands are 30 American servicemen, 3 American civilians and a Canadian.

Marriage Proposed 60 Years Ago Is To Be Performed

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A marriage first proposed more than 60 years ago finally will be performed later this month.

The bridegroom will be Dr. Richard A. Smith of Lansing, 81, a widower, and long-time director of the state Conservation Department Geological Survey Division. The bride who finally said "yes" after a long second thought will be Miss Bertha L. Knapp of Chicago.

They will wed July 26 at Neillsville, Wis., and live at Gunn Lake, Mich.

The couple first met after the turn of the century at De Witt, when Dr. Smith was a youthful teacher and Miss Knapp was the principal's daughter.

Soustelle Named French Minister

PARIS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle Monday named Jacues Soustelle as France's minister of information, succeeding Andre Malraux. Malraux remains in De Gaulle's cabinet to handle cultural and other questions.

Soustelle, 46, a fiery rightist leader of the Gaullist uprising that began in Algeria May 13, long had been spokesman for the Gaullist minority in Parliament.

Go To Canada

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State and Mrs. Dulles will fly to Canada Tuesday with President and Mrs. Eisenhower in the White House plane, the Columbine III.

Chairman Makes Report

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark), left, of the House subcommittee investigating the affairs of Bernard Goldfine, talks to reporters after an emergency meeting of the subcommittee today. Harris said his group would "get to the bottom" of the eavesdropping and reported burglary incidents. The committee's investigator, Baron I. Shacklette, resigned yesterday after being caught using hidden microphones. (AP Photofax)

Deadly Holiday!

Independence Day Weekend Killed 650

By The Associated Press

Observance of the three - day July 4th weekend cost the lives of more than 650 persons, 370 of them traffic victims.

A final tabulation on the nation's holiday dead showed Monday that fatalities from traffic mishaps, always the major cause of holiday deaths, fell short of the National Safety Council's pre-holiday estimate of 410. This figure, had it been realized, would have set a record for a three-day Independence Day observance.

Although the traffic death toll, compiled by The Aossicated Press from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Sunday, stayed under the safety council estimate, it came within one of the 371 traffic fatalities counted during the same 78-hour period of the three-day Memorial Day holiday.

There were 192 drownings and 93 died in miscellaneous accidents over the Fourth, both categories exceeding the Memorial Day totals of 132 and 88, respectively.

The fact that the traffic death toll was less than the pre-holiday prediction was attributed to extremely cautious driving by homeward bound motorists and strict traffic enforcement across the nation.

Traffic fatalities mounted rapidly at the start of the holiday, giving safety experts reason to believe a new July 4th holiday record would be set. Saturday afternoon, however, the death rate commenced to slacken and continued at a slower pace until the end of the 78-hour period.

The safety council credited energetic traffic enforcement and the shock of the skyrocketing toll during the early part of the holiday for the smaller total of traffic victims.

"No one, of course, can be complacent over a toll this big," said Ned H. Dearborn, council president. "But we are grateful that it took a turn for the better about halfway through the holiday and that it ended up well below our estimate and below the record set in 1955 for a three-day July 4th weekend."

Good Samaritan Act Costs City Agent $2 Fine

DENVER (AP)—City purchasing agent Robert Martinec spent Saturday, his day off, helping the Traffic Violations Bureau move to a new site.

He was the first in line at the bureau's new quarters Monday to pay a two-dollar overtime parking ticket. The citation was pasted on his car's windshield while he helped with the move.

"It doesn't pay to be a good samaritan," he complained dourly.

Auto Price Tag Bill Is Signed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower signed a bill Monday requiring manufacturers to put a price tag on new automobiles.

The law, which becomes effective Oct. 1, would require the tag bear not only the manufacturer's suggested retail price and the price of accessories, but also the make, model, and serial or identification number; final assembly point; the name and location of the dealer and the place to which the car is to be delivered to him; the method of transporting the automobile if driven or towed, and the transportation charged to the dealer.

Teamster Lawyers Awarded $210,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three attorneys, who represented rank-and-file Teamsters in a suit aimed to bar James R. Hoffa from taking office as union president, were awarded $210,000 in legal fees Monday.

U.S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts fixed the amount as just and reasonable compensation.

Radar Lines Not Perfect

OTTAWA (AP)—Existing radar warning lines in North America could not detect some bombers the Soviet Union now has, Defense Minister G. Randolph Pearkes said Monday.

He also indicated that Canada has no informal part in U.S. plans to develop a warning system to detect intercontinental missiles.

He was replying to questions on air defense raised mainly by opposition leader Lester B. Pearson and Liberal William Benidickson as a House of Commons committee studied Royal Canadian Air Force items in defense spending plans for the fiscal year ending next March 31.

Pearkes said radar is not obsolete but hasn't the range to detect some bombers now in existence.

Presley Given Speeding Ticket

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Pvt. Elvis Presley, the rock 'n' roll singer, was ticketed for speeding by state highway patrolman B. G. Adams Sunday. Presley was driving 75 in a 55 miles-per-hour zone, Adams said. He said Presley was driving toward Ft. Hood, Tex., where he is in training. Presley has 10 days in which to appear in court.

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Parliament voted 101-49 Monday to accept U. S. economic and technical aid.

Committee Agent Quits Under Fire

Shacklette Caught Eavesdropping On Aide To Goldfine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The top investigator of the House committee investigating Bernard Goldfine lost his job late Monday after a whirlwind of sensational developments which all but obscured the probe of the Boston industrialist.

Baron I. Shacklette 48, quit under fire after the committee strongly and unanimously condemned his tactics as eavesdropping—"a most regrettable act that the committee does not condone."

Shacklette's departure came after:

1. Shacklette, a government investigator for 18 years, and Jack Anderson, a legman for columnist Drew Pearson, were found at the other end of a microphone planted under the hotel room door of Goldfine aide Jack Lotto.

Papers Are Missing

2. Mildred Paperman, Goldfine's secretary, reported some of his bank records, correspondence and other documents were stolen from her room in the same hotel.

3. Goldfine charged "gestapo tactics" in the use of the planted microphone.

4. Goldfine Atty. Roger Robb charged Shacklette occupied the hotel room adjoining Goldfine's from June 29 through July 3 and made recordings of confidential communications.

5. Robb asked the committee for a postponement of Goldfine's scheduled appearance before it Tuesday for a third day of testimony. He said Goldfine was upset by the weekend ransacking of his papers and was exhausted.

The inquiry into Goldfine's relations with presidential aide Sherman Adams was suddenly turned into an investigation by the special House committee of tactics used by its staff.

Occupied Room

Late in the day, Robb sent the committee a letter addressed to Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark). The attorney said he had documentary proof that Shacklette occupied the room next to Goldfine's for the five days last week and "we have reason to believe... eavesdropped on and recorded confidential communications."

The letter demanded "that you send to us immediately all such recordings made by your agent, and all reports made by him, the substance of conversations overheard by him in the above rooms, whether recorded or not."

When the committee unanimously accepted Shacklette's resignation from his $16,300-a-year job, it said he swore he did not take part in the reported theft of the Goldfine papers.

The committee, in a five-hour special closed session, called on the FBI, the Justice Department and local police to look into the series of developments that piled up through the day.

Issues Statement

Harris issued a lengthy statement early in the evening saying the committee had known nothing about Shacklette's electronic eavesdropping and did not condone such tactics.

The chairman said Shacklette and Anderson on two occasions within the last week had taken a hotel room next to a suite occupied by Goldfine or one of his

Racket Probers Seek Evidence In Murder Plot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probers said Monday they will explore in hearings starting Tuesday evidence of a murder-marked plot by Chicago racketeers to extend their power out to Dallas, Tex., and San Francisco.

The old unsolved slaying of racketeer Nick De John after he had moved into the Dallas and San Francisco areas will provide the springboard for the new set of hearings.

In them the Special Rackets Committee is attempting to prove that underworld barons of the Mafia black hand mob have muscled in on Chicago's restaurant industry, on other fields of legitimate labor and industry across the nation.

Robert F. Kennedy, the committee's chief counsel, announced plans to dig deeply and swiftly into allegations of murder, payoffs and labor contracts victimizing labor union members.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), the committee chairman, said the inquiry is intended to show a need for legislation to combat underworld infiltration of labor-management fields, which he contends has grown to an extent that could menace the nation's economy.

Kennedy said the leadoff witnesses will include heads of Chicago area restaurant operations; a former waitress for one of them; Lt. George Butler of the Dallas Police Department, and Virgil Peterson, director of the Chicago Crime Commission.

Kid Glove Treament Aids Alabama Highway Safety

By REX THOMAS

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Like Teddy Roosevelt, Alabama's public safety director says you should speak softly but carry a big stick in combatting the menace of death on the highway.

Most drivers will respond favorably to the kid glove treatment, says Bill Lyerly, if you get the idea over the patrolman is on the highway to help them, but that he can get tough if he has to.

"We're trying to lead the people, not push them," the head of Alabama's Highway Patrol explained Monday while praising motorists for holding the long July 4 weekend death toll to six highway fatalities.

"The officers are out there for one reason and one reason only—to protect the motorist and not intimidate him."

But, he added, "We will go to any extremes to get the reckless speeder off the road so others can enjoy their trip."

Lyerly credits a newly inaugurated courtesy check program with contributing materially to a steady decline in the highway death rate in this state. So far this year, accidents on rural roads have killed 40 fewer victims than at the same time a year ago.

The Highway Patrol has jurisdiction only over accidents outside the corporate limits of the cities.

The courtesy check originated with holiday traffic but has become a regular weekend practice. It consists simply of stopping all cars at given points, appealing to motorists to drive carefully and handing out safety literature.

Lyerly said the program is effective because it:

1. Breaks the monotony of a long trip and forces the driver to stop and take a breather who might otherwise keep going until fatigue caused him to wreck his car.

2. Creates friendly relations between officer and motorist by bringing them together under more pleasant circumstances than when the patrolman has to make an arrest.

3. Frequently catches violators in the act. Drunk drivers sometimes try to slip by the check point or give themselves away trying to avoid it.

Over the July 4 weekend, patrolmen stopped 225,000 cars in Alabama carrying an average of three persons. Pedestrians got the warning, too, everytime a patrolman spotted them walking along the highway.

Baltimore's Advertising Tax Said Unconstitutional

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore's two taxes on advertising and advertisers failed their first legal test Monday. They were declared unconstitutional.

Circuit Judge Joseph L. Carter said they were invalid because they "violate the fundamental guarantees of freedom of the press."

"If any government may enact a tax that imposes a special burden upon the revenues of the press, and raises or lowers that burden at will, it has a grip on the press that gives that government the power of control over the press," he said.

Last Jan. 1, the city began collecting a four per cent tax on gross sales of advertising space in all publications and advertising time on all radio and television broadcasts, and a two per cent tax on the gross receipts of all media carrying advertising.

The city expected to collect $2,653,000 during the first year from the levies, but collections to date have been about 57 per cent under the expected take.

Last spring the City Council repealed the taxes as of the end of this year. But opponents of the ordinances went on with their suit. It was filed by Baltimore newspapers, radio and television stations, advertisers and a billboard agency.

The city is expected to appeal from Judge Carter's ruling. Otherwise, it faces refunding approximately $750,000 already collected under the taxes.

The ruling came as a blow to a Baltimore City administration already struggling to balance its budget in the face of revenue losses from other sources. The city reduced its local cigaret levy from 5 cents per pack to 3 cents to soften the impact of a new State tax which took effect July 1. It also has faced increased expenditures for snow removal and welfare benefits among other things.

In striking down the ordinances, Judge Carter said their only parallel in American history since "the infamous stamp taxes imposed by England" before the revolution was a Louisiana law enacted during the administration of Huey Long. The Supreme Court (in Grosjean vs American Press Co.) held that 2 per cent levy on advertising in certain newspapers to be unconstitutional because it was discriminatory.

"This court has reached the conclusion that these ordinances violate the fundamental constitutional guarantees of freedom of the press and, therefore, the ordinances are invalid and void," Judge Carter said.

Navy Works On Electric Robot That Can Think

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy announced Monday it is well on the road to developing an electronic robot that could think. It suggested that such devices might be important to the defense of the western world.

The Office of Naval Research said one of its contract scientists had proved the feasibility of a projected robot called the Perceptron —a machine the Navy believes would have original ideas.

The research scientists predicted that the first pilot model would be completed in about a year and that eventually such robots could have such uses as:

Gathering and reporting on information gleaned from outer space, instantly distinguishing between airplanes and missiles, bombers and fighter planes; serving as automatic landing systems and automatic pilots for aircraft; automatic reading of the printed or written word, responding to verbal commands; automatic language translation; automatic unearthing of scientific and other information buried in library books, distinguishing between the music of Wagner and Mozart, and even distinguishing between a beagle hound and a collie dog without human help.

When fully developed the machine is expected to be able to perceive, recognize, and identify its surroundings without any human training or control.

While the robot has yet to be built, ONR said, its principle and concept have been proved in the laboratory.

The robot would be designed to operate in much the same way that the human eye and certain brain areas work together to provide the human function of recognition.

Dr. Frank Rosenblatt, research psychologist at the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, Inc., Buffalo, N.Y., who developed the Perceptron concept, staged a demonstration for reporters. He used a big conventional computing machine at research headquarters of the U.S. Weather Bureau to simulate a Perceptron.

McKeldin Plants Flowers On Lawn

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. McKeldin, who always wears an immitation black-eyed susan in his button-hole, planted a real one Monday on the Statehouse lawn.

The governor took spade in hand as 25 black-eyed susan plants were placed on the lawn in front of the Maryland capitol.

The planting was sponsored by the governor's Committee to Keep Maryland Beautiful. The committee plans to place about 375 more plants around the state, most of them in a picnic area on U.S. 1 at Bel Air.

Trio Rescued From Overturned Boat In River

BALTIMORE (AP) — Three Baltimoreans were rescued from the Magothy River after a 13-year-old passenger on a cabin cruiser spotted them clinging to the sides of their overturned sailboat Sunday.

The trio had been in the water for 45 minutes. Their life preservers were swept away when the boat capsized in high winds and five-foot swells.

Those rescued were Anne E. Brooks, 18, Harry Kleinhen, 20, and Daniel Heisey, 21, all of Baltimore.

George Wolfe Jr. of Cape Arthur spotted them from his father's 30-foot cruiser as it was heading back to port to escape the storm on the river.

Two Inmates Stab Youth, 19, In Prison Cell

Jessup, Md. (AP) — Two young inmates of the House of Correction broke into the cell of another prisoner and stabbed him with a table knife early Monday, prison authorities reported.

The victim, Marvin W. Pritt, 19, of Bel Air was taken to University Hospital in Baltimore where he was reported in satisfactory condition.

Warden William F. Steiner said a guard caught the two young long-term prisoners in Pritt's cell. Pritt, who began serving a 90-day sentence on June 9 for a motor vehicle law violation, was stabbed in the back, side and abdomen.

His attackers were being held in their cells pending completion of an investigation.

Steiner said the knife used was from a table and had been sharpened. He said the two youths admitted breaking into the cell but declined further comment.

The warden said locks on the cells are old and worn and can be opened with a knife blade.

James W. Curran, superintendent of state prisons, expressed surprise that the incident could be accomplished and said he planned to visit the prison later today for a personal inspection.

aides. He reported Shacklette said under oath no recording of a private Goldfine conversation was actually made at any time.

Harris said the investigator told the committee "I was over zealous. . .and did not stop to think of the harm that might be done to the subcommittee through my actions."

He quoted Shacklette as saying "I'm sorry. My resignation is submitted herewith." Harris said "Mr. Shacklette's services were terminated immediately."

Harris said Shacklette told the committee he knew of no confidential information from the files having been furnished to columnist Pearson.

Asked whether he thought discovery of the microphone would impair the effectiveness of the committee, Harris said "I do not see why it should," adding that the committee would continue its work toward its purpose and objectives.

Its assigned job is to delve into the operations of federal regulatory agencies, to see whether they are improperly influenced among other things.

Experts on federal law said they knew of no federal statute punishing the use of a microphone to eavesdrop. The Communications Act makes no reference to such use in the provisions which forbid the tapping of interstate communications wires, followed by disclosure of the information obtained in the tap.

Veteran Police Officer Dies In Death Plot

BRYANS PARK, Md. (AP)—A veteran Maryland state trooper was shot to death early Monday in what investigators termed a plot to get someone.

Lt. Leonard N. Brown, 46, was shot in the stomach at close range as he waited for an expected robbery of a tavern here. But State Police Det. Sgt. G. Earl Newcomber said the case had developed into something much more sinister than an ordinary holdup.

Police accused Albert George Carbonneau, 37, a Bryans Park drug store employe, of firing the .25 caliber pistol bullet that killed Brown.

Brown, a veteran of 18 years in the state police and commander of the Waldorf barracks, died at Sibley Hospital in Washington after surgery.

Police declined to give full details of their investigation but at least eight persons in addition to Carbonneau were being questioned.

State police said they received a tip from Banks L. Smith, 35, owner of Smitty's Steak House in this Charles County community that he was going to be robbed.

Brown and four other state troopers set a trap to thwart any such robbery with Brown stationing himself in a cloak room of the tavern.

A key was slipped into a side door of the tavern about 45 minutes after the midnight closing. Officers said Brown wrestled with the intruder but was shot in the stomach. Trooper Robert Weisenmueller overpowered the gunman.

Brown, a resident of Perryville, Md., died after three hours of surgery. The bullet lodged in a muscle near his spine after puncturing his intestines in six places.

Police questioned the tavern owner, Smith, extensively but released him after telling him not to leave the area.

Guild Rejects Papers' Proposal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The American Newspaper Guild representing striking Philadelphia Inquirer news and clerical personnel, Monday overwhelmingly rejected a management proposal that would have ended a 37-day walkout. Terms of the proposal were not immediately available.

A guild spokesman emerged from a closed meeting to make the brief announcement. He said the vote was by a show of hands. He estimated "maybe ten persons voted for the proposal." The number on hand was not immediately made known.

Auto Assembly Plants Reopen

DETROIT (AP)—Many auto assembly plants, idle for varying periods last week, resumed operations Monday.

Last week's shutdowns and the holiday observance reduced output to 34,370 cars compared with 92,277 the preceding week and 74,107 in the same 1957 week. So far this year U.S. factories have built 2,267,601 cars against 3,444,763 in like 1957.

Gov. Plans Europe Trip

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. McKeldin will leave Thursday on his second trip of the summer to Europe.

McKeldin spent May 5 to June 1 on an official visit to France, Spain and Germany in connection with the University of Maryland's Overseas Education Program.

The upcoming journey will be an unofficial trip with his family to Italy, Israel, Greece and France. The McKeldins will sail from New York Thursday on the S. S. Constitution and plan to return about August 10.

Gov. and Mrs. McKeldin, their son, Ted, 21, and daughter, Clara, 19, will arrive at Naples, Italy, July 18. They will sail three days later for Haifa, and will go from there to Jerusalem.

In Jerusalem, McKeldin will participate July 29 in a groundbreaking ceremony for an American student center of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, located in New York.

The center will serve as the home for American students of the seminary who will spend their senior year studying and traveling in Israel.

McKeldin, who is honorary national chairman of the committee for the student center, will take a flag from each of the 48 states for use in the ground-breaking ceremony. He will be presented with an honorary doctor of laws degree.

From Jerusalem, the McKeldins will visit Athens for two days and then go to Cherbourg, France from where they will sail back to New York.

Refinery Workers Shot By Gun Wielding Man

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two employes of the American Sugar Refinery Co. were shot today by a gun-wielding man who entered the plant on Key Highway looking for his estranged wife.

Police said the man's wife was on vacation.

An office employe, payroll supervisor Robert Bowers, 54, of Glen Burnie, was shot in the abdomen and was reported in critical condition at South Baltimore General Hospital.

A guard at the plant, Edward Miles, 36, of Baltimore, was winged in the upper right arm.

Police said the man had been having "domestic trouble" and went to the plant about 3:30 p.m. looking for his wife.

Miles, a guard at the plant gate, was shot as the man was leaving the plant. Police said the man returned later, entered the office again, and shot Bowers.

New Council Members, Outgoing Mayor Look Forward To Next Four Years

Ex-Mayor Eves

Retiring Mayor Roy W. Eves ended six years of municipal service yesterday with a brief talk in which he pledged his cooperation to the new Mayor and Council.

His remarks follow:

"Before calling for the vote that will officially bring to a close this administration, we would express our appreciation to all those good citizens who have helped us accomplish those things which have helped make this a better city now or in the future.

"Almost 28 years ago, at my own urgent request, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad transferred me to Cumberland, the 13th city in which I had lived and worked. Ten years ago I innocently entered the political arena where I was two times loser and twice winner. Now, having been retired from railroading and politics, I am free to live my own life, choose my associates, and live where I please.

"Mrs. Eves and I long ago came to the conclusion that there are no finer people anywhere than in Cumberland, and no better place in which to enjoy the remainder of our days.

"I am, therefore, personally interested in the new Council continuing to make this city a better place in which to live.

"Mr. Keech, I take pleasure in presenting to you this gavel, not only as a symbol of authority, but as a reminder of responsibility. May the good Lord watch over and keep you."

John J. Long

Before the Council session adjourned sine die, John J. Long, the only returning member of the council body, expressed the "best of luck and God-speed to Mayor Eves and Commissioner (William V.) Keegan."

Long, who served the past four years as finance commissioner, and who has been appointed commissioner of streets and public property for the Keech administration, said he found politics much like sports—"it is easy to win and difficult to lose" in each activity.

In his acceptance speech, Mr. Long declared he had asked to be returned to one of his two former commissions, police and fire, or finance, but was voted down, three-two with only Mayor J. Edwin Keech supporting him.

But he pledged support of the new Mayor and Council "with malice towards none" and declared he would strive to do his best toward an economical, efficient Department of Streets and Public Property.

He stated as he took his turn to address the audience:

"I fail to see the advantage of all of us being greenhorns in our respective departments. It is my humble opinion that the knowledge gained from experience should be utilized. Mrs. Roeder spent four successful years as Commisioner of Streets and Public Property. I have spent four years in police and fire as well as four in the finance department, and have been rewarded with re-election after each stint. I reiterate, I see no advantage to be gained by placing a greenhorn at the head of each and every department.

"Furthermore, I wish to advise the many friends who have requested that I seek to continue as finance commissioner and those who asked me to solicit the police and fire commission again, that I did ask this new Council to support me for one or the other, and I was voted down, with only Mayor Keech voting for me.

"Regardless of what motive prompted this action of my new colleagues—I'm too modest to believe it was faith in my versatility—I accept the Commission of Streets and Public Property as a new challenge. At the same time 'with malice towards none,' I offer the new Mayor and Council the full benefit of my eight years' experience in the City Hall.

"I pledge, as I have done on three previous similar occasions, my wholehearted support to every effort and every measure that is designed to make Cumberland a more progresive, more beautiful, safer and better community.

"I intend to begin immediately, a comprehensive study of the present status of Cumberland streets, public property, sewage treatment plant and recreation program. At the conclusion of this study I shall make pertinent recommendations to the Mayor and Council and solicit their cooperation and support.

"To you my friends and citizens of Cumberland, I direct a plea for patience and cooperation with me as commissioner of streets and public property. I promise you my best possible effort toward an economical, efficient Street and Public Property Department. I would appreciate it if you would write me your ideas regarding needed improvements in your neighborhood, as well as your ideas for a more beautiful Cumberland. I invite organizations to set up living monuments of beauty along our streets, in our parks—wherever space permits."

Six of the nine counties of Ulster, the northeast corner of Ireland, constitute Northern Ireland.

Lucile W. Roeder

Mrs. Roeder, in her acceptance speech, said yesterday was almost like a homecoming "for eight years ago I stood here to take office for the first time, new at the job but willing to learn, to gain experience, and to give you the benefit of that experience. I felt I was on trial, that your judgment would be based on my future actions in office."

Mrs. Roeder is the only woman elected to the City Council.

She faces the future with confidence, Mrs. Roeder said, principally because of a feeling of "togetherness" in the thinking of the city electorate and Council members on the problems which lie ahead.

She interpreted the election results as an interest of residents in city government, but pointed out that people must inform themselves on the major issues of the day. A well-informed public, she continued, is a sign of democracy.

Mrs. Roeder said she felt there are many experts in various fields in Cumberland who can help solve the problems facing the community, and that their advice should be sought.

Much planning is called for in city operations, and it is on such planning that the progress of the city will depend. The budget is an immediate task that must be faced, Mrs. Roeder said.

Philmore Fleming

Commissioner Fleming thanked Mayor Keech and other members of the council for selecting him as the Commissioner of Police and Fire. He said: "I am very happy and feel sure we have a team that will work together for a successful four years.

"I hope to perform the duties of my office in an efficient, impartial and common sense manner and will expect each and every employe of the departments to perform their duties on an efficient, impartial and common sense manner and by doing this they can be assured they will have my full support and cooperation and the support of the heads of both departments.

"I fully realize that the problems facing these departments affect every citizen of the city. I want to assure everyone that the door of my office will always be open and I will be most happy to discuss their problems and weigh carefully the advice they might want to give me.

To Plan Corn Roast

The men of St. Luke's Lutheran Church will meet today at 7:30 p. m. at the church to make plans for a corn roast in August.

G. Ray Light

Commissioner Light said: "The day of the election is past, as is the day of the inauguration, but of course the responsibility of each citizen in our community doesn't end with the casting of his ballot.

"As I often said during the campaign I want to be a representative of the people of Cumberland, but the job is just starting, and will take time and effort for me to become acquainted with my new duties as water and light commissioner. Once I've learned my way around I fully intend to be guided by the voice of the people of this community.

"There will be many important problems facing us these next four years, but with the cooperation of the citizens and the newly elected mayor and council working as a team and not as individuals, I am sure that Cumberland can look forward to a period of vitality, expansion and progress."

Class To Meet To Plan Reunion

A planning meeting for the tenth anniversary reunion of the Fort Hill High School graduating class of 1949 will be held today at 7:30 p. m. in the Cumberland Elks Home.

A general chairman and committee members will be named for the event that will be held at a date to be selected next year.

A: "Blue Cross is made to order for our employee benefit program!"

"We're glad we have Blue Cross at Eastern Stainless. The big reason, of course, is that Blue Cross gives our people sound, sensible protection against hospitalization costs. Blue Cross is easy to handle, too—no administrative or bookkeeping problems, no burdensome detail work. Blue Cross is made to order for our employee benefit program!"

says Kenneth C. Robinson, Director, Safety and Health, Eastern Stainless Steel Corporation, Baltimore

A: "Dollar for dollar, you just can't beat Blue Cross!"

"My family has had its share of illnesses and accidents in recent years, and Blue Cross was there when I needed it. I know I can count on Blue Cross to pay our hospital bills and to pay them without delay or red tape. I'm satisfied that dollar for dollar, you just can't beat Blue Cross!"

says Herb Deem, hot mill catcher, Eastern Stainless Steel Corporation, Baltimore

Blue Cross is a non-profit plan for hospital care that provides broad protection economically. Not only does Blue Cross protect subscribers and their families from unexpected hospital bills, but it keeps them protected for life, even though they move, change jobs or retire.

And Blue Cross pays the hospital directly. No claim filing, no waiting for reimbursements for the employee . . . no administrative problems for his company. Another advantage is that Blue Cross care can cover hospital expenses in full, where cash payments may not.

For full details, call the Blue Cross office listed in your telephone directory.

Frostburg GOC Planning Sixth Anniversary

Observers Remain Alert, Proficient

FROSTBURG — US Air Force Ground Observer Corps civilian volunteers in Frostburg will quietly mark the sixth anniversary of "Operation Skywatch" July 14, by remaining proficient, well-trained aircraft observers. No national celebration is planned.

No longer active round-the-clock, these "modern minute men" are standing-by subject to an immediate active duty call at all times.

"Skywatch" is the air defense operation that turned the eyes of thousands of volunteer Americans skyward to a watch for approaching enemy aircraft.

The operation, calling for 24-hour surveillance of the skies as part of the Continental Air Defense effort, was approved in March of 1952 and by July of the year, 32 Air Defense Filter Centers and 6000 Observation Posts in 27 states were taking part in the early stages of "Skywatch."

None of the volunteers are officially on skywatch, but some are still logging planes that fly over their posts as training exercises. Official training exercises are called monthly by the Canton center in order to evaluate the proficiency and effectiveness of the filter center as well as the posts.

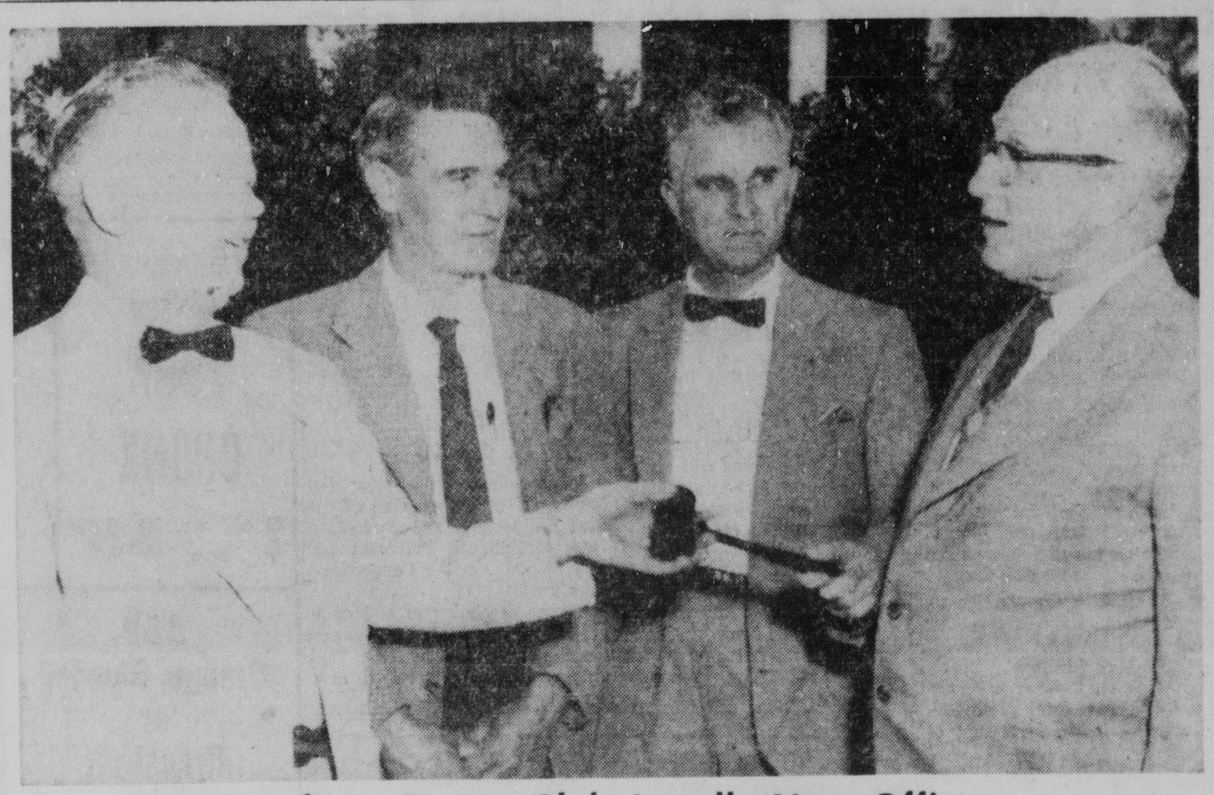
The last of the observation posts and skywatchers on 24-hour operational duty were relieved of around-the-clock responsibility last January 1 when the Ground Observer Corps was placed on "Ready Reserved Status." It marked the longest continuous peacetime period in the history of the United States during which civilian volunteers served actively with the Armed Forces in a national defense effort.

However, the change did not mean there would be any lessening of training or operational efficenicy in this important part of the North American Air Defense System.

Military personnel serving in supervisory capacities man each filter center 24 hours a day to be available in event of an emergency alert. Filter centers and observation posts continue in a state of readiness. Volunteers maintain their proficiency through training and practice so the corps will be effective if needed.

Easing the duties of the ground observers was the increased early warning capabilities given the North American Air Defense Command through such developments as the distant early warning line — a radar network that stretches across the Arctic Circle and out-to-sea — and a warning net across mid-Canada.

Vincent C. Collino, is supervisor of the Frostburg post and is assisted by Chief Observer C. Walter Hayes. The observation post is located on West Mechanic Street.



Frostburg Rotary Club Installs New Officers

Paul V. Taylor, (right) newly installed president of Frostburg Rotary Club is shown receiving the gavel of office from Robert Jones, a past president who served as installing officer. The ceremony took place Monday evening at Layman's Farm. Standing in the background are Arthur Roe, and Harold Dudley who were installed as secretary and treasurer, respectively. John Watson, new vice president was absent when the pitcure was taken.

Greek Seaman Is Convicted Of Illegal Entry

ELKINS (AP)—An alleged conspiracy which involved a Greek seaman's efforts to gain illegal entry into the United States was heard in U. S. District Court here today.

The seaman, Emanuel Fokianos, was fined $800 and Judge Herbert S. Boreman ordered him placed on probation until "such time as he shall be deported."

Three others involved in the alleged conspiracy, Lille Mae Kennedy, alias Lillie Mae Fokianos, 43; Gust Palavis and Kleopatra Pasaros, all of Weirton, were fined $200 each and placed on probation for two years.

The government charged Fokianos with marrying Miss Kennedy after jumping ship, as a means of obtaining non-quota entry into this country.

Mrs. Pasaros was described as an Aunt of Fokianos.

W. Va. Launches Forest Fire Prevention Plan

Gov. Underwood Opens Conference

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — Gov. Underwood set the tone of a conference on forest fire prevention Monday with a three-way approach to minimizing the hazard.

Appearing as the first speaker at the Governor's Forest Fire Prevention Conference, Underwood said that "of the 15,000 forest fires in the past 10 years, more than 4,000 of them were set deliberately."

"Some of the arsonists had a grudge against the land owners," he continued, "others got a thrill from watching the woods burn, still others simply wanted to cause trouble.

"I suggest three avenues of approach to the desired public enlightenment:

(1) Judges, justices of the peace, lawyers and all law enforcement officers must become more aware of the extensive damages of forest fires.

"(2) We need an adult educational program in every community, geared to actual conditions in that area. Through this program, we shall strive to reach the hunter and fisherman who love the forests but who casually drop a lighted match, flick a cigarette, or peck out burning coals and the ashes from a pipe — the housewife who negligently burns the weekly trash or directs the handyman to burn the weeds and debris from the garden patch — the farmer who carelessly employs fire to clear out fence rows, eliminate brush piles, clean away the broom sedge from the meadow or the pasture field, cut down the timber to find new ground—every citizen who passes the forest with potential destruction in his possession.

"(3) Greater emphasis on conservation in our public school curricula will guarantee the perpetuation of a fire-conscious state."

The conference will continue through Tuesday. A banquet tonight was addressed by Frank McGee, chief Washington correspondent of the National Broadcasting Co.

Brick Church Of Maysville Earns Award

Council Director To Present Check

WILEY FORD, W. Va. — The Brick Church of the Brethren of Maysville, W. Va., Rev. Levi Ziegler, pastor will receive a 1958 "Award of Progress" at the Wiley Ford Church of the Brethren, tomorrow afternoon. This award is one of a series presented by the Town and Country Church Development Program of the Middle Atlantic Area. Awards are made to churches enrolled in the Church Development Program in the states of Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia.

The Church Development Program operated the past four years for churches of all denominations in places of less than 10,000 in the mid-Atlantic states. Its purpose was to encourage churches to carry out the most effective ministry possible by working toward a better church, toward a better community, and toward a better world. Sponsors of the program have been the state Council of Churches of Maryland-Delaware, New Jersey, New York, and West Virginia; the Sears-Roebuck Foundation and the Wesley Theological Seminary at Westminster, Md.

The "Award of Progress" consists of a certificate and a check for $50. Rev. Samuel A. Snyder Jr., executive director, of the Church Development Program, Westminster, will present the award to representatives of the Brick Church at the Women's Rally of the First West Virginia District of the Church of the Brethren.

Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished with extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan® Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only 98¢ for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or purchase price will be refunded.

Surprise Audit Causes W. Va. Liquor Shakeup

CHARLESTON (AP)—A shake-up in personnel at state liquor stores in Kermit and Matewan, Mingo County, was confirmed Monday by the State Liquor Control Commission.

General Field Supervisor M. Jerome Muntzing said the managers and two staff members had been placed on 30-day suspensions as a result of the weekend investigation. Muntzing declined to comment when asked if charges would be preferred.

The suspended employes were identified by Muntzing as Manager A. L. Crigger and Cashier Buddy Taylor of the Kermit dispensary, and Manager Raymond Miller and Clerk Nazim Abbess of the Matewan store.

Muntzing said that surprise audits on July Fourth disclosed stock shortages valued at $359 at the Matewan store, and $29 at the Kermit unit. The supervisor said there was a cash shortage of $42.10 at the Matewan store.

Muntzing said that apparently $62 worth of business was done on July Fourth at Matewan, despite the holiday. The curtains were drawn, he said, and investigation disclosed 10 decks of cards, two tip boards and a loaded pistol on the premises.

Miner Held In Wounding Of Wife, Others

CLAY, W. Va. (AP) — An estranged husband was in jail here Monday, charged with the felonious shooting of his wife, son and mother-in-law.

State Police Cpl. W. C. Williams said Robert E. Paxton, 34-year-old unemployed miner, was captured after a chase early Monday.

Officers said he had fired into the home of Mrs. Mildred Gibson, 51, in the Clay County village of Dille, wounding Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Marie Paxton, 24, and little Earl Paxton, 6.

Constables A. H. Houghton and Chilton Wilson said they fired into the air after sighting Paxton's car. He stopped and surrendered meekly, although he had a fully loaded .22 calibre automatic, the officers said.

The three injured persons were taken to a hospital in Charleston. Mrs. Gibson's condition was described as critical. Her daughter had been shot in the leg, while her grandson had a broken ankle.

Describing the night as a "bad dream, a bad and hazy dream," Mrs. Paxton said her estranged husband came to the house after all of them had retired. The Paxtons' 9-year-old daughter, Brenda Kay, was spending the night away from home.

Mrs. Paxton said she was married 10 years ago, and became separated last March. She obtained a court order directing him to keep the peace, and went to live with her mother.

After several bullets had been fired into the house through the windows, Mrs. Paxton said she got a .22 rifle and fired three times "but I didn't hit him."

She said Paxton finally heeded her pleas for a doctor, but compelled her to drive the car to Widen. The doctor's office alerted police.

Trial In Slaying At Reformatory Set August 6

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Four young prisoners charged with beating a fellow inmate to death will go on trial Aug. 6.

Circuit Judge D. Kenneth McLaughlin heard pleas of innocent entered through an attorney Monday, then set the date for their trial on first degree murder charges.

Victim of the May 23 beating was William Clark, 18. Those indicted are Louis O. J. Shuman, 19; Averly L. Lee, 18; Robert G. Hartman Jr., 19 and Lawrence D. Beach. All are from Baltimore.

They were confined in the same dormitory at the Reformatory for Males near here.

Clark had testified against the others at a trial which resulted in prison terms for the defendants. Later, Clark broke parole and was sent to the reformatory. He was placed in the same overcrowded dormitory with Shuman, Lee, Hartman and Beach.

Judge McLaughlin named two attorneys to represent the boys, who said they had no money to hire lawyers of their own. The court-appointed attorneys are Charles Wagaman, a former states attorney, and Irvine Rutledge.

The four accused have been confined in separate institutions except for Beach and Lee, who were kept at the reformatory. Judge McLaughlin ordered all held in Washington County jail until the trial so their attorneys can more easily consult with them.

Donley Becomes Member Of W.Va. Supreme Court

CHARLESTON (AP)—Robert T. Donley took the oath as the fifth member of West Virginia's Supreme Court Monday, while the lineup of Democratic candidates for the office took final form.

Donley, 54-year-old Morgantown attorney, resigned as a part time instructor at the West Virginia University Law School in order to accept the interim appointment from Gov. Underwood.

Donley is a Republican and is seeking the nomination of his party unopposed in the Aug. 5 primary. He will serve by appointment only until the successful candidate in the November election has qualified.

The two-year term at stake in the primary election is the unexpired portion of the term of Judge James B. Riley, who died unexpectedly at his Charleston home on June 29.

The seven Democrats certified as candidates Monday by the Secretary of State included:

Circuit Judge Harlan M. Calhoun of Morrefield, Circuit Judge Norman Knapp of Beckley, Circuit Judge K. K. Hall of Madison, Oden F. Goshorn, Charleston attorney; W. Bruce Hoff, Parkersburg attorney, Harold A. Bangert, Charleston, a former assistant State Attorney General, and G. Burton Crow of Ripley, a banker and former state beer commissioner.

Bangert withdrew Monday as one of the three candidates for a six-year vacancy on the court.

When Thruways Come Downtown

Should highways go through towns or around or behind them?

The subject is of prime interest to the citizens of Cumberland as the Cumberland Thruway will go through the heart of the city.

A similar decision to go through big towns was made in the case of the Connecticut Turnpike which opened January 2.

Here is the reasoning of Newman E. Argraves, State Highway Commissioner, as reported in a recent article in the Saturday Evening Post:

"When you take a turnpike around a city, shopping plazas spring up in the exits. These sap business from the central city, leaving it to wither on the vine."

Ramps will be provided from Cumberland's Thruway to serve the downtown area on South Mechanic Street, on and off; South Centre Street, on and off, and South Liberty Street, on.

The Connecticut view is in accord with studies made some years ago by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, which showed that limited by-pass routes tend to help, rather than hurt, a city's business. Cumberlanders can be thankful that their new traffic facility can be expected to be not only convenient, but economically helpful.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Apalachin

The investigation of Apalachin will undoubtedly produce a Roman holiday as obscure, robust, rotund, individuals, roughly referred to as hoods but often possessing bank accounts and credit lines which more honest men envy, march before the public. Most of them will have nothing to say under the Fifth or First or Sixth Amendments to the Constitution, the Communist lawyers having set the precedent.

A closer study of the Apalachin phenomenon needs to be made than a Congressional committee is willing to do. How does Apalachin fit into the private enterprise system? What is the relationship between Apalachin and the constant appeal of government officials for small business? How can small business accumulate capital, under our tax systems, in competition with the life insurance companies, the mutuals, the pension funds of corporations and labor unions, and similar immense and concentrated reservoirs of capital? In some banks, it is said but cannot readily be established, that some officers run private factoring arrangements to get loans for some customers; this is an under-the-table transaction and is strictly crooked.

What Apalachin represents, in this system, is the legitimization of "hot" money by investment in normal industries. This involves old "bootleg" money which has to come out, dope and other illegal earnings, principally cash upon which no income taxes have been paid. Such money may be hidden here or abroad for years, but, to be profitable, it must come into the mainstream of business activity. Much of that money has been hidden in Canada, Switzerland, Panama, Venezuela and other sanctuaries. A distinct business activity, engaged in by lawyers, accountants and other specialists, has developed in the transportation and deposit of such money.

The men at Apalachin may therefore be defined as marginal businessmen who engage in marginal industries and services and who have to find means for investing funds in industries which usually do not attract big business and for which funds are unavailable in the great reservoirs of capital. This includes the immense garment industry, the transportation of clothing and food products to large cities, and certain phases of the leisure-time industry.

As some of the money these men use is illegitimate and needs to be covered up, becauses taxes were withheld or the money flowed in from abroad through unusual channels, these industries do their own policing, which occasionally involves murder. They are still wildly competitive in a semi-monopolistic era and employ such methods as were normal when John D. Rockefeller organized the Standard Oil Company.

The psychological response of all these men to the challenge of their lives and their activities is to develop legitimate businesses and for them to become respected citizens in their communities. They contribute freely to charity; they buy thousands of dollars of tickets for public affairs; they associate with politicians and celebrities, often picking up the tab as it is called. The great ambition of their lives is to be regarded as "somebody."

But it is very difficult to get out of the rut of former relationships. The man who has a "record" is always fearful that his record will come out, that some newspaperman will pick it up and write a story; the man who has no "record" knows that the police and others are fully cognizant of his origin.

So those who do not pass from hood society to clean society live in a half-world of hoods, politicians, legitimate businessmen who are crooks, labor leaders with great public reputations who privately do as they can, smart girls on the make who prefer to be rich divorcees than poor but loving wives—it is a world all its own, with rigid rules as to loyalties, with competition for leadership and with men of business genius and competence of the highest order.

The center of this phase of private enterprise is in New York, wihch is the capital of the world of money. As the enterprises of these individuals grow, they can no longer depend on their own form of banking, which is to give a piece of the enterprise for a consideration; they require usual banking facilities and they get what they need because their legitimate operations have good standing.

It would be smart for Congressional committee to analyze the relationship of Apalachin to the difficulties of doing "small" business in the United States.

'Ain't Coexistence Wonderful?'

Vanguard Failures More Serious Than Most Americans Understand

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The public is getting so accustomed to hearing that Project Vanguard has failed to get off the ground again that they scarcely pay any attention to routine announcement that "the second stage failed to ignite," with another 20-inch satellite going to the bottom of the Atlantic.

The latest failure of Vanguard, however, was the worst scientific defeat the United States has suffered in its none-too-happy race with the Soviet Union.

The small gold-plated "moon" which Navy scientists were trying to put in orbit was jam-packed with instruments with which they hoped to ferret out vital secrets of space. The Russians, by putting up three very large Sputniks, one carrying a dog and the last a veritable flying laboratory, have been learning vast amounts of information about outer space.

They have been tantalizing U. S. scientists by hinting a few things they have learned, but are not giving us any really significant data about cosmic rays, submicroscopic particles, etc. Especially they have not turned over any data concerning conditions that may affect the ability of human beings to live in outer space.

American scientists have been able to pick up the radio signals from Sputnik III and analyze them. But they do not know how the instruments inside the Sputnik are calibrated, therefore can reach few scientific conclusions. Reluctantly they have concluded the coded information by Sputnik III can be interpreted only by the Russians.

Last Satellite Ball

Unfortunately, the 20-inch ball that went into the ocean last week is the last of the fully instrumented IGY satellites the Naval Research Laboratory had ready to send into outer space. They have another on which they've been working, but it won't be ready to go before October. They are desperately rushing work on others, but two years of patient work on instrumentation went into the drink when that second stage failed to fire.

The United States will now try to fire a couple more satellites. One is made of plastic and will be for the purpose of measuring the earth's gravitational field. Another will be equipped with a TV instrument to test how satellites can be used to scan cloud cover and help make weather forecasts.

If these satellite firings are successful, the American public will be kept superficially satisfied. But these satellites won't tell us the kind of vital data the Russians are now picking up from their Sputnik III.

In silence, the discovery of some facts quickly leads to others. These facts tend to pyramid.

The Russians, already months ahead of the United States in Space technology, are now lengthening their advantage by many more months. It will not be until October that we can begin to discover some of the information the Russians already know.

Man To Outer Space

The unpleasant truth is that we are falling farther behind every day in the race into space and that our only chance to catch up will be to try to send a human pilot out into space with the new hypersonic 3,600-mile-an-hour X-15 plane. The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics may send a volunteer pilot in the X-15 up to the frontier of space—80 miles up—as early as August. It will be a real risk because we have no idea what conditions prevail out there.

But our scientists are getting desperate. They realize that the Russians may also be getting ready to put men into space and that, with their superior knowledge of conditions beyond the earth's atmosphere, they are in a position to design more efficient rockets and expand their superiority over the lagging United States.

In short, despite the complacency of the public and the optimistic overtones of the Eisenhower Administration, we are not catching up with the Russians. With every passing week their lead is lengthening. The latest failure of Vanguard is the most expensive loss to the nation to date.

Under The Dome

Though Sherman Adams said he first met Bernard Goldfine in 1940 when Senator Cotton of New Hampshire introduced them, Senator Cotton, when queried, said he had introduced Adams to Goldfine in 1946. . . . Says GOP Senator Capehart of Indiana: "When Sherman Adams leaves Washington the first 15 rows of the departing committee should be reserved for Republican Congressmen so they can at least see him, after trying for five years." . . . The biggest libel judgment in American history, $190,000 against the Las Vegas Sun, was argued before the Nevada Supreme Court the other day by Edward P. Morgan, who pointed out that if the judgment were allowed to stand "a premium will be placed on sterile, pusillanimous, milk-toast, platitudinous publications which can offend no one. The frontier spirit which called a spade a spade must yield to a timid fear of suffering a horrendous penalty." . . . Congressman Wayne Hays of Ohio should have followed that hunch and run for the Senate. In the recent primary he got 600 "write-in" votes from Republicans. . . . GOP Senator Bricker, an old standby in Ohio, may be in for a tough race from ex-Congressman Stephen Young—though nobody ever thought so six months ago. . . . The world premiere of "South Seas Adventure," the newest Cinerama, will be held in New York July 13 for the benefit of Big Brothers. It's a smash hit for a great movement to help prevent juvenile delinquency. . . . Now that Sherman Adams has broken the sound barrier and testified for the first time in his career on Capitol Hill, Senator Kefauver is thinking of bringing him back to testify on Dixon-Yates. Adams flatly refused to testify on Dixon-Yates before, though he was the man who helped put across the conflict-of-interest deal against TVA which boomeranged.

Mr. Dulles: The Only Tussock In The Swamp?

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The critically dangerous Lebanese situation has produced at least one good result. It has given the best insight on record into the strengths and weaknesses of the character and situation of John Foster Dulles, who now makes American foreign policy almost alone and single-handed.

From the foreign angle of vision, as this reporter has already recorded, Foster Dulles looks like a most regrettable Secretary of State. Seen from Washington, however, he looks quite different. Here in Washington, you might say John Foster Dulles looks like the only tussock in the swamp.

Dulles played his tussock-role, when the trouble in Lebanon began, at once showing the firmness and decisiveness that sets him apart from the rest of our present government. Quite promptly, without any timid hesitations, Dulles joined the British Foreign Secretary, Selwyn Lloyd, in making a mortally grave commitment to the Lebanese government.

If the need arose, we told the Lebanese, and if the Lebanese government asked for help from its friends in the West, an Anglo-American military expedition would be sent to protect the independence of Lebanon. This was about as serious a promise as the Eisenhower administration has ever made to any government abroad.

Before making this promise, Dulles of course informed Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy—but it would be exaggerating to say that he consulted McElroy. Equally, of course, Dulles obtained the consent of the White House—but the President nowadays almost automatically consents to anything Dulles proposes. At bottom, in fact, the whole responsibility for the promise to the Lebanese rested on John Foster Dulles alone.

Dulles made his promise with his eyes open, too. He knew quite well that Anglo-American military intervention in Lebanon would be a most unpleasant and risky business. But he quite correctly argued that, if worse came to worse, intervention would be less risky and unpleasant than the total destruction of all the vital Western interests throughout the Middle East. And this kind of general Middle Eastern catastrophe was, and is, the virtually sure price of allowing Egypt's Nasser another victory in Beirut.

Thus Dulles started with a decision that was very bold but also wholly logical. But it is unwise, indeed it is almost criminal, to make the sort of promise that Dulles made to the Lebanese, unless you are also ready to be bold in drawing the logical consequences from your own actions.

Having made such a promise, a great power must show it means every word of it. A great power may wait a while to see whether such a promise really has to be kept. A great power may first experiment with purely political instruments. But if these instruments do not work, a greater power that has promised to send troops does so without delay, before the situation detonates and gets out of hand.

The British government tried to draw just the consequences listed above from the promise that had been made. The American government instead insisted upon delay after vain delay. The main trouble was that just about everyone in the American government except John Foster Dulles heartily disliked the promise that Dulles had made.

The most important opposition came from our U.N. delegation and the Pentagon. The Chiefs of the Armed Services indicated their position at the outset, by doing the exact opposite of showing we meant every word of our promise. For some time after the promise was given, the Marines on duty in the Mediterranean were actually left to vacation on Spanish beaches, several days sailing from the Lebanon.

At the U.N., too, our secondary foreign policy-maker, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, had committed himself to a soft, parliament-of-man line when the American government was making its disastrous decisions about the Suez crisis. He now took the same line about the Lebanese crisis. Lodge should apparently get most of the credit for the U.N. mission to Lebanon, which has turned out to resemble the shameful Runciman mission to Czechoslovakia that prepared the road to Munich.

A Middle Eastern Munich is now quite likely. Foster Dulles still insists that the United States and Britain will send troops to Lebanon rather than permit a Munich there. But if we intervene now, we shall be doing so after the price of intervention has doubled and quadrupled and decupled. One must conclude, therefore, that the only tussock in a swamp cannot support the weight of such a policy-decision as Dulles made.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Old baseball fannisters just realize that Chicago and Cincinnati are Eastern teams.

The move Westward Ho! Ho! to San Francisco and Los Angeles puts those two towns in brackets with Milwaukee and St. Louis.

The Eastern Division consists of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Chicago. Elephants not only fly but they're setting on eggs.

The acme of the climax will be eight teams west of the Rockies for the National League. And eight teams east of the Big Divide for the American.

Then a World Series will mean something more than a ride on the subway.

That's the way it's to be with Texas swinging in with eight more towns for a third league. Anybody trying to keep Texas out is fanning moonbeams with his hat.

Towns like Montreal, Havana and Quebec will grow into league towns. The only thing stopping Miami is it's a winter resort.

And here's another wharf you can tie up to. The whole transaction will work out in less than ten years.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The night Joe Friday was taken prisoner. . .

Mr. Jack Webb was happy and nervous. He looked like a portable atom bomb. His bride, the beautiful red-haired Jackie Loughery, was in a bedroom with Mrs. Herman Saunders finding something borrowed and something blue. She wore a rich white gown, pinched in the back, and a boy could span her waist with two fingers.

The bridegroom found a cup of tea, begged me not to be nervous, turned the music down a notch, answered the front door and showed his Dragnet teeth to the judge, all in three and one-tenth seconds. The bridesmaid, Mrs. George Postey, a blonde in blue, was smelling the bridal bouquet of lilies of the valley when Judge Byron Walters opened his book and said that he was ready.

The Judge is popular with policemen in Los Angeles. He is chunky and good-looking and he speaks softly. "Excuse me," he whispered in my ear, "could you please tell me where the rest room is? I'm awfully nervous." I showed him. When we got to it, the bridegroom was waiting in the doorway, snapping on lights. He was as calm as a marionette worked by a lush with d.t.'s.

The bridal party waited. The judge returned, with his book, and he began to read from it. Civil marriage is a matter of civil law. This judge was the first I ever heard who brings God into the ceremony. "Let us pray," he murmured, and he prayed fervently and beautifully. He asked God's holy blessing on the union of Jacqueline Loughery, who was Miss United States a few seasons ago, and Jack Webb who, in private life, is Joe Friday.

This was Tuesday. The music was soft and rich and Herman Saunders, associate producer of Mark VII Limited, produced the ring at the proper moment and looked like a man who has been pole-axed in the middle of a smile. The ring had three rows of diamonds. It does not go with dish-pan hands. Miss Loughery, who comes from Brooklyn and whose father is a 4-stripe U. S. Navy captain, has been known to wash dishes and, diamonds or no diamonds, she manufactures a fair brand of spaghetti and meat sauce if allowed loose in a kitchen.

The wedding started at 8:31 p. m., was over at 8:34. The judge pronounced them man and wife and braced himself to kiss the bride. Then he asked for their autographs. "Oh good," the bride said, "I've never signed anything as Mrs. Jack Webb." She wrote it out. Her husband peeked over her shoulder. "If you don't mind," he said drily, "two b's, please."

There was champagne and the best man crept out of his smile long enough to devise a nice toast. Webb kissed Jackie again, like a man who has to be reassured that it is legal, and he whispered in her ear: "I jammed that ring on your finger so hard that it should never come off."

Freddie, a little man who is Webb's cook, stood in the background, half inside a doorway, watching and smiling. He kept clasping and unclasping his hands as though it was difficult to contain his glee and yet he did not want to betray it with sound. He just looked, and his dark eyes glistened and you knew that he was happy for the boss.

Jackie said: "I'm going to call Mom," and Webb said, "When you get her, put me on." He filled the champagne glasses, turned the music up a little, laughed at a whispered sally, and did a time step — in two seconds and four-fifths. He was calming down a little, he said, and this reminded the judge of something, but this time he knew the way.

Mrs. Loughery was on the phone, and she felt happy for her little girl, and she hoped the marriage would be forever and ever. Captain Loughery was on another extension, and he too was happy. The Captain and Mr. Webb form the nucleus of a mutuel admiration society, and this is good. "Momma's crying," said Jackie, laughing and dabbing at her own eyes. "Imagine. Momma's crying."

Mr. Webb spoke to his mother-in-law for a few minutes. Then he hung up and his bride kissed him and he looked at her almost sadly and shook his head solemnly and said: "Forever and ever." Freddie handed Mr. Webb his car keys and Herman Saunders was back in his smile, the "I think we're all going to Scandia for the reception. Isn't that where we're going?"

Humans Can Get Psittacosis From Pet Birds

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Psittacosis (parrot fever) has been a minor health problem for decades, but in recent years, more and more cases are being reported. The popularity of the parakeet is responsible. These birds are susceptible to the infection along with parrots, canaries, pigeons, doves, and ducks.

But this is not all. The University of Glasgow recently traced a fatal case of polio in a young boy to his pet parakeet. The bird, recovering from paralysis of the legs, grasped the child's lips with his beak. Type I poliovirus was recovered from the youngster's stools and the bird's droppings. The lesson is not to handle sick or dead birds.

Three cases of psittacosis were reported recently by the National Office of Vital Statistics. One was a 25 year old New Yorker who worked as a floor waxer in a pet shop. He developed fever, malaise, and cough after sweeping out the shop.

Signs of pneumonia were found and a blood test for psittacosis was positive. The illness occurred shortly after the pet shop had received a shipment of 50 birds, three or four of which died a few days after arrival.

The second occurred in a 68 year old Florida man who raised and sold parakeets. Ten days prior to the onset of his symptoms, some of the birds had sickened and died. He developed pneumonia, with a temperature of 102 degrees F. The antibiotic, Tetracycline, saved his life.

The third case was reported from California. A housewife, who had been exposed to several parakeets belonging to a neighbor, complained of a chest cold and cough. Her temperature was up and X-rays revealed bronchopneumonia. A blood test was positive for psittacosis. Tetracycline led to rapid improvement.

The causative virus is transmitted to man by inhaling dust from dried excretia, nasal discharges, or feathers. Occasionally infection follows parrot bites or close contact, as in mouth-to-mouth feeding. The majority of victims of psittacosis have chills, fever, headache, sore throat, and cough seven to 14 days after coming into contact with the ailing bird.

The antibiotics shorten the course of the disease so it is not feared as much as in the past. The condition is suspected in a bird that looks listless and has diarrhea, nasal discharge, and ruffled plumage or if the little fellow dies. Some birds are carriers even though they had not been ill.

NERVOUS TEMPERAMENT

Mrs. D. writes: Can nervousness be cured?

REPLY

Yes, provided the cause is known and eliminated. This is not easy because nervousness is deepseated and stems from emotional insecurity in childhood and youth. For this reason, physicians say a person must be born again to be cured. Nevertheless, many things can be done to ease tension and anxiety.

GROWTH UNDER NAIL

B. J. L. writes: What can be done about a thick, fibrous growth under a toe nail? When my doctor was taking care of an ingrown nail he noticed this growth.

REPLY

Complete excision of this growth is needed if it is subungual exostosis. These lesions arise from cartilage but later become bony. The cause is unknown.

IN THE MIND

C. M. writes: Bad smells make me vomit. Is this due to a physical or a psychic disorder?

REPLY

Psychic.

CYSTS VARY

J. E. writes: Are cysts malignancies?

REPLY

Cysts are sacs that contain liquid or semi-fluid material. They usually are benign but some may become malignant.

HAIR GRAYING

Mrs. L. writes: At what age is graying of the hair considered normal?

REPLY

It is normal for men in their 40s but premature when it occurs in women that age.

TOMORROW: The pre-diabetic state.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

One contemporary American author genuinely appreciated in Italy is John Steinbeck. A baker in Rome actually reproduced a half dozen covers of Steinbeck novels in pastry form. John Fuller called the window display to the attention of Steinbeck, who dutifully bought "The Wayward Bus," and had it for dessert that evening.

"This is the first time," notes Fuller, "that I ever saw an author eat his own words."

A couple of Texans were driving through California's famed redwood forest. In the very heart of the grove, with giant trees towering on all sides, they stopped for a snack. One Texan eyed the redwoods appraisingly, then drawled to the dinette proprietor;

"Say, Bud, how much further we gotta ride to get out of this underbrush?"

"I hate that chap," asserted the cute little secretary as she rubbed cold cream on her lips.

Sellout Crowd Of 49,000 To Attend All-Star Contest

Willie Mays To Lead Off For National

Spahn Will Oppose Turley; American Loop 13-10 Choice

By JACK HAND

BALTIMORE (AP) — Warren Spahn to pitch and Willie Mays to lead off were Manager Fred Haney's surprising choices for the National League Monday to face bullet Bob Turley of the American League in Tuesday's 25th All-Star baseball game.

Haney tossed the book out the window when he turned to his 37-year-old Milwaukee left-hander as the National's starter despite an American line-up that will include only one left-handed batter —second baseman Nelson Fox of Chicago. Spahn has appeared in five all-star games, starting in 1949 at Brooklyn and winning on relief in 1953 at Cincinnati.

"He gets the right-handers out just as easy as the left-handers," Haney explained. "He hasn't pitched since Friday and so will have three full days of rest. And don't forget this is a big ball park with plenty of room to catch a fly ball."

Mays To Lead Off

The selection of Mays to lead off caused almost as much comment as the choice of Spahn (10-5). The San Francisco center fielder with a .358 average and 16 home runs has been batting No. 3 in the Giant line-up.

"You figure to pinch hit at least three times for your pitcher in this game," said Haney. "If the pinch hitter comes through, then you have Willie coming up next. I couldn't think of anything nicer than that."

Casey Stengel, the New York Yankee manager who will be managing his eighth All-Star team (he has a bad 2-5 record) went along with his ace Yankee right-hander, Turley. The no-windup pitcher is the top winner in the majors with a 12-3 record and four shut-outs among 11 complete games.

Although Turley was named to two other teams he never pitched before. He last worked Friday.

Mickey Draws No. 2

Stengel didn't let Haney, his 1957 World Series conqueror, get away with all the surprises. He moved Mickey Mantle, the Yankee switch hitter, to the No. 2 spot in the order to give him that many extra chances at National League pitching.

Jackie Jensen of Boston, who tops both leagues in homers (24) and runs batted in (68), bats behind Mantle. Then comes Bob Cerv of Kansas City, the clean-up man, who is second to Jensen with 22 homers and 62 runs batted in. That's the outfield — Cerv in left, Mantle in center and Jensen in right.

Nellie Fox, the league-leading batter from Chicago with .327, leads off.

After Cerv comes Bill Skowron of New York on first base, Frank Malzone of Boston on third, catcher Gus Triandos of Baltimore, shortstop Luis Aparicio of Chicago and Turley.

A. L. Is Favorite

Neither Stengel nor Haney would name any definite pitchers after their starters in this silver anniversary game. The American League holds a 14-10 series edge and is a 13-10 favorite, although the National has won six of the last eight. The Americans won last year at St. Louis 6-5 with each team scoring three in the ninth.

Baltimore is all set to welcome its first All-Star game with a sell-out crowd of about 49,000. The players will be driven through the streets in convertibles on the way to the park—just like Milwaukee.

The game starts at 12 noon (EST) and will be beamed across the nation on network (NBC) radio and television as usual.

After leading off with Mays, Haney follows with his two left-handed hitters, Skinner and first baseman Stan Musial of St. Louis, who breaks a record every time he turns around in this his 15th All-Star game.

Aaron In Cleanup

Haney has right fielder Hank Aaron of his Braves in the clean-up spot despite his .289 average. Then come shortstop Ernie Banks of Chicago and Thomas who leads the National with 22 homers and 67 runs batted in.

Mazeroski, catcher Del Crandall of Milwaukee and Spahn round out the batting order.

Bob Friend of Pittsburgh, everybody's guess as the National starter, now appears to be in line as the second pitcher.

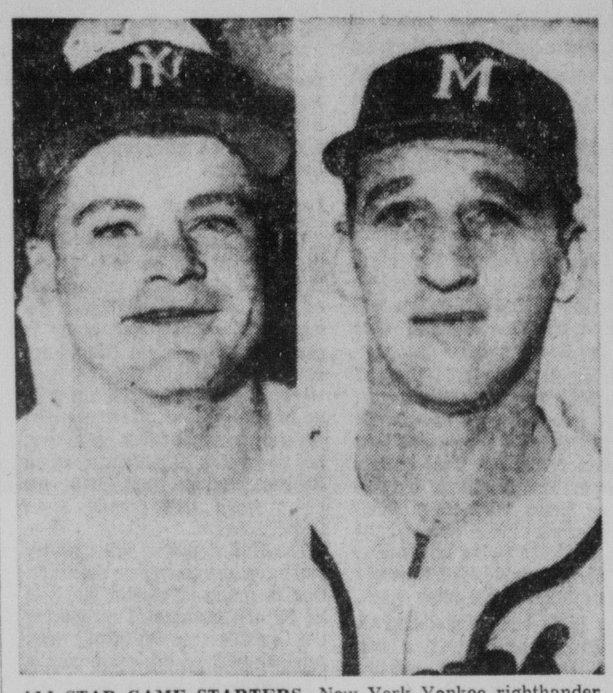
Entertain Foes

For the first time since 1949, West Virginia will play both Pitt and Penn State, its chief football rivals, at home in 1959.

William D. Gilmour of Ridgeway, Ont., was the second leading harness driver in 1958 with 152 winners, four less than Bill Haughton.



ALL-STAR GAME STARTERS—New York Yankee righthander Bob Turley, left, will be the starting pitcher for the American League in today's All-Star game in Baltimore. Milwaukee Braves' southpaw Warren Spahn, right, is scheduled to work the first three innings for the National League. Turley is top winner in the majors with a 12-3 record. Spahn has a 10-5 won-lost mark. (AP Photofax)

Fugitt Is Honored
Jesse Still On Top
Big 4th For Corle
To Race Under Stars

By C. V. BURNS

WILLIAM R. FUGITT'S elevation to the presidency of the National Federation of High School Athletic Associations comes as pleasing news to our West Virginia neighbors and Western Marylanders who had the pleasure of meeting the Baron of Beckley during his visits here in recent years for the football clinics arranged by Arthur G. Ramey at the board of education building.

Mr. Fugitt became president of the organization which governs high school athletics in practically every state in the union at the annual convention held in Santa Barbara, Calif.

He has long been a power in the national organization and he has done a great job as executive secretary of the West Virginia Secondary Schools Activities Commission.

At the time Mr. Fugitt took over the duties as president of the national federation, another veteran, H. V. Porter stepped down from his long-time job as executive secretary. The latter has been succeeded by Cliff Fair, his assistant.

It is a coincidence that Fugitt and Porter figure in the news at the same time as both were in Cumberland in recent years at most of the grid clinics. Ramey became acquainted with Porter and Fugitt while attending national conventions and they readily accepted invitations to come here.

Fugitt is expected to retain his post with the West Virginia association and he will likely have an assistant at his Beckley headquarters.

JESSE MARKLEY, whose strong right arm helped Fort Hill High School win county championships in 1955, 1956 and 1957, is the current pitching sensation in the Pen-Mar League with an 8-0 record.

To date he has beaten every team in the league at least once but Hyndman.

The slab ace of the Barrelville Old Exports has whipped Grantsville, 9-2, Ziblman 1-0, Mt. Savage 9-4, Salisbury 13-0, Flintstone 19-1 and 16-6, Wellersburg 4-3 and 8-3. He has yielded only 19 runs in eight games for an average of 2.37 and his earned run mark probably is lower than that.

Markley holds the distinction of pitching for three county league championship teams at Fort Hill, Fort Cumberland Post teams that copped Mountain District Legion titles in 1955 and 1956, and Barrelville's Old Exports, 1957 playoff champs of the Pen-Mar loop.

At Fort Hill he won 28 and lost 5 in four seasons, posted an 8-2 record for Fort Cumberland Post and won six and lost one at Barrelville last season. His 8-0 mark this season ups his total wins to 50 in five years against eight losses.

Jesse is a product of the Hot Stove League where he hurled for the Rotary Club. He made his debut in the Legion League with Fulton Myers Post in 1954.

HERE ARE the records of leading pitchers in area baseball and softball leagues for games through last Sunday:

Baseball:
PEN-MAR LEAGUE: Markley, Barrelville, 8-0; Robert Keister, Grantsville, 5-0; Jim Leydig, Hyndman, 3-0; Bob See, Hyndman, 3-0; Bobby Dawson, Grantsville, 4-1; Glenn Deremer, Hyndman, 5-2; Bobby Raines, Barrelville, 4-2; Ralph Dickel, Mt. Savage, 5-3; Jim Robertson, Salisbury, 5-3.
BI-STATE PONY LEAGUE: Billy Lovett, Cresaptown, 7-0; Bobby Wharton, LaVale, 4-2.
TWILIGHT LEAGUE: Grover Fazenbaker, Barton, 5-0; Ollie Smith, Westernport, 4-0; Billy Johnson, Barton, 4-0; George Winters, Midland, 4-1.
HOT STOVE LEAGUE: John Price, Kiwanis, 4-0; James Stewart, Cumberland Optimists, 3-0; Ronnie Evans, Lions, 3-0; Glen Shipway, Elks, Phil Barbe, Jaycees, 3-1; Jimmy Seeders, Bedford Road Optimists, 3-1.
PEN-MAR LITTLE LEAGUE: Terry Wendt, Cresaptown, 5-0; Don Engle, Barrelville, 4-0; Frank Morgan, Ellerslie, 3-0; John Wright, Tri-State Memorial, 5-1; Steve Vandenburg, Cresaptown, 5-2; Ralph Wilson, Barrelville, 4-2.
Softball:
COUNTY LEAGUE: Art Raygor, Corriganville, 12-3; Curt Hosselrode, Stringtown, 4-1; Ray Troutman, Stringtown, 7-3; Vern Lowery, Kennell's Mill, 5-3; Jerry O'Baker, Maple Inn, 7-5.
ROCKING CHAIR LEAGUE: Pete Elliott, V.F.W., 5-0; Charles Day, V.F.W., 4-0; Dick Klavuhn, Elks, 7-2; Al Sheetz, K. of C., 5-2.
CITY REC LEAGUE: Don Decker, Local 26, 5-0; "Pickles" Doolan, Local 26, 5-1; Regis Fair, Don McIntyre's, 3-1; Denny Knippenberg, Western Maryland, 3-1; Gene Hess, Ridgeley Legion, 6-4; Jim Lease, Keech's Drug Stores, 3-2; Billy Manges, Marine Reserve, 3-2.

BOBBY CORLE, the Bedford, Pa., apprentice rider, continues his dazzling performances at the Delaware Park race meeting.

Corle celebrated the Fourth of July by registering a "triple" with His Proof ($16.80), Royal Spy ($11.20) and Princeton ($10) and on Saturday he booted home his 20th winner of the Stanton session aboard Dr. Link for a return of $8.20. Yesterday he upped his wins to 22 aboard Lady Jonage and Betty C., which paid off at $7 for $2.

Bobby has 15 seconds and 15 thirds and now is in third place in the jockeys' race. Eldon Nelson with 40 winners is first and Steve Brooks is runner-up with 25.

FROM Wheeling comes the report that Trainer J. Richard Long of Cumberland has been allotted eight stalls for the summer meeting of 36 nights which gets under way at the West Virginia track July 28.

Long handles the 5-year-old handicap mare Atheneum, racing in the silks of Frederick Jackson. Roue is another owned by Jackson while Louis E. Torreyson is the owner of Tintern and Quick Sand.

Long's own horses are Sun Tint, Blue Dancer, Defenseless and Varga.

Defenseless won at Charles Town July 4 and rewarded backers with $14.80 for each $2 played on the nose.

COACH Bill Hahn reports that Larry Hansrote, regular center on Fort Hill's 1946 football team, and former local sandlot pitcher, is being sent by the Air Force to M. I. T. (Massachusetts Institute of Technology) for an advanced science course.

Midland tied Barton for first place in the Twilight Baseball League yesterday by defeating Wright's Crossing by the score of 9-4 while Lonaconing and Barton were battling to a 14-14 tie in a game halted by darkness at the end of the 7th inning in Barton.

The Indians larruped the offerings of two Wright's Crossing pitchers for 18 hits. George Miller and Bill Ultis sparked the assult with three blows each. "Slug" Robertson, who toiled on the rubber for six innings, got credit for the win. Jack Bahen and Eddie Finn had two hits each for the losers.

In the game at Barton Ellis Fazenbaker had a double and two singles and Mike Muir slammed a double and single to pace the Braves while "Ebb" Spiker garnered three safeties and "Cokie" Robertson socked a triple and single for 'Coney.

The game will be replayed Friday at 5:30 p. m., in Barton.

Carl Emerick and Wayne Bridges limited Finzel to four hits as Zihlman won on its home field by the score of 11-2. Relief pitcher Bridges, who got credit for the win, struck out seven.

Jack Robeson, Jim Keister, Robert Keister, Jack Anderson, Jack Downton and Harold Buskirk shared 12 of the winners' 14 hits. Robeson and Buskirk clouted homers. Jack Burner had two hits for Finzel.

Westernport outslugged Cumberland to win at Westernport by the score of 11-10.

The victors racked up 14 hits. Joe Niland banged a double and two singles, Ollie Smith rapped a trio of singles and "Kip" Montgomery belted a homer. Leatherman, Cage and Whisner had two hits each for Cumberland. Smith, who replaced Montgomery in the fifth, notched his fifth consecutive win of the campaign. Scores:

The Kiwanis Club extended its winning streak to four games by defeating B'nai B'rith yesterday at Fort Hill Field by the score of 6-4 and took a one-game lead in the Hot Stove Baseball League.

"Butch" Bosley scattered eight hits, whiffed eleven and notched his second win against a single loss as Manager Wayne White's tossers registered their sixth win in eight starts.

The league leaders obtained 11 hits, including a triple and two singles by Jimmy Powelson, a three-bagger, double and single by John Price and a circuit clout and pair of one-base blows by Charley Boone.

Norris and Cox collected three hits each for B'nai B'rith.

Ronnie Manges gave up nine hits fanned nine in twirling Lonnie Jackson's Rotary Club tossers to a 6-4 decision over the Jaycees at Penn Avenue Field.

The Rotarians garnered only four safeties, including a two-run homer by Joe Ranker in the first frame. McKay, Jaycees' hurler, struck out ten and collected two of the losers' nine bingles.

Billy Stakem's single scored Jim Angellatta with the run that gave the Elks a 5-4 victory over the Cumberland Optimists in a night contest at Penn Avenue Field.

The winning blow came in the top of the 7th inning after Angellatta had walked, pilfered second and advanced to third when the ball thrown by the catcher struck him on the back.

Glen Shipway, who pitched until the 7th, got credit for his fourth straight win of the season. He fanned ten and issued five passes. Ray Redinger finished on the mound for the Elks, replacing Shipway after Long had walked to open the final frame.

John Rice, Stakem and Shipway of the Elks and Bill Sheetz of the Optimists garnered two hits each. Scores:

National League May Expand To Ten Teams

Tempting Offer Is Received From New York City

BALTIMORE (AP) — The National League, acting after receiving a tempting offer to return to New York City, Monday authorized the appointment of a committee to study the feasibility of expanding the league to 10 baseball teams.

The league owners, after an all-day meeting, directed President Warren Giles to name three committee members to consider the increase in membership. Giles said it would take some time to pick the committee.

The resolution authorizing the committee study referred to the lure dangled before the league by Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City this morning.

The mayor told league officials the city was fully ready to put up 12 million dollars for a baseball stadium and charge reasonable rent.

Wagner, moving boldly to recoup from New York's loss of the Giants and Dodgers to California, said the city was prepared to erect a 52,000-seat ballpark in return for a franchise.

Although Giles and club owners generally were impressed by the offer, they made no commitment beyond the decision to set up the study committee.

As Giles put it, there are only two choices if the New York offer is accepted.

"A present club would have to move in or the membership increased," he explained.

Expansion would mean going from eight to 10 teams for scheduling simplicity. Present club owners seemed to feel this would be the answer, if any.

Late Rally Beats McIntyre's, 9-8

Rallying in the late innings for six runs, the Ridgeley American Legion came from behind to defeat Don McIntyre's in a Rec Softball League game yesterday at East Side Field by the score of 9-8.

McIntyre's scored eight runs in the second inning after two out but were blanked the remainder of the route by Gene Hess. Scott's single followed by two errors gave Ridgeley the tying and winning runs in the final frame.

Leasure, who replaced Regis Fair in the 7th inning, was charged with the loss.

Dave Baker of Ridgeley and Dale Fuller of McIntyre's led the stickers with three hits each. Van Parsons, of McIntyre's, and Hess and Scott of Ridgeley, had two bingles each.

The win was the 7th for Hess, who has lost four games. Score:

Archers Plan Tournament At Keyser Sunday

Fourth Annual Event To Start At 9 A.M.

KEYSER — The Green Mountain Archers of the Keyser area, will hold their fourth annual "Open Shoot" Sunday, July 13.

Registration for the event will be conducted at 8:30 p. m. DST, and the tournament will get into full swing at 9 a. m. The morning event will be known as the "28 target field round," which entails going around the 14 target course twice.

Each contestant will shoot four arrows at each target and his total for the morning, classifies him for the afternoon event.

The afternoon event will call for 28 targets broadhead around and is a modified version of the field round. Spectators will be welcome but are advised to dress for weeds, walking and climbing.

Registration for contestants is $1 per person. There is no charge for spectators.

This "open shoot tournament" is the largest archery affair in this area and each year shows an increase in attendance, both by participants and spectators. Invitations have been sent to approximately forty registered archery clubs, some from as far distant as 400 miles from Keyser.

The local range is located six miles east of Keyser on State Route 46. Directions from Keyser, turn off "46" to the road directly in the rear of the Stop-In Restaurant on "46" and proceed a quarter mile to Archers Range Parking Area.

Cresaptown Sets Record In 34-7 Rout

Ellerslie Victim, LaVale, 'Coney Win

BI-STATE PONY LEAGUE

Ellerslie	1	11	.083

Cresaptown's pace-setting Lions hung up a season scoring record yesterday when they routed the last place Ellerslie team by the score of 34-7 in a Bi-State Pony Baseball League game at Ellerslie.

The Lions scored in every inning but the fourth, opening with an eight-run spiurge in the first and closing with an 11-run explosion in the 7th.

Cresaptown's victory coupled with Frostburg's 10-7 defeat at the hands of LaVale enabled the Lions to increase their lead to 1½ games over the Mountain City nine.

The league leaders racked up 28 hits and among them were circuit clouts by Lewis, Cecil, Mikesell and Bird. Ernie Stouffer pitched the first four innings and notched his third win of the season. John Lowery collected two of Ellerslie's five hits.

LaVale scored all of its runs in the last four innings to pull the game out of the fire at Frostburg.

Evan Smith sparked the 12-hit attack with two homers, Ted Femi slammed a triple and two singles, Mike Scaletta had two hits and Dick Shaffer banged a two bagger. Jim Sittig hit safely thrice, Rich McKenzie homered and singled and Jack Stevenson obtained a double and single to head the Frostburg batsmen.

Larry Snyder, who relieved Wharton in the second inning, received credit for the win, his second of the year.

Kenny McCormick hurled a three-hitter as Lonaconing took the measure of Mt. Savage on the latter's field by the score of 10-2. The loss was charged to Joe Nolan, relief hurler.

Wilson collected two of 'Coney's six hits. Mt. Savage's three hits were singles by Deffenbaugh, Green and Blank.

A league meeting will be held today at 8 p. m., at Frostburg City Hall. Managers of all teams are urged to attend.

Manager Bob Ziler's Athletics handed the front-running Dodgers their first defeat of the season in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League yesterday at East Side Field, winning a free-hitting affair by the score of 11-9.

The A's spotted the league leaders eight runs in the first two innings and came from behind to snap the Dodgers' five-game winning streak. The victory put the Zilermen a half game out of first place.

Ronnie Isner, who supplanted Greg Skidmore in the fifth inning received credit for the win, giving him a 3-0 record for the campaign. "Rocky" Klosterman went the distance for the Dodgers and now is 2-1.

Allen Cross with a double and two singles and Paul Light with a three-bagger and pair of one-base knocks sparked the A's 11-hit attack. Isner rapped a double and scored the 10th and deciding run with a single in the 5th. Greg Shaffer collected two singles.

Diamond, Lease and Gary Imes belted homers for the Dodgers. Diamond also collected two doubles, Shook had three singles and Stitcher garnered a triple, double and single. Score:

John Mills tossed a one-hitter and mowed down an even dozen on strikes as the Forty Niners chalked up their third straight win of the season in the City High School Baseball League by downing Gurley's yesterday at Taylor Field by the score of 9-1.

Wayne Shook's single in the first inning was the lone safety yielded by Mills, who notched his second victory of the campaign.

The winners collected eight hits, including a homer and two singles by Jim Hammond and a three-base wallop by Dick Peck.

At Fort Hill Field, the V.F.W. shut out the Top Shop, 6 to 0, in a game halted by darkness after six innings were completed.

Each team was limited to three hits. Richard Marriott, Clarence Kean and Fred Schindler obtained the V.F.W. bingles while Puffenberger said Henry rapped singles and Spier collected a triple for the Toy Shop.

Roger Manges, V.F.W. twirler, fanned 12 batsmen. Nines was the losing hurler. Scores:

Senators Will Not Pull Out Of Washington

Griffith To Keep Team At Capital

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Washington Senators backtracked Monday on any notion they may have had of making a quick pullout from the nation's capital.

After a 3½-hour closed meeting of American League club owners, Senators' boss Calvin Griffith said the team would stay in Washington indefinitely.

Griffith had remarked on entering the meeting he would ask fellow owners whether they believed the league would be better off with the Senators in some other location. During the weekend he had cited a steady slump in gate receipts as one factor that might persuade his own board of directors and the league itself to accept the hospitality of fans elsewhere.

Recent franchise shifts to Milwaukee, Baltimore and Kansas City have been financially rewarding. Griffith wanted to sound out opinion on another shift, to Minneapolis or some other city.

Dallas, Houston and Toronto also had been mentioned in the speculation.

Earl J. Hilligan, head of the American League Service Bureau, came out of the pre-All-Star game meeting to tell newsmen Griffith had not requested authority to move.

Frank Lane, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, commented that Griffith "either repented or changed his mind!"

Jim Wilson's Red Sox increased their lead to 1½ games in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Little League by edging the Pirates yesterday at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 4-3.

Lee Miller, Red Sox relief pitcher, who replaced Richie Robinson in the 5th, won his own game in the fifth by driving home the deciding tally with a two-base wallop. The win was Miller's third in a row. He fanned five in the two innings he worked. Robinson also whiffed five. Jewell, Pirates' hurler struck out six.

Shelley's circuit blast in the 5th enabled the Pirates to knot the score at 3-3.

In a game punctuated by four homers, the Giants downed the Phillies at Post Field by the score of 6-4.

Billy Seeders and Gary Elliott hit four-baggers for the Giants and Terry Deremer and Vinnie DelaGrange hit round-trippers for the Phillies. Seeders, Hamilton, Elliott and Fred Jackson had two hits each for the winners. One of Hamilton's clouts was a triple. Jerry Young limited the Phils to five hits, including the two homers. Scores:

Baldoni Wins At Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — The slugger beat the boxer Monday night as Tony Baldoni scored a technical knockout over Johnny Cunningham in 2:58 of the fifth round of a 10-round middleweight bout.

Baldoni weighed 158 and Cunningham 152. Both are Baltimoreans. It was Baltimore's first professional boxing match in two years.

Cunningham was ahead on every card until the fifth, when Baldoni dropped him with a right. Baldoni sent his lighter opponent to the floor four more times before Referee Eddie Leonard halted it.

The National Boxing Assn. three knockdown rule doesn't apply in Maryland, where calling a TKO is left to the referee's discretion.

It was Baldoni's first fight in about two years. He went into semi-retirement then after losing to Joey Giardello and Ralph (Tiger) Jones.

Three Players Tie In Publinx Golf Tourney

Essig Is Among Leaders With 71s

CHICAGO (AP) — Defending champion Don Essig, a sales representative, and a park district employee, Monday shot 2-under-par 71's for a three-way first round qualifying lead in the National Public Links Golf Tournament.

The gently rolling Silver Lake course, with its 6,866 yardage and 38-35—73 par, proved a severe test for the field of 150 shooting for 64 match-play spots. Only nine players matched or bettered par, the final 18 hole qualifying trial will be Tuesday.

Joining Essig, a 19-year-old former Indianapolis caddy and now a member of the Louisiana State University golf team, in the lead were Frank Schmidt of Dayton, Ohio and Walt Durdle of Peoria, Ill.

Schmidt, 24-year-old sales representative who won the 1952 Ohio High School crown, authored three birdies and needed only 31 putts in a 38-33—71 effort.

Husky 25-year-old Durdle, playing in the last threesome of the day, also had only 31 putts, in fashioning 36-35—71.

Durdle keeps the greens in shape on the Park District courses in Peoria.

Eddie Arcaro Scores With Outer Space

Annexes Jamaica's Opening Feature

JAMAICA, N. Y., July 7 — Driving between horses in a furious stretch charge, Mrs. Gerard S. Smith's Outer Space captured the $22,200 Liberty Belle Handicap as Jamaica race track opened a 20-day summer meeting.

Outer Space, 4-year-old daughter of Saggy-Supersonic, ridden by Eddie Arcaro, won by half a length from Cain Hoy Stable's Nile Lily, who took the place by three quarters of a length over Brookfield Farms' I Offbeat, who set all the pace until well inside the sixteenth pole. The six furlongs was run in the blazing time of 1:10.

It was the third winner of the day for Arcaro, who previously won with Cain Hoy Stable's Hidden Talent, $2.60, and Mrs. Joan G. Van De Maele's Merry Hill, $3.70.

Outer Space earned $14,180 net for Mrs. Smith, a resident of New Canaan, Conn. Coupled with William Haggin Perry's Alanesian as the favorite with the crowd of 24,156, Outer Space returned the across the board mutuels of $5.10, $2.90 and $2.20. Nile Lily paid $7.00 and $3.50 and I Offbeat was $2.90 to show.

Braves' Gate May Be Lowest For Six Years

Braves Are Lucky To Hit 2 Million

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves, who set a National League attendance record of 2,215,404 last year when they won the world championship, will be lucky to reach the two-million mark this season.

William Eberly, the Braves' ticket director, said Monday that there is a possibility the attendance will be the lowest in the club's six years here.

With the halfway mark of the season behind them, the Braves have drawn 892,276 for 36 home dates. That is 83,088 under last year's total for the same number of dates. Their lowest season draw to date was 1,826,397 in 1953, their first year here.

"We've averaged 24,785 per date so far," said Eberly. "That's about 5,000 below our average for the last five years. In order to better our record attendance of a year ago, we would have to average 37,792 for our remaining 35 home dates. Even without a rainout, that is extremely unlikely."

Eberly said the poor Milwaukee attendance has been due to three major factors:

Cold, rainy weather and a crowd of only 23,706 July 4; the general business recession; and an unfavorable schedule.

Scores Triple

OCEANPORT, N. J., July 7 (AP) — National riding champion Bill Hartack registered three winners among his seven mounts to headline the program today at Monmouth Park. This was the fourth time during the current meeting, that the Charles Town, W. Va., jockey had scored a riding triple.

The 26-year-old reinsman captured the featured Hasty Road Purse with Mrs. J. Bowes Bond's Alstar, a $7.20 for $2 chance in the seventh race. Hartack won the second half of the $21.20 daily double, composed of Djezac ($6.00) and Some Tan ($5.60). He also scored with Countless Marcy ($5.80) in the sixth.

Irregular Gains Advance Market To New 1958 Peak

NEW YORK (AP) — Irregular gains pushed the stock market to another new peak for 1958 Monday in fairly active dealings.

The advance was the eighth straight for the list on average. Monday's rise was moderate, similar to the seven preceding.

Stock prices moved higher against a heavy supply of stock available for sale. The rise was marred by some conspicuous losses and it was highlighted by some fairly wide gains, especially among secondary issues.

A string of gains appeared among steels, motors, rubbers, farm implements and electronics. Rails were a shade lower on average. Oils changed little, although West Coast oil imports were reduced under a presidential order.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 50 cents to its new high of $176.10 with the industrials up 90 cents, the rails down 20 cents and the utilities up 30 cents making a new '58 high for this component.

Of 1,192 issues traded, gains totaled 541 and losses 384. There were 116 new highs for the year and 7 new lows.

Volume was 2,510,000 shares compared.

The opening was irregularly higher, with an assortment of sizable blocks following the three-day July 4 weekend. Prices improved gradually until late in the day when there was profit taking.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed on volume of 910,000 shares compared with 1,060,000 on Thursday.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures worked slowly and steadily higher Monday on the Board of Trade while other grains and soybeans held within fractions of a cent of the previous closes, some higher, some lower.

All wheat contracts finished with gains of more than a cent despite widespread expectations that hedge selling from the new winter crop would come in heavy volume and depress prices further.

The harvest is at or near its peak in Kansas, the major producing state, and there normally is a pressure at that time each year.

Wheat closed ¼-1½ cents a bushel higher, July $1.82⅝-½; corn ½ lower to ½ higher, July $1.31⅝-¾; oats ½ lower to ⅝ higher, July 63⅝; rye unchanged to ¾ higher, July $1.25; soybeans ⅜ higher to ⅝ lower, July $2.24⅝-¾; lard 12 cents a hundred pounds higher to 5 cents lower, July $12.42.

The nearby corn deliveries eased slightly mainly because of more liberal cash receipts over the weekend.

Church To Honor Rev. Culp And Wife

A "welcome back" celebration will be held today at 6 p. m. in Grove 2, Constitution Park, by First Methodist Church in honor of Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Culp. Rev. Mr. Culp has been returned by the Baltimore Conference to the local church for another year.

A musical program will be presented after the picnic by the Methodist Men's Club of the church.

½ ton pickup

This like-new pickup has always been here at the garage. We used it for small parts pickup. It has not been titled and will carry a new truck warranty. The six cylinder engine and standard shift make this very economical to operate. The mileage is low and the tires are good. It has heater, defroster, signal lights, and the paint is not scratched. This is a wonderful opportunity to buy a like-new pickup for less than book value at our low price of

W. Va. Has Drop In Tax Collections

CHARLESTON (AP) — Collections of both the soft drink tax and the cigaret tax were lower in June than in the preceding month.

Tax Commissioner John A. Field Jr. announced Monday that the soft drink tax had brought in $284,835 in June, compared with $295,254 in May.

For June of 1957, collections from this tax amounted to $304,-448.

Field said that the cigaret tax was down to $710,155 in June, from $886,799 in May. In June a year ago, the cigaret tax yielded $650,075.

For the full fiscal year, the soft drink tax collections have come to $3,402,740, while cigaret tax collections have totaled $8,938,372.

For fiscal 1956-57, comparable soft drink collections were $3,205,-767, indicating an increase of 6.1 per cent for fiscal 1957-58.

Net collections of the cigaret tax for fiscal 1957-58 showed an increase of 3 per cent over 1956-57, when the total was $8,676,121.

Paul L Brothers, supervisor of the cigaret and soft drinks division, theorized that the comparatively cool weather of the past month, along with high unemployment, was partly responsible for the lower soft drink tax yield.

He said he expected a big pickup this month, if warm weather continues.

Brothers pointed out that the largest decline came in taxes collected on bottled soft drinks retailed to the public. Cash crowns were down to $23,497, compared with $38,640.

Brothers noted increases in the two revenue sources affected by the Legislature's extension this year of soft drink taxes.

Syrup stamps for June were up to $67,282, compared with $40,389 a hear ago. Soft drink stamps shot up to $2,575 from $658 in June of 1957.

Two Persons Lone Seekers Of Road Jobs

The deadline for applications to take the promotional examination for the posts of supervisor of the Allegany County Roads Department and for a foreman's position has passed and there was only a single applicant for each job.

Harry T. Skelly, 40, LaVale, who has been assistant supervisor of the department for some years, is the lone applicant for the position which will be vacant with the retirement of J. Walker Chapman, effective July 31.

Joseph W. Price, 38, of Little Orleans, is the lone applicant for a foreman's job left vacant by a retirement.

Skelly served as a technical sergeant with the Air Force during World War II in an administrative capacity. He was also employed by Albert Paye, who conducted an engineering firm at one time here. Skelly entered the service of the County Roads Department in 1947.

He has been acting supervisor during the vacation of Chapman.

Price, who is a carpenter, worked on the Pennsylvania Turnpike project and also on the Big Inch pipeline before entering the County Roads Department service in 1943.

The Allegany County Civil Service Commission will conduct the promotional examination in the near future. After the tests the two men, if they qualify, will automatically assume the posts for which they have applied.

It will then be necessary to hold a promotional examination for a successor to Skelly. A man will also be added to the Roads Department in the Little Orleans-Oldtown area to replace Price.

Termites Attack Town's Floodwall

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—Ashland has termites in its floodwall.

And it ain't funny, McGee.

Floodwall Supt. L. E. McGuire estimates that it will cost the city $5,000 to repair the damage in a section of the concrete wall about eight blocks long. The bugs have eaten out a cork-type substance which had been used to fill the seams in the wall—the joints of the upright wall sections.

McGuire discovered the termites in a routine inspection last fall. A U.S. Corps of Engineers expert from Washington investigated and directed that 290 seams in the wall be cleaned out and refilled with a termite-repellent sealer.

McGuire said similar infestations had been reported in floodwalls at Huntington, W. Va., and at Ironton and Portsmouth, Ohio.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

7-8

Do you use a sachet prized for its many uses and its sustained fragrance as an everyday part of being beautiful?

Sachet Sense

One of the loveliest and daintiest of all personal accessories, the sachet, is most often overlooked.

Sachet, when properly used and placed, can give a sustained fragrance. If used properly, it will trail a magnetic aroma wherever you go. It becomes part of you—a distinct facet of your personality.

Choose the scent best suited to your personality. A floral fragrance, for instance, is an especially happy choice right now through the warmer months.

Slip sachet bags into the pockets of clothes. Scatter them among pieces of your lingerie, gloves, scarves, and handkerchiefs. Also put them in your hat boxes and hang them over your dress hangers. This will give a day long and night long aura of fragrance.

If you place sachet powder in open bowls, it will fill a room with a pleasant fragrance. Alongside your bed, it woos sweet dreams.

Women who find that liquid fragrance stales on their skin have been very successful with sachet-saturated cotton pellets worn inside their bras. Should you find that perfume "just doesn't cling," learn to use a liquid skin sachet.

Once you form the delightful "sachet habit" you'll start being remembered for a lovely fragrance. This can, of course, be one of the nicest compliments you can pay those around you.

TOMORROW: Refresh Your Disposition.

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

Whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same—YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a pattern of safe, laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin, plus stamped self-addressed envelope.

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 heart	2 clubs	Pass
Pass	Double	Pass	2 spades
Pass	2 no trump	Pass	3 spades
Pass	4 spades	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Club jack.

It is going to be extremely difficult to induce West to double anyone from now on. Previously a hand was presented in which, holding a side ace and K-Q-5 of trumps behind the declarer, he was unable to defeat a contract of five clubs doubled. Today's hand was the very next one dealt in the same game.

"This couldn't happen to me twice in one rubber," he announced as he doubled the final contract of four spades after his partner had made a vulnerable overcall at the level of two. Following a slight slip in the defense at trick one, the defenders were helpless against South's plan of attack.

The jack of clubs was opened, ducked in dummy and permitted to hold. Had East overtaken with the king and cashed a high club the contract could have been set two tricks, and the menacing appearance of the heart suit should perhaps have convinced him of the necessity for taking club tricks immediately, but West was in and shifted to the eight of diamonds.

This was taken in dummy and the ace and king of hearts were cashed. South discarding a club. When East's queen dropped, the heart honors were continued as declarer threw his low diamonds.

Now a diamond was led to the king and a successful finesse was taken in spades. The ace of trumps was cashed and the last heart ruffed with the four of spades as West was forced to follow. West had nothing but the king-ten-nine of trumps left and he was obliged to win South's trump return, cash, the king of spades and then present declarer with the fulfilling trick on the last trick.

Appointment Last Business Of Old Council

The last official order of William V. Keegan, retiring commissioner of the police and fire departments, was confirming Lloyd H. Day as a regular member of the Fire Department.

The order stipulated that Day would become a regular member effective Friday, after being certified by the Civil Service Commission as a result of an examination July 3.

The city auditor was authorized to issue a check in the amount of $2,378.90 to the Stept Construction and Sales Company for the installation of a backstop and base line fencing at Stitcher Field.

Also ordered issued was a check for $15 to Elsie Orndorff, 461 Central Avenue, for overpayment of 1957 real estate taxes. The Liller Brothers Company was ordered paid $4,833 for improvement made to Reginia Avenue, the amount to be charged to the General Improvement Bond account.

The retiring Council also ordered the city auditor to issue a check for $100 to Walter E. (Pat) Kline for property on Ascension Street. The amount is to be charged to the Contingent Fund.

The city was enriched by $305.-62, the amount of a check from the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company for materials taken during May from the city-owned Walnut Island property. The firm leases the island and pays the city a royalty for material used in its business.

W.Va. Air Guard Will Fly To Camp

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP) —Most of the members of the 167th Fighter Squadron, West Virginia Air National Guard, will travel to and from their summer encampment via commercial airliners.

The officers and men—about 239 strong—will leave here July 20 aboard four large commercial transports for Savannah, Ga., and two weeks of training.

The Air Guard Bureau approved use of Delta, Mackey and Trans-Caribbean airlines to transport the men from Municipal Airport here. Squadron pilots, however, will fly the unit's 25 F86 jet fighters and two T33 jet trainers to Savannah.

Last year, the bulk of the squadron traveled to camp on a special train.

Parish Welcomes New Minister

MT. SAVAGE — The parishioners of Mt. Savage Methodist Church entertained with an open house and reception for the new minister, Rev. Harbold and Mrs. Harbold and family. The parsonage was open for inspection after being completely renovated for the minister and his family.

A program was held in the church recreation room. Mrs. Mary Deffenbaugh gave a skit entitled, "Gwennie's First Day at School." Mrs. Margaret Haus accompanied Donna Huff, Janet Pressman, Faye Markwood who sang several selections. Amy Twigg accompanied Kay Ann Robinette, Susan Winebrenner and Nancy Dickle as they sang. Louis Haus was master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Martha Truly and Mrs. Mary Best presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Lucille Miller and Mrs. Amy Stewart were in charge of serving ice cream and Mrs. Alice Shipe and Mrs. Rose Denniser were in charge of the cookies.

The Rev. Harbold served in the Marine Corps for 25 years. He was at Knox Hill for seven years and he is coming to this parish from Urbana where he served five years. The Rev. and Mrs. Harbold have eight children and seven grandchildren.

Entertains At Dinner

MT. SAVAGE—Mrs. Lawrence Winebrenner entertained recently with a family dinner honoring her husband on his birthday. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Tabler, Ridgeley; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Huston, Frostburg; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dorman, Mt. Savage and Miss Georgianna Terrall and Miss Patricia Terrall, Puerto Rico.

Auxiliary Unit To Name Delegates

WESTERNPORT — Delegates to the state convention to be held at Baltimore July 16-19 will be selected at the monthly meeting of Victory Unit, American Legion Auxiliary at the Post home this evening.

Plans will also be made for representation at the Mountain District meeting at Grantsville, Sunday, July 13.

Winners Noted

MT. SAVAGE — Court Theresa CDA held a public card party recently in the St. Patrick's Parish Hall. The following were prize winners: Mrs. Pearl King, Mrs. Isabel Fair, Mrs. Adelaide Logsdon, John Rubbenkamp, Joseph Malloy, Edward Malloy, and Mrs. Isabel Adams. A special prize was awarded to Mrs. Belva Miller.

Dark Vintage Cops Pollyanna Stakes At Arlington Park

CHICAGO, July 7 (AP) — North Star Ranch's unbeaten Dark Vintage, an odds-on favorite, won the $18,575 Pollyanna Stakes by 2½ lengths as Arlington Park opened its 49-day meeting today.

A record opening day crowd of 16,240 saw Dark Vintage score her fifth victory.

Hal Price Headley's Aesthetic was second in the 5½-furlong dash for 2-year-old fillies. Morrie A. Moss' Lam, a 103-1 shot finished third in the field of 13.

Dark Vintage, ridden by John Heckmann, paid $3.40, $2.60 and $2.40. Aesthetic returned $4.60 and $3.80. The show price on Lam was $17.40. The time was 1:04 4/5.

The winner, owned by E. E. Voynow, of Chicago, and Stanley Hubbard of St. Paul, earned $11,600 to boost her winnings to $37,750.

Middles Signed

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Dockery of Brooklyn, and George Benton of Philadelphia, a pair of middleweights, signed Wednesday to meet in a televised 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena on Monday, July 7.

There are almost seven pounds of calcium in a 150-pound man—99 per cent of it in his teeth and bones.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Finance, Charter Studies Sought

New Mayor, Council Take Office

Cumberland's new Mayor and Council began a four-year term yesterday morning after brief inaugural ceremonies in the packed Council Chamber at City Hall.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech received the gavel from outgoing Mayor Roy W. Eves, along with Mr. Eves' best wishes and the oath of office administered by Joseph E. Boden, Circuit Court clerk.

John J. Long, only holdover member of the Council, was named commissioner of streets and public property, a new position for him. In previous administrations he has served as commissioner of police and fire, and most recently, as finance commissioner.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder was appointed to succeed Mr. Long as finance commissioner. The only woman ever elected to Council, Mrs. Roeder had served two terms as street commissioner before losing to Mr. Eves in the 1954 mayoral race.

Requests Surveys

Philmore F. Fleming was named police and fire commissioner, and G. Ray Light, commissioner of water and electric light. Both are newcomers to the city political scene, having succeeded in their first bids for office last month.

William R. Carscaden was appointed city solicitor, succeeding Thomas B. Finan.

Mayor Keech, in his acceptance speech, called for a survey of the city's finances, and for appointment of a charter study commission.

Said the new mayor:

"We hope that we will be able to satisfactorily meet the responsibility that you have laid on our shoulders. I can assure you that we will make every conscientious effort to do so.

Will Begin Study

"The problems facing any city government are similar to those facing any business and when you consider that the city of Cumberland has an annual budget of over $2,000,000, you can realize immediately that this is truly one of the large and important businesses in this area.

"With the rising cost of living over the past year and the decline in revenues from state sources, your new administration must make every endeavor to see that the city is operated in a most efficient manner in order that it can adequately supply you with needed services.

"In order to accomplish this, I am going to propose that this Council make a very careful analysis of our financial position. We are faced with the necessity of passing the annual appropriation and revenue ordinances as of the last week in August. Accordingly, such a study will be commenced immediately. I propose that this study be far more extensive than one required to merely meet the budgetary deadline, and that the same be continued until we have established a full and complete picture of what cost and expense the city will face in the next four years, as well as its possible sources of revenue.

"Since the efficiency of government is dependent upon the form of government, to a great extent, I am further going to propose to the council that consideration be given to this. It has been a decade since we have had a review of our form of city government by a non-partisan charter commission. I am going to recommend to the Council the appointment of a new charter commission and the submission of the findings of that commission to the people. I do not think that the council should pass on this matter of any change in the form of our government, if such should be recommended, but all such changes should be left to the vote of the people by way of referendum.

Asks Proper Pay Scale

"In fairness to our city employes, who work long and faithfully for our people, I feel that an adequate and proper pay scale should be devised as part of our approach to the problem of efficient government. To get competent people in our Civil Service, we should have a fair and impartial Civil Service system and adequate compensation for the people composing the same. Only in this manner can we increase the efficiency of our services to the public.

"In conclusion, may I say that I am proud to be associated with the members of this Council. While we are going to work together as harmoniously as possible, it is only natural that from time to time differences will arise. It is my belief that we will be able to solve these differences with mutual understanding and cooperation, and it is my hope that that we can give to every citizen of Cumberland a sound city government of which he may be justly proud."

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson was master of ceremonies for the inaugural ceremony.

Shockley Heads Lab Unit Of Paper Plant

Westvaco To Make Building Products

A native of Cumberland will direct the Products Development Laboratory of the million dollar flakeboard plant which West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company puts into production in Tyrone, Pa., today.

William H. Shockley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harvey Shockley, 210 Schley Street, will head the facility which is unique in the particle board industry.

While technical service director of the Westvaco Building Boards Division, he directed the group of researchers and product engineers who carried out the technical work related to the development of the new flakeboard products.

Was On West Coast

A 1940 graduate of Western Maryland College, Westminster, where he majored in chemistry and physics, Mr. Shockley was a member of the staff of the Institute of Paper Chemistry at Appleton, Wis., and worked as a new products development engineer for a major west coast paper company before joining Westvaco at Tyrone in 1956.

The complex engineering problems relating to the design of the new flakeboard plant were handled by John H. Christ, chief plant engineer, whose experience with the company covers 25 years at the Luke and Tyrone mills.

A graduate of the University of Detroit, with a B. S. in chemical engineering, Mr. Christ joined the company at Luke as a laborer and quickly rose to the position of steam and power engineer.

He went to Tyrone as power engineer in 1946 and the following year was appointed chief plant engineer.

Enters New Field

The new operation will mark the entry of the company, one of the nation's leading manufacturers of paper and paper products, into the building products field.

The Tyrone plant will manufacture a full line of flakeboard products for uses in furniture, cabinets, flush doors, counter tops and floor underlayment. Board with paper and plastic overlays and veneers will be made for interior paneling and siding.

West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company was formed at Luke in 1888 when William Luke, a master papermaker from Scotland, and two of his sons produced the first commercially successful sulphite chemical wood pulp in North America.

The firm now employs 14,000 workers and has annual sales of over $200,000,000.

Legion Post Takes By-Law Vote Tonight

Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the post home.

Paul Weisenmiller, post commander, said a vote will be taken on a proposal to amend the by-laws for the purpose of increasing the amount of the annual dues. Twi-thirds of the members present must vote in favor of the by-law change before it can become effective, he said.

A report will also be given on the caucus held by Mountain District Legion posts at Oakland on Sunday.

Births

Dr. and Mrs. C. F. McCuiston, Arlington, Va., announce the birth of a daughter there yesterday. The mother is the former Miss Mary L. Shober, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Shober, 111 North Allegany Street.

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sullivan, 304 Magruder Street, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Richards, Frostburg, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wilkinson, Westernport, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Booth, Keyser, W. Va., a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance Chucci, RFD 3, Keyser, W. Va., a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hamburg Jr., RFD 1, city, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald C. Smith, LaVale, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Mooney, 412 South Cedar Street, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh R. Beeman, National Highway, a son Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hershberger, RFD 1, Cash Valley Road, a son last Friday.

New Faces At City Hall

Mayor J. Edwin Keech tries out the mayor's desk just after taking office yesterday. With him is City Attorney William R. Carscaden, appointed yesterday by the new Mayor and Council as it took office for a four-year term. Council members are John J. Long, Lucile W. Roeder, Philmore F. Fleming and G. Ray Light. Mr. Long is the only holdover member.

Flintstone Boy Wounds Self

A 14-year-old Flintstone area boy was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday after being accidentally shot at his home.

Arnold Wanless, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wanless, Flintstone, RD 1, had pellets of a .22 calibre shell removed from his chest and left arm.

Attaches said the youth had finished cleaning the rifle in a shed near his home and was going to try it out.

He pulled the trigger. The cartridge apparently exploded in the chamber and pieces of it hit him in the chest and arm.

Searchers Find Missing Man

Volunteer firemen of Barton, other residents of the community and State Police last night located an 85-year-old man who had been missing from his home since about 10 a.m. yesterday.

Archibald Broadwater, a retired carpenter who lives across the street from the Barton fire hall, was located about 7:30 p.m. on Swanton Hill, where he had gone berry picking earlier in the day.

Fire Chief James Lamberson said about 35 volunteer firemen were called to join in the search about 7 p.m. A number of the firemen got on one of the pumpers and headed for Swanton Hill. They spotted Mr. Broadwater from the road in the vicinity of the city reservoir.

Firemen said Mr. Broadwater apparently became confused, lost his way and wandered over the area.

Permit Is Sought For New Armory

The State Department of Public Improvements, through the John I. Vandegrift Company, yesterday applied for a city permit to build the new National Guard Armory here.

The Maryland National Guard recently recommended that the firm's $351,080 bid for the structure be accepted.

Ridgeley Children Get An Additional Playlot

A second playground recently completed in Ridgeley is providing children with facilities for a lot of fun this summer.

Mayor Charles H. Fryer said about 40 children are playing each day on the grounds located on Williams Street in the rear of the city building.

A grader of the E. J. Albrecht Company, flood control contractor, was donated for use in leveling the ground. Playground equipment purchased sometime ago by the Lions Club of Ridgeley has been placed on the field.

There are six large swings, four see-saws and a sliding board. A merry-go-round will be installed as soon as a necessary part is replaced.

The equipment was formerly located on the Ridgeley High School grounds but when the flood wall levee was built, the playlot had to be abandoned.

Neighbors are keeping an eye on the new playground and are making sure the children play in an orderly manner. It will be maintained by the city employes, Mayor Fryer said.

A large playground is located on Silver Street and the job of keeping the grass trimmed is being done by Charles and Lloyd Coffman and Ralph Hornick, who live in the neighborhood.

About 75 children use the facilities of this lot, which has a baseball diamond and other playlot equipment.

Child Health Conferences Keep Well Babies Well

This is the fourth of a series of articles outlining the aims, services and future of the Allegany County Health Department, based on the booklet, "Your Health Department."

The Allegany County Health Department last year conducted 210 child health conferences for more than 7,000 pre-school youngsters.

The primary function of these conferences is to safeguard the normal growth and well-being of children from birth to school age.

It really is a program of "keeping well babies well."

The conferences are held in 16 health centers located throughout the county and are scheduled monthly for the first year of a child's life and twice a year thereafter.

The services are available to all who are unable to obtain them from their private physician, or are referred to clinics by private physicians.

Children suffering from acute illnesses are not seen at the clinics. If a sick child is erroneously brought to a clinic it will be seen but the mother will be advised to take it to a private physician.

Notices are cent by the Health Department to all new mothers, stating the date, time and location of the conference nearest her home.

At these conferences, a family history is taken by the public health nurse. The child is weighed and measured by a lay health worker and the nurse interviews the mother on the child's general health and asks if there is a particular problem with which she desires help.

At least one physical examination is conducted by the clinician, who discusses with parents any abnormalities found and makes recommendations for corrections. He also checks the child's formula and diet and makes recommendations for changes when needed.

Immunization against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus or polio may be advised and given under the clinician's supervision.

All health supervision of foster children is given through the child health conferences.

Installation Today

Recently elected officers of Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, will be installed this evening at 8:30 at the home of Cumberland Council 586, K of C.

Carl Firlie, district deputy, will seat the officers. Faithful navigator is James F. Quinn.

Amcelle Honors 26 Veterans

Twenty-six employes of the Amcelle plant were presented gold watches recently in recognition of 25 years of service with the Celanese Corporation of America.

W. E. Crooks, plant manager, presented the watches while section superintendents awarded five-star service emblems to the following:

Textile Manufacturing — Mildred B. Boggs, Nellie O. Fultz, Elsie S. Hausrath, Helen R. Jenkins, Mary V. Kasecamp, Rudolph B. Lewis, Isabell J. Nightengale, Anne W. Robinson, Catherine M. Rogano and Helene V. Schutz.

Extrusion Manufacturing — Alma L. Beeman, Jesse W. Blank, Robert C. Cook, Martin D. Cuff, I. Woodrow Malone and George C. Rowe.

Engineering — John D. Morgan and Theodore R. Hansell.

Solvent Recovery — John F. Crowe and Joseph P. Montana.

Personnel — H. Vernon Adams.

Police Investigating Gas Station Theft

State Police are investigating a breaking and entering and theft of several cartons of cigarets from a service station in McCoole.

An employe reported for work this morning and found the gas station operated by Thomas Nash had been broken into and 19 cartons of cigarets stolen.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya who is investigating with Tfc. R. C. Deshong said the station was entered sometime between 8 p. m. Sunday and 8 a. m. yesterday.

Entry into the building was gained by forcing a door of the side of station. The money in the cash register was not taken, Mr. Lilya said.

Meeting Called By Conciliator

Officials of Local 453, Teamsters Union, and the Green Spring, W. Va., plant of the Koppers Company will meet here for a contract negotiating session July 15.

The meeting at 7 p. m. in the union offices was arranged by Commissioner James Holden, of the U. S. Conciliation Service.

C. E. Stutzman, union business agent, said workers recently rejected a three-cent wage offer for a contract to replace a pact which expired June 1.

The company employs about 85 hourly-rated employes in the wood preserving plant at Green Spring.

Allocations Are Made To CUF Agencies

Fund Set Aside For Health, New Units

Twenty-nine health, welfare and character building agencies of this area have received 1958 allocations from the County United Fund.

Allocation of the 1958 campaign funds was made recently after the CUF Allocations Committee, headed by J. Kenneth Morgan, met with agency officials to review budgets for operations during the current year.

The Allegany County chapter of the American Red Cross was allocated $35,700, the Mineral County Chapter of the American Red Cross, $3,400 and the Piedmont Red Cross branch, $1,500.

The Associated Charities here received a total allocation of $39,439.58 and the Baby Welfare Society $3,439.58.

Receive Allocations

Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, was allotted $21,833.33 from the 1958 campaign funds.

Friends Aware of Handicapped Children of Cumberland will receive $3,000, the Frostburg unit $1,600 and the Westernport Friends Aware chapter $1,400.

Frostburg City Library, another CUF agency, will get $5,900; Cumberland Council, Girl Scouts, $13,806.25 and the Keating Day Nursery here $8,189.13.

The Keyser-Mineral County Library was allocated $2,370, Lonaconing Health Center $600 and the Midland Health Center $300.

Piedmont Public Library received a 1958 award of $120 and the Salvation Army of Cumberland $37,766.66 while the travelers Aid Society will get $1,732.66.

The Tri-Towns Girl Scout Lone Troop's allocation totals $680 and the United Charities of Keyser $5,000.

Set Aside Fund

The United Family Service, Frostburg Area, Inc., organized this month, received a $3,000 allocation and the United Organizations of the Tri-Towns will operate under a $5,250 allocation.

The Allocations committee set aside $1,275 for the Westernport Health Center and $1,050 for the Westernport Library.

Central YMCA was allocated $38,906.71, the USO, $2,000 and the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation $3,000.

The committee set aside $24,000 for health purposes or newly affiliated local agencies of the County United Fund.

Report Shows June Wetter, Cooler

During the month of June total rainfall in Cumberland was 4.31 inches, or 0.43 inches above the June average. The average daily temperature here was 67.1 degrees, which is 3.8 degrees below the recognized normal.

At the Wiley Ford gauge of the North Branch of the Potomac River, the observed stream flow for June varied between 954 cubic feet per second or 617 million gallons per day on June 22, and 235 cubic feet per second or 152 million gallons per day on June 11. The average flow for the month was 384 cubic feet per second or 248 million gallons per day, which is 44.5 per cent of the 29 year June average.

A slight decrease in storage in the Savage River Reservoir caused an average increase of one cubic foot per second or 646,000 gallons per day. This represents 0.3 per cent of the flow at Cumberland.

The report is prepared each month by members of the Geological Survey crew here.

Woman Dies In Wreck In California

Mrs. Leona Nelson Was Native Of City

A former local woman was killed early yesterday morning in a one-car accident in Vallejo, Calif., where she had been residing.

Relatives of Mrs. Leona Nelson, 45, were notified here yesterday of the accident. The relatives reported that no details of the mishap were available except that Mrs. Nelson was traveling alone when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Nelson was a native of Cumberland, and was the daughter of the late Phillip and Anna (Marley) Hess. She had been residing in California since after World War II.

She is survived by her husband, Harry Nelson; two sons, Nelson, Vallejo, and Daniel Nelson, San Francisco, Calif.; two brothers, Ernest Hess, this city, and Roland Hess, Vallejo; five sisters, Mrs. John Copel, Friendsville; Mrs. George Winters, Baltimore; Mrs. Clifford Crowe, College Park; Mrs. Esther Lancaster, Cresaptown, and Mrs. Harold Bartlett, this city, and three grandchildren.

Services and burial will be held tomorrow in Vallejo.

Rubber Workers Plan Strike Vote

Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the Rubber Workers Hall to begin taking a strike vote, according to A. E. Johnson, union president.

The vote is being taken in connection with current wage negotiations with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Voting will be continued tomorrow at Frank's Tavern from 6 to 8 a. m., 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., 2 to 4 p. m., 6 to 7:30 p. m. and 10 p. m. to midnight.

Plans for the special meeting were announced yesterday as company and union negotiators continued a series of meetings on the union's request for a wage increase under a reopening clause in a contract which expires next May.

Mr. Johnson said there was "no settlement as yet" but that negotiations will resume today at 10 a. m. at the Kelly plant.

The strike vote is a formality under the union's by-laws. If approved, it authorizes the negotiating committee to take strike action if needed.

Local 26 represents about 1,600 hourly rated employes of the local tire plant.

Goodyear and Goodrich workers last week accepted an eight-cent wage increase which is expected to set the industry pattern.

Four Marines Get Promotions

They are Carl F. Miller, 4 John Street; Marshall L. Montgomery, 314 Emily Street; James E. Weakley, of 105 North Johnson Street; and John W. Wilson, 314 Willison Street.

Promotion certificates will be presented by Captain Billy C. Menges, commanding officer of the unit, at a company formation during field training at Little Creek, Va.

Everybody Out!

Each carrying his own weapon, members of the Sixth Infantry Company, local Marine Corps Reserve unit, and its satellite unit from Frederick, debark from buses which took them to Little Creek, Va., where they began training yesterday. From front to rear are Pfc. Wayne Lawson of Frederick, Pfc. Joseph J. Footen, 202 Maple Street, Cumberland; Pvt. Warren C. Larken, Frederick; Pfc. Thomas E. Hartman, Limestone Road, Keyser, W. Va., and Pvt. Carl F. Miller Jr., 4 John Street, Ridgeley.

Local Marines Start Training At Little Creek

Reservists Study 'Amphib' Tactics

Local Marine reservists launched an intensive two-week training schedule yesterday at Little Creek, Va., where 58 members of the company and its satellite unit at Frederick were taken by bus Sunday.

During their training session, the Cumberland reservists will be schooled in the latest techniques of amphibious warfare. Each man also will spend four days on the rifle range firing the M-1 rifle, .45 calibre pistol, and the Browning automatic rifle.

Shooting scores attained by unit personnel will be compared with the marksmanship scores of 18 other Marine Reserve units training at Little Creek this summer. A trophy will be awarded to the unit with the most outstanding performance record.

Highlighting the training period will be a vertical assault by helicopter. Vertical envelopment is a new assault concept, developed by the Marine Corps, whereby Marines are swiftly lifted into combat positions by troop-carrying helicopters.

Captain Billy C. Menges, commander of the Sixth, remarked upon arrival: "We welcome this opportunity to become more familiar with the new atomic-age techniques of helicopter and amphibious assault. Every man in our company will benefit from this special training, just as Maryland and the entire nation will benefit. Only through intensive training can we keep our Marine Corps Reserve the finest force-in-readiness in the world."

Captain Menges, who resides at 27 Woodlawn Ave., LaVale, has taken two weeks' leave from his position as a technical writer at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory to lead his men at summer training.

Next weekend the men will have an opportunity to visit Virginia Beach and the historic cities of Williamsburg and Jamestown, Va., all of which are near the base.

At the conclusion of their training on Friday, July 18, the Sixth will return to Cumberland.

Bowling Green Motorist Hurt

John Longerbeam, 46, of Bowling Green, was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday afternoon with injuries sustained when the car he was driving skidded into a tree along Braddock Road.

Attaches said the man sustained a possible fractured left arm. X-rays were taken.

The accident occurred about 4:25 p. m. near 927 Braddock Road. Officer Harold Gibson said the driver told him he was traveling to Cumberland, and a shower had left the highway in a slippery condition.

While descending the hill, he hit the brakes and the car skidded to the left of the road and into a tree, damaging the fender, grill and bumper. Damages amounted to about $250, the policeman said.

Mr. Longerbeam was taken to the hospital by a passing motorist.

Cancer Society Lists Services

The citizens of Maryland have been most generous in their support of the 1958 Cancer Crusade, according to the county chapter.

The Maryland Division, American Cancer Society, feels that people are entitled to know how the funds received are allocated, and what services are available to the cancer patient.

The state unit maintains 23 detection centers in the counties where persons residing in the state may receive free examinations.

Tumor clinics also are operated to provide consultation and treatment for routine and special cases of cancer. Three treatment clinics are loacted in Baltimore, and there are five diagnostic clinics in the counties. Requests for these services may be made through local county health departments.

Some medical care for cancer patients financially unable to defray costs also is provided. These services include radon seeds, prosthesis, drugs, nursing care and other benefits. Persons needing these services in Allegany County may contact the local office of the Cancer Society at 111 Union Street or by calling PA 2-2145.

Deaths

Caviness, Mrs. Elizabeth, 52, former resident.

Kirby, Walter P., 55, formerly of Frostburg.

Lindner, Frank L., 65, of 26 Schiller Terrace.

Ryan, Milton H., 58, of 1400 Virginia Avenue.

9 U.S. Airmen Freed By Soviet

Released At Iran Border, They Are Brought To Tehran For Rest

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Nine American airmen were freed by the Russians at the Iranian border Monday after being held 11 days on charges of violating Soviet air space.

They were brought to Tehran by car and plane for a brief rest, bath and dinner before taking off for Wiesbaden, Germany. There they will report directly to U.S. Air Force European headquarters.

The nine men, seized when their plane was forced down in Soviet Armenia, were turned over to Iranian authorities at the Caspian seaside town of Astara in northwest Iran near Soviet Azerbaijan.

Flown To Tehran

Cars immediately took them to Rasht, where a waiting U.S. Air Force plane flew them to Tehran.

The men, all dressed in green flying suits, looked tired when they arrived here. Two carried small parcels. The U.S. Embassy said all nine were safe but declined further comment on their general condition. Reporters were not allowed to talk to them.

An Iranian officer who accompanied the airmen to Tehran said they appeared cheerful during the handing over formalities at the Astara frontier post. He said the Americans were not questioned by Iranian authorities at the border except for a check of their names and with a list supplied by the Russians.

Their release left nine U.S. Army men in the hands of the East German Communists. This group was seized on June 7 when their helicopter flew astray from West Germany in a thunderstorm.

The Russians had charged that the Air Force men were flying a snooping mission for the U.S. Strategic Air Command June 27 when their C118 military transport was intercepted 102 miles inside Soviet Armenia by Soviet jets. The Soviet announcement of the interception and seizure of the men said the plane burned after it landed. It was not clear whether the burning was due to Soviet jet action or whether the U.S. airmen burned it purposely to destroy military equipment.

Demanded Release

The United States, demanding the quick release of the airmen, said the plane did not deliberately cross into Soviet territory but flew off course due to navigational error in overcast weather. The U.S. statement said the plane was flying on a diplomatic mission to Iran from Germany via Cyprus and Turkey.

The Soviets said the plane crossed the Soviet-Turkish border south of Yerevan, capital of the Soviet Armenia Republic. Yerevan is about 10 miles from Turkey's east border.

Moscow radio's announcement of the release dropped the name of one of the men previously listed by Washington as having been aboard the plane.

The broadcast left out the name of Maj. Bennie A. Shupe, whose wife, Marjorie, lives in Miami, Fla. In its place it listed the name of Maj. S. D. Allen but gave no address. In Wiesbaden, the Air Force said the Russians apparently made a mistake that could have resulted from Shupe's middle name, which is Allen. The Air Force said Shupe was definitely on the plane, and that there was no Maj. Allen aboard.

NAMED — A German industralist has called nonsense a published statement that the late Ernest Heinkel, above, told a British air vice marshal that Germany was plotting World War III. Ike Requests More Authority On Passports

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower called upon Congress Monday for quick legislation to give the government authority to deny passports in the interest of U.S. foreign relations and national security.

He asked the legislation to offset a 5-4 Supreme Court decision June 16 holding that the State Department under present law lacks authority to deny passports on the basis of inquiry into the beliefs and associations of applicants.

Each day and week that passes without legislation, Eisenhower said in a special message," exposes us to great danger."

Eisenhower recalled that in recent years the secretary of state has based his limitation on passports on two general grounds: That an applicant's travel, usually to a specific country or countries, was inimical to this country's foreign relations, and the applicant was a member of the Communist party, or under its discipline, or was going abroad to aid the international Communist movement.

"It is essential that the government today have power to deny passports where their possession would seriously impair the conduct of the foreign relations of the United States or would be inimical to the security of the United States," Eisenhower said.

Since June 24 the State Department has been issuing passports in accordance with the Supreme Court ruling.

Doctor Suggests Smother Cancer During Treatment

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

LONDON (AP)—A smothering treatment to kill cancer was suggested Monday by Dr. Samuel Graff of New York City.

It cuts in half the amount of oxygen in the air a person breathes. That means all his body cells get less oxygen. But cancer cells would smother and die first, before healthy cells were harmed, Dr. Graff theorized in a talk to the 7th International Cancer Congress.

He said the trick is gradually to accustom or acclimatize the person to low-oxygen air so his health, cells get used to it and can get by.

Dr. Graff, of Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons, thinks cancer cells must always keep growing or else die. They die if they don't get enough oxygen, and they grow so fast they need more oxygen than normal cells. Therefore a reduction in available oxygen should do them in first.

Cancers in animals are affected when the air is lowered to the amount of oxygen present at four-miles altitude, Dr. Graff said. Below that, there's not much effect. The oxygen can be lowered by using a pressure chamber, or by putting more nitrogen into the air.

The method has been tried on one human patient, dying from widespread cancer. He succumbed, but not before the test showed he could become accustomed to breathing the low-oxygen air without bad effects, Dr. Graff said.

Cracks Seen In Lebanon Rebel Force

Stalemate May Bring A Victory Through Compromise

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Cracks are appearing in the rebel front fighting Lebanese President Camille Chamoun. But the rebels may be winning the war while losing the battles.

Fighting in Beirut Monday was sporadic, scattered and disorganized, as it has been on most days of the two - month - old civil war. The government continued to have the upper hand, but basically it was a stalemate.

Fighting was sharper in the port city of Tripoli. Four persons, all bystanders, were killed there as rebels and security forces clashed on the main street of the city and in another part of the town.

In Beirut, security forces again pounded insurgents in the Basta Moslem quarter. Small skirmishes took place from time to time and stray shots wounded two people in Capital Square.

The casulties were light, as usual. But although they might seem of little consequence in any organized warfare, they may mean more in the strange revolt that is shaking Lebanon.

Apparent Weariness

This is indicated by the apparent weariness of the rebels. Their leaders are cautiously beginning to admit that further bloodshed can provide no solution for the problems facing the country. Government leaders also are coming to an increased awareness of this.

The revolt seems to have passed beyond the control of those who began it. It is unlikely that there is any one man in the whole rebel movement capable of stopping the violence.

Apart from the fact that Syrians and Egyptians obviously are involved in the struggle, the rebels themselves seem unable to agree on where they are going or what they want.

In the unlikely event that the revolt succeeded, it is certain that the next day would find the rebels quarreling among themselves. Various rebel leaders have little in common.

The rebels seem likely to win at least a partial victory, no matter how many battles they lose. The best the West can hope for now is apparently a Lebanon neutral in the cold war and neutral in the struggle between President Nasser's United Arab Republic and other Arab countries.

Short Of Goal

This outcome would be short of the goal of Lebanese who want an alliance with Nasser. But it would represent a rebel victory, since it would end the strongly pro-Western policies of Chamoun's government.

One reason for increasing prospects of a compromise is the country's economic stagnation. Port activities in Beirut have been crippled, and it will be months before normal prosperity can be restored. Lebanon's thriving trade and mercantile businesses have been hurt seriously. Tourism has been hit hard.

The government still insists that it can restore order if U.A.R. interference can be overcome.

Plane Delayed By Bomb Scare

DENVER (AP)—A United Air Lines plane en route to Portland from Chicago resumed its flight Monday after a delay of two hours caused by a report a bomb was aboard. None was found in a thorough search.

Chicago police were told in an anonymous telephone call that a bomb was on the DC7 flight 725. The plane was reached over Rock River, Wyo., and ordered to land in Denver. It carried 20 passengers and a crew of five.

She Moved Her Car, Alright!

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Margaret Hayward said she only wanted to move her car so she could listen to a baseball game on the radio while she was taking a sunbath—but it moved too far.

Police said the vehicle moved right through the double doors of the Hayward garage, then through the back wall of the building, down an incline and into the adjacent brick home of the Robert Martins. They estimated damage at $1,800.

Ike Signs Alaska Measure

President Also Asks Statehood For Hawaiians

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Monday signed legislation to make Alaska the 49th state, and took the occasion to urge statehood for Hawaii.

Shortly after he signed the Alaska statehood bill, Eisenhower issued a statement once more calling upon Congress to admit Hawaii as a state during this session of Congress.

Hawaii Qualified

"I personally believe that Hawaii is qualified for statehood equally with Alaska," Eisenhower said.

Eisenhower signed the Alaska statehood bill before a group of newsmen and photographers. Then he passed the signed bill over to White House counsel Gerald D. Morgan.

"Okay, now that's 49 states," Eisenhower commited.

Then, as an afterthought, he added: "No, maybe we don't do that until the plebiscite."

The reference was to balloting this fall in which Alaskans are to vote whether to accept immediate statehood and the terms of the bill on which Congress completed action a week ago.

Acceptance Remaining

Alaska's acceptance of these terms and election of state and national officers are the remaining prerequisites to issuance of a presidential proclamation, probably in December, formally admiting it to the union.

In a letter to Alaska's Gov. Mike Stepovich, notifying him of the signing, the President expressed the hope Alaskans would vote to accept statehood.

"You and the people of Alaska have my very best wishes," he wrote.

Cuban Rebels Release Three

HAVANA (AP)—Three more of the kidnaped Americans were released Monday by the Cuban rebels.

The U.S. embassy here identified them as:

James P. Stephens Jr., of Edmond, Okla., a United Fruit official.

Sherman Avery White of New York, general manager of the U.S.-built Nicaro nickel plant.

J. Andrew Poll of Grand Rapids, Mich., assistant general manager of the Nicaro company.

The latter two were kidnaped by the rebels June 30, Stephens on July 1.

Fourteen Americans and two Canadians have now been released by the rebels. Remaining in their hands are 30 American servicemen, 3 American civilians and a Canadian.

Marriage Proposed 60 Years Ago Is To Be Performed

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A marriage first proposed more than 60 years ago finally will be performed later this month.

The bridegroom will be Dr. Richard A. Smith of Lansing, 81, a widower, and long-time director of the state Conservation Department Geological Survey Division. The bride who finally said "yes" after a long second thought will be Miss Bertha L. Knapp of Chicago.

They will wed July 26 at Neillsville, Wis., and live at Gunn Lake, Mich.

The couple first met after the turn of the century at De Witt, when Dr. Smith was a youthful teacher and Miss Knapp was the principal's daughter.

Soustelle Named French Minister

PARIS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle Monday named Jacues Soustelle as France's minister of information, succeeding Andre Malraux. Malraux remains in De Gaulle's cabinet to handle cultural and other questions.

Soustelle, 46, a fiery rightist leader of the Gaullist uprising that began in Algeria May 13, long had been spokesman for the Gaullist minority in Parliament.

Deadly Holiday!

Independence Day Weekend Killed 650

By The Associated Press

Observance of the three - day July 4th weekend cost the lives of more than 650 persons, 370 of them traffic victims.

A final tabulation on the nation's holiday dead showed Monday that fatalities from traffic mishaps, always the major cause of holiday deaths, fell short of the National Safety Council's pre-holiday estimate of 410. This figure, had it been realized, would have set a record for a three-day Independence Day observance.

Although the traffic death toll, compiled by The Aossicated Press from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Sunday, stayed under the safety council estimate, it came within one of the 371 traffic fatalities counted during the same 78-hour period of the three-day Memorial Day holiday.

There were 192 drownings and 93 died in miscellaneous accidents over the Fourth, both categories exceeding the Memorial Day totals of 132 and 88, respectively.

The fact that the traffic death toll was less than the pre-holiday prediction was attributed to extremely cautious driving by homeward bound motorists and strict traffic enforcement across the nation.

Traffic fatalities mounted rapidly at the start of the holiday, giving safety experts reason to believe a new July 4th holiday record would be set. Saturday afternoon, however, the death rate commenced to slacken and continued at a slower pace until the end of the 78-hour period.

The safety council credited energetic traffic enforcement and the shock of the skyrocketing toll during the early part of the holiday for the smaller total of traffic victims.

"No one, of course, can be complacent over a toll this big," said Ned H. Dearborn, council president. "But we are grateful that it took a turn for the better about halfway through the holiday and that it ended up well below our estimate and below the record set in 1955 for a three-day July 4th weekend."

Good Samaritan Act Costs City Agent $2 Fine

DENVER (AP)—City purchasing agent Robert Martinec spent Saturday, his day off, helping the Traffic Violations Bureau move to a new site.

He was the first in line at the bureau's new quarters Monday to pay a two-dollar overtime parking ticket. The citation was pasted on his car's windshield while he helped with the move.

"It doesn't pay to be a good samaritan," he complained dourly.

Auto Price Tag Bill Is Signed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower signed a bill Monday requiring manufacturers to put a price tag on new automobiles.

The law, which becomes effective Oct. 1, would require the tag bear not only the manufacturer's suggested retail price and the price of accessories, but also the make, model, and serial or identification number; final assembly point; the name and location of the dealer and the place to which the car is to be delivered to him; the method of transporting the automobile if driven or towed, and the transportation charged to the dealer.

Teamster Lawyers Awarded $210,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three attorneys, who represented rank-and-file Teamsters in a suit aimed to bar James R. Hoffa from taking office as union president, were awarded $210,000 in legal fees Monday.

U.S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts fixed the amount as just and reasonable compensation.

Radar Lines Not Perfect

OTTAWA (AP)—Existing radar warning lines in North America could not detect some bombers the Soviet Union now has, Defense Minister G. Randolph Pearkes said Monday.

He also indicated that Canada has no informal part in U.S. plans to develop a warning system to detect intercontinental missiles.

He was replying to questions on air defense raised mainly by opposition leader Lester B. Pearson and Liberal William Benidickson as a House of Commons committee studied Royal Canadian Air Force items in defense spending plans for the fiscal year ending next March 31.

Pearkes said radar is not obsolete but hasn't the range to detect some bombers now in existence.

Presley Given Speeding Ticket

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Pvt. Elvis Presley, the rock 'n' roll singer, was ticketed for speeding by state highway patrolman B. G. Adams Sunday. Presley was driving 75 in a 55 miles-per-hour zone, Adams said. He said Presley was driving toward Ft. Hood, Tex., where he is in training. Presley has 10 days in which to appear in court.

Accept Aid

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Parliament voted 101-49 Monday to accept U. S. economic and technical aid.

Racket Probers Seek Evidence In Murder Plot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probers said Monday they will explore in hearings starting Tuesday evidence of a murder-marked plot by Chicago racketeers to extend their power out to Dallas, Tex., and San Francisco.

The old unsolved slaying of racketeer Nick De John after he had moved into the Dallas and San Francisco areas will provide the springboard for the new set of hearings.

In them the Special Rackets Committee is attempting to prove that underworld barons of the Mafia black hand mob have muscled in on Chicago's restaurant industry, on other fields of legitimate labor and industry across the nation.

Robert F. Kennedy, the committee's chief counsel, announced plans to dig deeply and swiftly into allegations of murder, payoffs and labor contracts victimizing labor union members.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), the committee chairman, said the inquiry is intended to show a need for legislation to combat underworld infiltration of labor-management fields, which he contends has grown to an extent that could menace the nation's economy.

Kennedy said the leadoff witnesses will include heads of Chicago area restaurant operations; a former waitress for one of them; Lt. George Butler of the Dallas Police Department, and Virgil Peterson, director of the Chicago Crime Commission.

Committee Agent Quits Under Fire

Shacklette Caught Eavesdropping On Aide To Goldfine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The top investigator of the House committee investigating Bernard Goldfine lost his job late Monday after a whirlwind of sensational developments which all but obscured the probe of the Boston industrialist.

Baron I. Shacklette 48, quit under fire after the committee strongly and unanimously condemned his tactics as eavesdropping—"a most regrettable act that the committee does not condone."

Shacklette's departure came after:

1. Shacklette, a government investigator for 18 years, and Jack Anderson, a legman for columnist Drew Pearson, were found at the other end of a microphone planted under the hotel room door of Goldfine aide Jack Lotto.

Papers Are Missing

2. Mildred Paperman, Goldfine's secretary, reported some of his bank records, correspondence and other documents were stolen from her room in the same hotel.

3. Goldfine charged "gestapo tactics" in the use of the planted microphone.

4. Goldfine Atty. Roger Robb charged Shacklette occupied the hotel room adjoining Goldfine's from June 29 through July 3 and made recordings of confidential communications.

5. Robb asked the committee for a postponement of Goldfine's scheduled appearance before it Tuesday for a third day of testimony. He said Goldfine was upset by the weekend ransacking of his papers and was exhausted.

The inquiry into Goldfine's relations with presidential aide Sherman Adams was suddenly turned into an investigation by the special House committee of tactics used by its staff.

Occupied Room

Late in the day, Robb sent the committee a letter addressed to Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark). The attorney said he had documentary proof that Shacklette occupied the room next to Goldfine's for the five days last week and "we have reason to believe... eavesdropped on and recorded confidential communications."

The letter demanded "that you send to us immediately all such recordings made by your agent, and all reports made by him, the substance of conversations overheard by him in the above rooms, whether recorded or not."

When the committee unanimously accepted Shacklette's resignation from his $16,300-a-year job, it said he swore he did not take part in the reported theft of the Goldfine papers.

The committee, in a five-hour special closed session, called on the FBI, the Justice Department and local police to look into the series of developments that piled up through the day.

Issues Statement

Harris issued a lengthy statement early in the evening saying the committee had known nothing about Shacklette's electronic eavesdropping and did not condone such tactics.

The chairman said Shacklette and Anderson on two occasions within the last week had taken a hotel room next to a suite occupied by Goldfine or one of his

Kid Glove Treament Aids Alabama Highway Safety

By REX THOMAS

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Like Teddy Roosevelt, Alabama's public safety director says you should speak softly but carry a big stick in combatting the menace of death on the highway.

Most drivers will respond favorably to the kid glove treatment, says Bill Lyerly, if you get the idea over the patrolman is on the highway to help them, but that he can get tough if he has to.

"We're trying to lead the people, not push them," the head of Alabama's Highway Patrol explained Monday while praising motorists for holding the long July 4 weekend death toll to six highway fatalities.

"The officers are out there for one reason and one reason only—to protect the motorist and not intimidate him."

But, he added, "We will go to any extremes to get the reckless speeder off the road so others can enjoy their trip."

Lyerly credits a newly inaugurated courtesy check program with contributing materially to a steady decline in the highway death rate in this state. So far this year, accidents on rural roads have killed 40 fewer victims than at the same time a year ago.

The Highway Patrol has jurisdiction only over accidents outside the corporate limits of the cities.

The courtesy check originated with holiday traffic but has become a regular weekend practice. It consists simply of stopping all cars at given points, appealing to motorists to drive carefully and handing out safety literature.

Lyerly said the program is effective because it:

1. Breaks the monotony of a long trip and forces the driver to stop and take a breather who might otherwise keep going until fatigue caused him to wreck his car.

2. Creates friendly relations between officer and motorist by bringing them together under more pleasant circumstances than when the patrolman has to make an arrest.

3. Frequently catches violators in the act. Drunk drivers sometimes try to slip by the check point or give themselves away trying to avoid it.

Over the July 4 weekend, patrolmen stopped 225,000 cars in Alabama carrying an average of three persons. Pedestrians got the warning, too, everytime a patrolman spotted them walking along the highway.

Baltimore's Advertising Tax Said Unconstitutional

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore's two taxes on advertising and advertisers failed their first legal test Monday. They were declared unconstitutional.

Circuit Judge Joseph L. Carter said they were invalid because they "violate the fundamental guarantees of freedom of the press."

"If any government may enact a tax that imposes a special burden upon the revenues of the press, and raises or lowers that burden at will, it has a grip on the press that gives that government the power of control over the press," he said.

Last Jan. 1, the city began collecting a four per cent tax on gross sales of advertising space in all publications and advertising time on all radio and television broadcasts, and a two per cent tax on the gross receipts of all media carrying advertising.

The city expected to collect $2,653,000 during the first year from the levies, but collections to date have been about 57 per cent under the expected take.

Last spring the City Council repealed the taxes as of the end of this year. But opponents of the ordinances went on with their suit. It was filed by Baltimore newspapers, radio and television stations, advertisers and a billboard agency.

The city is expected to appeal from Judge Carter's ruling. Otherwise, it faces refunding approximately $750,000 already collected under the taxes.

The ruling came as a blow to a Baltimore City administration already struggling to balance its budget in the face of revenue losses from other sources. The city reduced its local cigaret levy from 5 cents per pack to 3 cents to soften the impact of a new State tax which took effect July 1. It also has faced increased expenditures for snow removal and welfare benefits among other things.

In striking down the ordinances, Judge Carter said their only parallel in American history since "the infamous stamp taxes imposed by England" before the revolution was a Louisiana law enacted during the administration of Huey Long. The Supreme Court (in Grosjean vs American Press Co.) held that 2 per cent levy on advertising in certain newspapers to be unconstitutional because it was discriminatory.

"This court has reached the conclusion that these ordinances violate the fundamental constitutional guarantees of freedom of the press and, therefore, the ordinances are invalid and void," Judge Carter said.

Navy Works On Electric Robot That Can Think

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy announced Monday it is well on the road to developing an electronic robot that could think. It suggested that such devices might be important to the defense of the western world.

The Office of Naval Research said one of its contract scientists had proved the feasibility of a projected robot called the Perceptron—a machine the Navy believes would have original ideas.

The research scientists predicted that the first pilot model would be completed in about a year and that eventually such robots could have such uses as:

Gathering and reporting on information gleaned from outer space, instantly distinguishing between airplanes and missiles, bombers and fighter planes; serving as automatic landing systems and automatic pilots for aircraft; automatic reading of the printed or written word, responding to verbal commands; automatic language translation; automatic unearthing of scientific and other information buried in library books, distinguishing between the music of Wagner and Mozart, and even distinguishing between a beagle hound and a collie dog without human help.

When fully developed the machine is expected to be able to perceive, recognize, and identify its surroundings without any human training or control.

While the robot has yet to be built, ONR said, its principle and concept have been proved in the laboratory.

The robot would be designed to operate in much the same way that the human eye and certain brain areas work together to provide the human function of recognition.

Dr. Frank Rosenblatt, research psychologist at the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, Inc., Buffalo, N.Y., who developed the Perceptron concept, staged a demonstration for reporters. He used a big conventional computing machine at research headquarters of the U.S. Weather Bureau to simulate a Perceptron.

McKeldin Plants Flowers On Lawn

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. McKeldin, who always wears an imitation black-eyed susan in his button-hole, planted a real one Monday on the Statehouse lawn.

The governor took spade in hand as 25 black-eyed susan plants were placed on the lawn in front of the Maryland capitol.

The planting was sponsored by the governor's Committee to Keep Maryland Beautiful. The committee plans to place about 375 more plants around the state, most of them in a picnic area on U.S. 1 at Bel Air.

Trio Rescued From Overturned Boat In River

BALTIMORE (AP) — Three Baltimoreans were rescued from the Magothy River after a 13-year-old passenger on a cabin cruiser spotted them clinging to the sides of their overturned sailboat Sunday.

The trio had been in the water for 45 minutes. Their life preservers were swept away when the boat capsized in high winds and five-foot swells.

Those rescued were Anne E. Brooks, 18, Harry Kleinhen, 20, and Daniel Heisey, 21, all of Baltimore.

George Wolfe Jr. of Cape Arthur spotted them from his father's 30-foot cruiser as it was heading back to port to escape the storm on the river.

Two Inmates Stab Youth, 19, In Prison Cell

Jessup, Md. (AP) — Two young inmates of the House of Correction broke into the cell of another prisoner and stabbed him with a table knife early Monday, prison authorities reported.

The victim, Marvin W. Pritt, 19, of Bel Air was taken to University Hospital in Baltimore where he was reported in satisfactory condition.

Warden William F. Steiner said a guard caught the two young long-term prisoners in Pritt's cell. Pritt, who began serving a 90-day sentence on June 9 for a motor vehicle law violation, was stabbed in the back, side and abdomen.

His attackers were being held in their cells pending completion of an investigation.

Steiner said the knife used was from a table and had been sharpened. He said the two youths admitted breaking into the cell but declined further comment.

The warden said locks on the cells are old and worn and can be opened with a knife blade.

James W. Curran, superintendent of state prisons, expressed surprise that the incident could be accomplished and said he planned to visit the prison later today for a personal inspection.

aides. He reported Shacklette said under oath no recording of a private Goldfine conversation was actually made at any time.

Harris said the investigator told the committee "I was over zealous. . .and did not stop to think of the harm that might be done to the subcommittee through my actions."

He quoted Shacklette as saying "I'm sorry. My resignation is submitted herewith." Harris said "Mr. Shacklette's services were terminated immediately."

Harris said Shacklette told the committee he knew of no confidential information from the files having been furnished to columnist Pearson.

Asked whether he thought discovery of the microphone would impair the effectiveness of the committee, Harris said "I do not see why it should," adding that the committee would continue its work toward its purpose and objectives.

Its assigned job is to delve into the operations of federal regulatory agencies, to see whether they are improperly influenced among other things.

Experts on federal law said they knew of no federal statute punishing the use of a microphone to eavesdrop. The Communications Act makes no reference to such use in the provisions which forbid the tapping of interstate communications wires, followed by disclosure of the information obtained in the tap.

Veteran Police Officer Dies In Death Plot

BRYANS PARK, Md. (AP)—A veteran Maryland state trooper was shot to death early Monday in what investigators termed a plot to get someone.

Lt. Leonard N. Brown, 46, was shot in the stomach at close range as he waited for an expected robbery of a tavern here. But State Police Det. Sgt. G. Earl Newcomber said the case had developed into something much more sinister than an ordinary holdup.

Police accused Albert George Carbonneau, 37, a Bryans Park drug store employe, of firing the .25 caliber pistol bullet that killed Brown.

Brown, a veteran of 18 years in the state police and commander of the Waldorf barracks, died at Sibley Hospital in Washington after surgery.

Police declined to give full details of their investigation but at least eight persons in addition to Carbonneau were being questioned.

State police said they received a tip from Banks L. Smith, 35, owner of Smitty's Steak House in this Charles County community that he was going to be robbed.

Brown and four other state troopers set a trap to thwart any such robbery with Brown stationing himself in a cloak room of the tavern.

A key was slipped into a side door of the tavern about 45 minutes after the midnight closing. Officers said Brown wrestled with the intruder but was shot in the stomach. Trooper Robert Weisenmueller overpowered the gunman.

Brown, a resident of Perryville, Md., died after three hours of surgery. The bullet lodged in a muscle near his spine after puncturing his intestines in six places.

Police questioned the tavern owner, Smith, extensively but released him after telling him not to leave the area.

Guild Rejects Papers' Proposal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The American Newspaper Guild representing striking Philadelphia Inquirer news and clerical personnel, Monday overwhelmingly rejected a management proposal that would have ended a 37-day walkout. Terms of the proposal were not immediately available.

A guild spokesman emerged from a closed meeting to make the brief announcement. He said the vote was by a show of hands. He estimated "maybe ten persons voted for the proposal." The number on hand was not immediately made known.

Auto Assembly Plants Reopen

DETROIT (AP)—Many auto assembly plants, idle for varying periods last week, resumed operations Monday.

Last week's shutdowns and the holiday observance reduced output to 34,370 cars compared with 92,277 the preceding week and 74,107 in the same 1957 week. So far this year U.S. factories have built 2,267,601 cars against 3,444,763 in like 1957.

Gov. Plans Europe Trip

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. McKeldin will leave Thursday on his second trip of the summer to Europe.

McKeldin spent May 5 to June 1 on an official visit to France, Spain and Germany in connection with the University of Maryland's Overseas Education Program.

The upcoming journey will be an unofficial trip with his family to Italy, Israel, Greece and France. The McKeldins will sail from New York Thursday on the S. S. Constitution and plan to return about August 10.

Gov. and Mrs. McKeldin, their son, Ted, 21, and daughter, Clara, 19, will arrive at Naples, Italy, July 18. They will sail three days later for Haifa, and will go from there to Jerusalem.

In Jerusalem, McKeldin will participate July 29 in a groundbreaking ceremony for an American student center of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, located in New York.

The center will serve as the home for American students of the seminary who will spend their senior year studying and traveling in Israel.

McKeldin, who is honorary national chairman of the committee for the student center, will take a flag from each of the 48 states for use in the ground-breaking ceremony. He will be presented with an honorary doctor of laws degree.

From Jerusalem, the McKeldins will visit Athens for two days and then go to Cherbourg, France from where they will sail back to New York.

Spanish moss is not a true moss but is a flowering plant that belongs to the pineapple family.

Refinery Workers Shot By Gun Wielding Man

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two employes of the American Sugar Refinery Co. were shot today by a gun-wielding man who entered the plant on Key Highway looking for his estranged wife.

Police said the man's wife was on vacation.

An office employe, payroll supervisor Robert Bowers, 54, of Glen Burnie, was shot in the abdomen and was reported in critical condition at South Baltimore General Hospital.

A guard at the plant, Edward Miles, 36, of Baltimore, was winged in the upper right arm.

Police said the man had been having "domestic trouble" and went to the plant about 3:30 p.m. looking for his wife.

Miles, a guard at the plant gate, was shot as the man was leaving the plant. Police said the man returned later, entered the office again, and shot Bowers.

New Council Members, Outgoing Mayor Look Forward To Next Four Years

Ex-Mayor Eves

Retiring Mayor Roy W. Eves ended six years of municipal service yesterday with a brief talk in which he pledged his cooperation to the new Mayor and Council.

His remarks follow:

"Before calling for the vote that will officially bring to a close this administration, we would express our appreciation to all those good citizens who have helped us accomplish those things which have helped make this a better city now or in the future.

"Almost 28 years ago, at my own urgent request, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad transferred me to Cumberland, the 13th city in which I had lived and worked. Ten years ago I innocently entered the political arena where I was two times loser and twice winner. Now, having been retired from railroading and politics, I am free to live my own life, choose my associates, and live where I please.

"Mrs. Eves and I long ago came to the conclusion that there are no finer people anywhere than in Cumberland, and no better place in which to enjoy the remainder of our days.

"I am, therefore, personally interested in the new Council continuing to make this city a better place in which to live.

"Mr. Keech, I take pleasure in presenting to you this gavel, not only as a symbol of authority, but as a reminder of responsibility. May the good Lord watch over and keep you."

John J. Long

Before the Council session adjourned sine die, John J. Long, the only returning member of the council body, expressed the "best of luck and God-speed to Mayor Eves and Commissioner (William V.) Keegan."

Long, who served the past four years as finance commissioner, and who has been appointed commissioner of streets and public property for the Keech administration, said he found politics much like sports—"it is easy to win and difficult to lose" in each activity.

In his acceptance speech, Mr. Long declared he had asked to be returned to one of his two former commissions, police and fire, or finance, but was voted down, three-two with only Mayor J. Edwin Keech supporting him.

But he pledged support of the new Mayor and Council "with malice towards none" and declared he would strive to do his best toward an economical, efficient Department of Streets and Public Property.

He stated as he took his turn to address the audience:

"I fail to see the advantage of all of us being greenhorns in our respective departments. It is my humble opinion that the knowledge gained from experience should be utilized. Mrs. Roeder spent four successful years as Commisioner of Streets and Public Property. I have spent four years in police and fire as well as four in the finance department, and have been rewarded with re-election after each stint. I reiterate, I see no advantage to be gained by placing a greenhorn at the head of each and every department.

"Furthermore, I wish to advise the many friends who have requested that I seek to continue as finance commissioner and those who asked me to solicit the police and fire commission again, that I did ask this new Council to support me for one or the other, and I was voted down, with only Mayor Keech voting for me.

"Regardless of what motive prompted this action of my new colleagues—I'm too modest to believe it was faith in my versatility—I accept the Commission of Streets and Public Property as a new challenge. At the same time 'with malice towards none,' I offer the new Mayor and Council the full benefit of my eight years' experience in the City Hall.

"I pledge, as I have done on three previous similar occasions, my wholehearted support to every effort and every measure that is designed to make Cumberland a more progresive, more beautiful, safer and better community.

"I intend to begin immediately, a comprehensive study of the present status of Cumberland streets, public property, sewage treatment plant and recreation program. At the conclusion of this study I shall make pertinent recommendations to the Mayor and Council and solicit their cooperation and support.

"To you my friends and citizens of Cumberland, I direct a plea for patience and cooperation with me as commissioner of streets and public property. I promise you my best possible effort toward an economical, efficient Street and Public Property Department. I would appreciate it if you would write me your ideas regarding needed improvements in your neighborhood, as well as your ideas for a more beautiful Cumberland. I invite organizations to set up living monuments of beauty along our streets, in our parks—wherever space permits."

Lucile W. Roeder

Mrs. Roeder, in her acceptance speech, said yesterday was almost like a homecoming "for eight years ago I stood here to take office for the first time, new at the job but willing to learn, to gain experience, and to give you the benefit of that experience. I felt I was on trial, that your judgment would be based on my future actions in office."

Mrs. Roeder is the only woman elected to the City Council.

She faces the future with confidence, Mrs. Roeder said, principally because of a feeling of "togetherness" in the thinking of the city electorate and Council members on the problems which lie ahead.

She interpreted the election results as an interest of residents in city government, but pointed out that people must inform themselves on the major issues of the day. A well-informed public, she continued, is a sign of democracy.

Mrs. Roeder said she felt there are many experts in various fields in Cumberland who can help solve the problems facing the community, and that their advice should be sought.

Much planning is called for in city operations, and it is on such planning that the progress of the city will depend. The budget is an immediate task that must be faced, Mrs. Roeder said.

Philmore Fleming

Commissioner Fleming thanked Mayor Keech and other members of the council for selecting him as the Commissioner of Police and Fire. He said: "I am very happy and feel sure we have a team that will work together for a successful four years.

"I hope to perform the duties of my office in an efficient, impartial and common sense manner and will expect each and every employe of the departments to perform their duties on an efficient, impartial and common sense manner and by doing this they can be assured they will have my full support and cooperation and the support of the heads of both departments.

"I fully realize that the problems facing these departments affect every citizen of the city. I want to assure everyone that the door of my office will always be open and I will be most happy to discuss their problems and weigh carefully the advice they might want to give me.

To Plan Corn Roast

The men of St. Luke's Lutheran Church will meet today at 7:30 p. m. at the church to make plans for a corn roast in August.

G. Ray Light

Commissioner Light said: "The day of the election is past, as is the day of the inauguration, but of course the responsibility of each citizen in our community doesn't end with the casting of his ballot.

"As I often said during the campaign I want to be a representative of the people of Cumberland, but the job is just starting, and will take time and effort for me to become acquainted with my new duties as water and light commissioner. Once I've learned my way around I fully intend to be guided by the voice of the people of this community.

"There will be many important problems facing us these next four years, but with the cooperation of the citizens and the newly elected mayor and council working as a team and not as individuals, I am sure that Cumberland can look forward to a period of vitality, expansion and progress."

Class To Meet To Plan Reunion

A: "Blue Cross is made to order for our employee benefit program!"

"We're glad we have Blue Cross at Eastern Stainless. The big reason, of course, is that Blue Cross gives our people sound, sensible protection against hospitalization costs. Blue Cross is easy to handle, too—no administrative or bookkeeping problems, no burdensome detail work. Blue Cross is made to order for our employee benefit program!"

says Kenneth C. Robinson, Director, Safety and Health, Eastern Stainless Steel Corporation, Baltimore

A: "Dollar for dollar, you just can't beat Blue Cross!"

"My family has had its share of illnesses and accidents in recent years, and Blue Cross was there when I needed it. I know I can count on Blue Cross to pay our hospital bills and to pay them without delay or red tape. I'm satisfied that dollar for dollar, you just can't beat Blue Cross!"

says Herb Deem, hot mill catcher, Eastern Stainless Steel Corporation, Baltimore

Blue Cross is a non-profit plan for hospital care that provides broad protection economically. Not only does Blue Cross protect subscribers and their families from unexpected hospital bills, but it keeps them protected for life, even though they move, change jobs or retire.

And Blue Cross pays the hospital directly. No claim filing, no waiting for reimbursements for the employee . . . no administrative problems for his company. Another advantage is that Blue Cross care can cover hospital expenses in full, where cash payments may not.

For full details, call the Blue Cross office listed in your telephone directory.

Frostburg GOC Planning Sixth Anniversary

Observers Remain Alert, Proficient

FROSTBURG — US Air Force Ground Observer Corps civilian volunteers in Frostburg will quietly mark the sixth anniversary of "Operation Skywatch" July 14, by remaining proficient, well-trained aircraft observers. No national celebration is planned.

No longer active round-the-clock, these "modern minute men" are standing-by subject to an immediate active duty call at all times.

"Skywatch" is the air defense operation that turned the eyes of thousands of volunteer Americans skyward to a watch for approaching enemy aircraft.

The operation, calling for 24-hour surveillance of the skies as part of the Continental Air Defense effort, was approved in March of 1952 and by July of the year, 32 Air Defense Filter Centers and 6000 Observation Posts in 27 states were taking part in the early stages of "Skywatch."

None of the volunteers are officially on skywatch, but some are still logging planes that fly over their posts as training exercises. Official training exercises are called monthly by the Canton center in order to evaluate the proficiency and effectiveness of the filter center as well as the posts.

The last of the observation posts and skywatchers on 24-hour operational duty were relieved of around-the-clock responsibility last January 1 when the Ground Observer Corps was placed on "Ready Reserved Status." It marked the longest continuous peacetime period in the history of the United States during which civilian volunteers served actively with the Armed Forces in a national defense effort.

However, the change did not mean there would be any lessening of training or operational efficenicy in this important part of the North American Air Defense System.

Military personnel serving in supervisory capacities man each filter center 24 hours a day to be available in event of an emergency alert. Filter centers and observation posts continue in a state of readiness. Volunteers maintain their proficiency through training and practice so the corps will be effective if needed.

Easing the duties of the ground observers was the increased early warning capabilities given the North American Air Defense Command through such developments as the distant early warning line — a radar network that stretches across the Arctic Circle and out-to-sea — and a warning net across mid-Canada.

Vincent C. Collino, is supervisor of the Frostburg post and is assisted by Chief Observer C. Walter Hayes. The observation post is located on West Mechanic Street.

Frostburg Rotary Club Installs New Officers

W. Va. Launches Forest Fire Prevention Plan

Gov. Underwood Opens Conference

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — Gov. Underwood set the tone of a conference on forest fire prevention Monday with a three-way approach to minimizing the hazard.

Appearing as the first speaker at the Governor's Forest Fire Prevention Conference, Underwood said that "of the 15,000 forest fires in the past 10 years, more than 4,000 of them were set deliberately."

"Some of the arsonists had a grudge against the land owners," he continued, "others got a thrill from watching the woods burn, still others simply wanted to cause trouble.

"I suggest three avenues of approach to the desired public enlightenment:

(1) Judges, justices of the peace, lawyers and all law enforcement officers must become more aware of the extensive damages of forest fires.

"(2) We need an adult educational program in every community, geared to actual conditions in that area. Through this program, we shall strive to reach the hunter and fisherman who love the forests but who casually drop a lighted match, flick a cigarette, or peck out burning coals and the ashes from a pipe — the housewife who negligently burns the weekly trash or directs the handyman to burn the weeds and debris from the garden patch — the farmer who carelessly employs fire to clear out fence rows, eliminate brush piles, clean away the broom sedge from the meadow or the pasture field, cut down the timber to find new ground—every citizen who passes the forest with potential destruction in his possession.

"(3) Greater emphasis on conservation in our public school curricula will guarantee the perpetuation of a fire-conscious state."

The conference will continue through Tuesday. A banquet tonight was addressed by Frank McGee, chief Washington correspondent of the National Broadcasting Co.

Brick Church Of Maysville Earns Award

Council Director To Present Check

WILEY FORD, W. Va. — The Brick Church of the Brethren of Maysville, W. Va., Rev. Levi Ziegler, pastor will receive a 1958 "Award of Progress" at the Wiley Ford Church of the Brethren, tomorrow afternoon. This award is one of a series presented by the Town and Country Church Development Program of the Middle Atlantic Area. Awards are made to churches enrolled in the Church Development Program in the states of Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia.

The Church Development Program operated the past four years for churches of all denominations in places of less than 10,000 in the mid-Atlantic states. Its purpose was to encourage churches to carry out the most effective ministry possible by working toward a better church, toward a better community, and toward a better world. Sponsors of the program have been the state Council of Churches of Maryland-Delaware, New Jersey, New York, and West Virginia; the Sears-Roebuck Foundation and the Wesley Theological Seminary at Westminster, Md.

The "Award of Progress" consists of a certificate and a check for $50. Rev. Samuel A. Snyder Jr., executive director, of the Church Development Program, Westminster, will present the award to representatives of the Brick Church at the Women's Rally of the First West Virginia District of the Church of the Brethren.

Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished with extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan® Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only 98¢ for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or purchase price will be refunded.

Surprise Audit Causes W. Va. Liquor Shakeup

CHARLESTON (AP)—A shake-up in personnel at state liquor stores in Kermit and Matewan, Mingo County, was confirmed Monday by the State Liquor Control Commission.

General Field Supervisor M. Jerome Muntzing said the managers and two staff members had been placed on 30-day suspensions as a result of the weekend investigation. Muntzing declined to comment when asked if charges would be preferred.

The suspended employes were identified by Muntzing as Manager A. L. Crigger and Cashier Buddy Taylor of the Kermit dispensary, and Manager Raymond Miller and Clerk Nazim Abbess of the Matewan store.

Muntzing said that surprise audits on July Fourth disclosed stock shortages valued at $359 at the Matewan store, and $29 at the Kermit unit. The supervisor said there was a cash shortage of $42.10 at the Matewan store.

Muntzing said that apparently $62 worth of business was done on July Fourth at Matewan, despite the holiday. The curtains were drawn, he said, and investigation disclosed 10 decks of cards, two tip boards and a loaded pistol on the premises.

Miner Held In Wounding Of Wife, Others

CLAY, W. Va. (AP) — An estranged husband was in jail here Monday, charged with the felonious shooting of his wife, son and mother-in-law.

State Police Cpl. W. C. Williams said Robert E. Paxton, 34-year-old unemployed miner, was captured after a chase early Monday.

Officers said he had fired into the home of Mrs. Mildred Gibson, 51, in the Clay County village of Dille, wounding Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Marie Paxton, 24, and little Earl Paxton, 6.

Constables A. H. Houghton and Chilton Wilson said they fired into the air after sighting Paxton's car. He stopped and surrendered meekly, although he had a fully loaded .22 calibre automatic, the officers said.

The three injured persons were taken to a hospital in Charleston. Mrs. Gibson's condition was described as critical. Her daughter had been shot in the leg, while her grandson had a broken ankle.

Describing the night as a "bad dream, a bad and hazy dream," Mrs. Paxton said her estranged husband came to the house after all of them had retired. The Paxtons' 9-year-old daughter, Brenda Kay, was spending the night away from home.

Mrs. Paxton said she was married 10 years ago, and became separated last March. She obtained a court order directing him to keep the peace, and went to live with her mother.

After several bullets had been fired into the house through the windows, Mrs. Paxton said she got a .22 rifle and fired three times "but I didn't hit him."

She said Paxton finally heeded her pleas for a doctor, but compelled her to drive the car to Widen. The doctor's office alerted police.

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Four young prisoners charged with beating a fellow inmate to death will go on trial Aug. 6.

Circuit Judge D. Kenneth McLaughlin heard pleas of innocent entered through an attorney Monday, then set the date for their trial on first degree murder charges.

Victim of the May 23 beating was William Clark, 18. Those indicted are Louis O. J. Shuman, 19; Averly L. Lee, 18; Robert G. Hartman Jr., 19 and Lawrence D. Beach. All are from Baltimore.

They were confined in the same dormitory at the Reformatory for Males near here.

Clark had testified against the others at a trial which resulted in prison terms for the defendants. Later, Clark broke parole and was sent to the reformatory. He was placed in the same overcrowded dormitory with Shuman, Lee, Hartman and Beach.

Judge McLaughlin named two attorneys to represent the boys, who said they had no money to hire lawyers of their own. The court-appointed attorneys are Charles Wagaman, a former states attorney, and Irvine Rutledge.

The four accused have been confined in separate institutions except for Beach and Lee, who were kept at the reformatory. Judge McLaughlin ordered all held in Washington County jail until the trial so their attorneys can more easily consult with them.

Donley Becomes Member Of W.Va. Supreme Court

CHARLESTON (AP)—Robert T. Donley took the oath as the fifth member of West Virginia's Supreme Court Monday, while the lineup of Democratic candidates for the office took final form.

Donley, 54-year-old Morgantown attorney, resigned as a part time instructor at the West Virginia University Law School in order to accept the interim appointment from Gov. Underwood.

Donley is a Republican and is seeking the nomination of his party unopposed in the Aug. 5 primary. He will serve by appointment only until the successful candidate in the November election has qualified.

The two-year term at stake in the primary election is the unexpired portion of the term of Judge James B. Riley, who died unexpectedly at his Charleston home on June 29.

The seven Democrats certified as candidates Monday by the Secretary of State included:

Circuit Judge Harlan M. Calhoun of Morrefield, Circuit Judge Norman Knapp of Beckley, Circuit Judge K. K. Hall of Madison, Oden F. Goshorn, Charleston attorney; W. Bruce Hoff, Parkersburg attorney, Harold A. Bangert, Charleston, a former assistant State Attorney General, and G. Burton Crow of Ripley, a banker and former state beer commissioner.

Bangert withdrew Monday as one of the three candidates for a six-year vacancy on the court.

When Thruways Come Downtown

Should highways go through towns or around or behind them?

The subject is of prime interest to the citizens of Cumberland as the Cumberland Thruway will go through the heart of the city.

A similar decision to go through big towns was made in the case of the Connecticut Turnpike which opened January 2.

Here is the reasoning of Newman E. Argraves, State Highway Commissioner, as reported in a recent article in the Saturday Evening Post:

"When you take a turnpike around a city, shopping plazas spring up in the exits. These sap business from the central city, leaving it to wither on the vine."

Ramps will be provided from Cumberland's Thruway to serve the downtown area on South Mechanic Street, on and off; South Centre Street, on and off, and South Liberty Street, on.

The Connecticut view is in accord with studies made some years ago by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, which showed that limited by-pass routes tend to help, rather than hurt, a city's business. Cumberlanders can be thankful that their new traffic facility can be expected to be not only convenient, but economically helpful.

These Days

Apalachin

The investigation of Apalachin will undoubtedly produce a Roman holiday as obscure, robust, rotund, individuals, roughly referred to as hoods but often possessing bank accounts and credit lines which more honest men envy, march before the public. Most of them will have nothing to say under the Fifth or First or Sixth Amendments to the Constitution, the Communist lawyers having set the precedent.

A closer study of the Apalachin phenomenon needs to be made than a Congressional committee is willing to do. How does Apalachin fit into the private enterprise system? What is the relationship between Apalachin and the constant appeal of government officials for small business? How can small business accumulate capital, under our tax systems, in competition with the life insurance companies, the mutuals, the pension funds of corporations and labor unions, and similar immense and concentrated reservoirs of capital? In some banks, it is said but cannot readily be established, that some officers run private factoring arrangements to get loans for some customers; this is an under-the-table transaction and is strictly crooked.

What Apalachin represents, in this system, is the legitimization of "hot" money by investment in normal industries. This involves old "bootleg" money which has to come out, dope and other illegal earnings, principally cash upon which no income taxes have been paid. Such money may be hidden here or abroad for years, but, to be profitable, it must come into the mainstream of business activity. Much of that money has been hidden in Canada, Switzerland, Panama, Venezuela and other sanctuaries. A distinct business activity, engaged in by lawyers, accountants and other specialists, has developed in the transportation and deposit of such money.

The men at Apalachin may therefore be defined as marginal businessmen who engage in marginal industries and services and who have to find means for investing funds in industries which usually do not attract big business and for which funds are unavailable in the great reservoirs of capital. This includes the immense garment industry, the transportation of clothing and food products to large cities, and certain phases of the leisure-time industry.

As some of the money these men use is illegitimate and needs to be covered up, becauses taxes were withheld or the money flowed in from abroad through unusual channels, these industries do their own policing, which occasionally involves murder. They are still wildly competitive in a semi-monopolistic era and employ such methods as were normal when John D. Rockefeller organized the Standard Oil Company.

The psychological response of all these men to the challenge of their lives and their activities is to develop legitimate businesses and for them to become respected citizens in their communities. They contribute freely to charity; they buy thousands of dollars of tickets for public affairs; they associate with politicians and celebrities, often picking up the tab as it is called. The great ambition of their lives is to be regarded as "somebody."

But it is very difficult to get out of the rut of former relationships. The man who has a "record" is always fearful that his record will come out, that some newspaperman will pick it up and write a story; the man who has no "record" knows that the police and others are fully cognizant of his origin.

So those who do not pass from hood society to clean society live in a half-world of hoods, politicians, legitimate businessmen who are crooks, labor leaders with great public reputations who privately do as they can, smart girls on the make who prefer to be rich divorcees than poor but loving wives—it is a world all its own, with rigid rules as to loyalties, with competition for leadership and with men of business genius and competence of the highest order.

The center of this phase of private enterprise is in New York, wihch is the capital of the world of money. As the enterprises of these individuals grow, they can no longer depend on their own form of banking, which is to give a piece of the enterprise for a consideration; they require usual banking facilities and they get what they need because their legitimate operations have good standing.

It would be smart for Congressional committee to analyze the relationship of Apalachin to the difficulties of doing "small" business in the United States.

'Ain't Coexistence Wonderful?'

Vanguard Failures More Serious Than Most Americans Understand

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The public is getting so accustomed to hearing that Project Vanguard has failed to get off the ground again that they scarcely pay any attention to routine announcement that "the second stage failed to ignite," with another 20-inch satellite going to the bottom of the Atlantic.

The latest failure of Vanguard, however, was the worst scientific defeat the United States has suffered in its none-too-happy race with the Soviet Union.

The small gold-plated "moon" which Navy scientists were trying to put in orbit was jam-packed with instruments with which they hoped to ferret out vital secrets of space. The Russians, by putting up three very large Sputniks, one carrying a dog and the last a veritable flying laboratory, have been learning vast amounts of information about outer space.

They have been tantalizing U. S. scientists by hinting a few things they have learned, but are not giving us any really significant data about cosmic rays, submicroscopic particles, etc. Especially they have not turned over any data concerning conditions that may affect the ability of human beings to live in outer space.

American scientists have been able to pick up the radio signals from Sputnik III and analyze them. But they do not know how the instruments inside the Sputnik are calibrated, therefore can reach few scientific conclusions. Reluctantly they have concluded the coded information by Sputnik III can be interpreted only by the Russians.

Last Satellite Ball

Unfortunately, the 20-inch ball that went into the ocean last week is the last of the fully instrumented IGY satellites the Naval Research Laboratory had ready to send into outer space. They have another on which they've been working, but it won't be ready to go before October. They are desperately rushing work on others, but two years of patient work on instrumentation went into the drink when that second stage failed to fire.

The United States will now try to fire a couple more satellites. One is made of plastic and will be for the purpose of measuring the earth's gravitational field. Another will be equipped with a TV instrument to test how satellites can be used to scan cloud cover and help make weather forecasts.

If these satellite firings are successful, the American public will be kept superficially satisfied. But these satellites won't tell us the kind of vital data the Russians are now picking up from their Sputnik III.

In silence, the discovery of some facts quickly leads to others. These facts tend to pyramid.

The Russians, already months ahead of the United States in Space technology, are now lengthening their advantage by many more months. It will not be until October that we can begin to discover some of the information the Russians already know.

Man To Outer Space

The unpleasant truth is that we are falling farther behind every day in the race into space and that our only chance to catch up will be to try to send a human pilot out into space with the new hypersonic 3,600-mile-an-hour X-15 plane. The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics may send a volunteer pilot in the X-15 up to the frontier of space—80 miles up—as early as August. It will be a real risk because we have no idea what conditions prevail out there.

But our scientists are getting desperate. They realize that the Russians may also be getting ready to put men into space and that, with their superior knowledge of conditions beyond the earth's atmosphere, they are in a position to design more efficient rockets and expand their superiority over the lagging United States.

In short, despite the complacency of the public and the optimistic overtones of the Eisenhower Administration, we are not catching up with the Russians. With every passing week their lead is lengthening. The latest failure of Vanguard is the most expensive loss to the nation to date.

Under The Dome

Though Sherman Adams said he first met Bernard Goldfine in 1940 when Senator Cotton of New Hampshire introduced them, Senator Cotton, when queried, said he had introduced Adams to Goldfine in 1946. . . . Says GOP Senator Capehart of Indiana: "When Sherman Adams leaves Washington the first 15 rows of the departing committee should be reserved for Republican Congressmen so they can at least see him, after trying for five years." . . . The biggest libel judgment in American history, $190,000 against the Las Vegas Sun, was argued before the Nevada Supreme Court the other day by Edward P. Morgan, who pointed out that if the judgment were allowed to stand "a premium will be placed on sterile, pusillanimous, milk-toast, platitudinous publications which can offend no one. The frontier spirit which called a spade a spade must yield to a timid fear of suffering a horrendous penalty." . . . Congressman Wayne Hays of Ohio should have followed that hunch and run for the Senate. In the recent primary he got 600 "write-in" votes from Republicans. . . . GOP Senator Bricker, an old standby in Ohio, may be in for a tough race from ex-Congressman Stephen Young—though nobody ever thought so six months ago. . . . The world premiere of "South Seas Adventure," the newest Cinerama, will be held in New York July 13 for the benefit of Big Brothers. It's a smash hit for a great movement to help prevent juvenile delinquency. . . . Now that Sherman Adams has broken the sound barrier and testified for the first time in his career on Capitol Hill, Senator Kefauver is thinking of bringing him back to testify on Dixon-Yates. Adams flatly refused to testify on Dixon-Yates before, though he was the man who helped put across the conflict-of-interest deal against TVA which boomeranged.

Mr. Dulles: The Only Tussock In The Swamp?

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The critically dangerous Lebanese situation has produced at least one good result. It has given the best insight on record into the strengths and weaknesses of the character and situation of John Foster Dulles, who now makes American foreign policy almost alone and single-handed.

From the foreign angle of vision, as this reporter has already recorded, Foster Dulles looks like a most regrettable Secretary of State. Seen from Washington, however, he looks quite different. Here in Washington, you might say John Foster Dulles looks like the only tussock in the swamp.

Dulles played his tussock-role, when the trouble in Lebanon began, at once showing the firmness and decisiveness that sets him apart from the rest of our present government. Quite promptly, without any timid hesitations, Dulles joined the British Foreign Secretary, Selwyn Lloyd, in making a mortally grave commitment to the Lebanese government.

If the need arose, we told the Lebanese, and if the Lebanese government asked for help from its friends in the West, an Anglo-American military expedition would be sent to protect the independence of Lebanon. This was about as serious a promise as the Eisenhower administration has ever made to any government abroad.

Before making this promise, Dulles of course informed Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy—but it would be exaggerating to say that he consulted McElroy. Equally, of course, Dulles obtained the consent of the White House—but the President nowadays almost automatically consents to anything Dulles proposes. At bottom, in fact, the whole responsibility for the promise to the Lebanese rested on John Foster Dulles alone.

Dulles made his promise with his eyes open, too. He knew quite well that Anglo-American military intervention in Lebanon would be a most unpleasant and risky business. But he quite correctly argued that, if worse came to worse, intervention would be less risky and unpleasant than the total destruction of all the vital Western interests throughout the Middle East. And this kind of general Middle Eastern catastrophe was, and is, the virtually sure price of allowing Egypt's Nasser another victory in Beirut.

Thus Dulles started with a decision that was very bold but also wholly logical. But it is unwise, indeed it is almost criminal, to make the sort of promise that Dulles made to the Lebanese, unless you are also ready to be bold in drawing the logical consequences from your own actions.

Having made such a promise, a great power must show it means every word of it. A great power may wait a while to see whether such a promise really has to be kept. A great power may first experiment with purely political instruments. But if these instruments do not work, a greater power that has promised to send troops does so without delay, before the situation detonates and gets out of hand.

The British government tried to draw just the consequences listed above from the promise that had been made. The American government instead insisted upon delay after vain delay. The main trouble was that just about everyone in the American government except John Foster Dulles heartily disliked the promise that Dulles had made.

The most important opposition came from our U.N. delegation and the Pentagon. The Chiefs of the Armed Services indicated their position at the outset, by doing the exact opposite of showing we meant every word of our promise. For some time after the promise was given, the Marines on duty in the Mediterranean were actually left to vacation on Spanish beaches, several days sailing from the Lebanon.

At the U.N., too, our secondary foreign policy-maker, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, had committed himself to a soft, parliament-of-man line when the American government was making its disastrous decisions about the Suez crisis. He now took the same line about the Lebanese crisis. Lodge should apparently get most of the credit for the U.N. mission to Lebanon, which has turned out to resemble the shameful Runciman mission to Czechoslovakia that prepared the road to Munich.

A Middle Eastern Munich is now quite likely. Foster Dulles still insists that the United States and Britain will send troops to Lebanon rather than permit a Munich there. But if we intervene now, we shall be doing so after the price of intervention has doubled and quadrupled and decupled. One must conclude, therefore, that the only tussock in a swamp cannot support the weight of such a policy-decision as Dulles made.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Old baseball fannisters just realize that Chicago and Cincinnati are Eastern teams.

The move Westward Ho! Ho! to San Francisco and Los Angeles puts those two towns in brackets with Milwaukee and St. Louis.

The Eastern Division consists of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Chicago. Elephants not only fly but they're setting on eggs.

The acme of the climax will be eight teams west of the Rockies for the National League. And eight teams east of the Big Divide for the American.

Then a World Series will mean something more than a ride on the subway.

That's the way it's to be with Texas swinging in with eight more towns for a third league. Anybody trying to keep Texas out is fanning moonbeams with his hat.

Towns like Montreal, Havana and Quebec will grow into league towns. The only thing stopping Miami is it's a winter resort.

And here's another wharf you can tie up to. The whole transaction will work out in less than ten years.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The night Joe Friday was taken prisoner. . .

Mr. Jack Webb was happy and nervous. He looked like a portable atom bomb. His bride, the beautiful red-haired Jackie Loughery, was in a bedroom with Mrs. Herman Saunders finding something borrowed and something blue. She wore a rich white gown, pinched in the back, and a boy could span her waist with two fingers.

The bridegroom found a cup of tea, begged me not to be nervous, turned the music down a notch, answered the front door and showed his Dragnet teeth to the judge, all in three and one-tenth seconds. The bridesmaid, Mrs. George Postey, a blonde in blue, was smelling the bridal bouquet of lilies of the valley when Judge Byron Walters opened his book and said that he was ready.

The Judge is popular with policemen in Los Angeles. He is chunky and good-looking and he speaks softly. "Excuse me," he whispered in my ear, "could you please tell me where the rest room is? I'm awfully nervous." I showed him. When we got to it, the bridegroom was waiting in the doorway, snapping on lights. He was as calm as a marionette worked by a lush with d.t.'s.

The bridal party waited. The judge returned, with his book, and he began to read from it. Civil marriage is a matter of civil law. This judge was the first I ever heard who brings God into the ceremony. "Let us pray," he murmured, and he prayed fervently and beautifully. He asked God's holy blessing on the union of Jacqueline Loughery, who was Miss United States a few seasons ago, and Jack Webb who, in private life, is Joe Friday.

This was Tuesday. The music was soft and rich and Herman Saunders, associate producer of Mark VII Limited, produced the ring at the proper moment and looked like a man who has been pole-axed in the middle of a smile. The ring had three rows of diamonds. It does not go with dish-pan hands. Miss Loughery, who comes from Brooklyn and whose father is a 4-stripe U. S. Navy captain, has been known to wash dishes and, diamonds or no diamonds, she manufactures a fair brand of spaghetti and meat sauce if allowed loose in a kitchen.

The wedding started at 8:31 p. m., was over at 8:34. The judge pronounced them man and wife and braced himself to kiss the bride. Then he asked for their autographs. "Oh good," the bride said, "I've never signed anything as Mrs. Jack Webb." She wrote it out. Her husband peeked over her shoulder. "If you don't mind," he said drily, "two b's, please."

There was champagne and the best man crept out of his smile long enough to devise a nice toast. Webb kissed Jackie again, like a man who has to be reassured that it is legal, and he whispered in her ear: "I jammed that ring on your finger so hard that it should never come off."

Freddie, a little man who is Webb's cook, stood in the background, half inside a doorway, watching and smiling. He kept clasping and unclasping his hands as though it was difficult to contain his glee and yet he did not want to betray it with sound. He just looked, and his dark eyes glistened and you knew that he was happy for the boss.

Jackie said: "I'm going to call Mom," and Webb said, "When you get her, put me on." He filled the champagne glasses, turned the music up a little, laughed at a whispered sally, and did a time step — in two seconds and four-fifths. He was calming down a little, he said, and this reminded the judge of something, but this time he knew the way.

Mrs. Loughery was on the phone, and she felt happy for her little girl, and she hoped the marriage would be forever and ever. Captain Loughery was on another extension, and he too was happy. The Captain and Mr. Webb form the nucleus of a mutuel admiration society, and this is good. "Momma's crying," said Jackie, laughing and dabbing at her own eyes. "Imagine. Momma's crying."

Mr. Webb spoke to his mother-in-law for a few minutes. Then he hung up and his bride kissed him and he looked at her almost sadly and shook his head solemnly and said: "Forever and ever." Freddie handed Mr. Webb his car keys and Herman Saunders was back in his smile, the "I think we're all going to Scandia for the reception. Isn't that where we're going?"

Joe Friday is now serving life in Studio City . . .

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Psittacosis (parrot fever) has been a minor health problem for decades, but in recent years, more and more cases are being reported. The popularity of the parakeet is responsible. These birds are susceptible to the infection along with parrots, canaries, pigeons, doves, and ducks.

But this is not all. The University of Glasgow recently traced a fatal case of polio in a young boy to his pet parakeet. The bird, recovering from paralysis of the legs, grasped the child's lips with his beak. Type I poliovirus was recovered from the youngster's stools and the bird's droppings. The lesson is not to handle sick or dead birds.

Three cases of psittacosis were reported recently by the National Office of Vital Statistics. One was a 25 year old New Yorker who worked as a floor waxer in a pet shop. He developed fever, malaise, and cough after sweeping out the shop.

Signs of pneumonia were found and a blood test for psittacosis was positive. The illness occurred shortly after the pet shop had received a shipment of 50 birds, three or four of which died a few days after arrival.

The second occurred in a 68 year old Florida man who raised and sold parakeets. Ten days prior to the onset of his symptoms, some of the birds had sickened and died. He developed pneumonia, with a temperature of 102 degrees F. The antibiotic, Tetracycline, saved his life.

The third case was reported from California. A housewife, who had been exposed to several parakeets belonging to a neighbor, complained of a chest cold and cough. Her temperature was up and X-rays revealed bronchopneumonia. A blood test was positive for psittacosis. Tetracycline led to rapid improvement.

The causative virus is transmitted to man by inhaling dust from dried excretia, nasal discharges, or feathers. Occasionally infection follows parrot bites or close contact, as in mouth-to-mouth feeding. The majority of victims of psittacosis have chills, fever, headache, sore throat, and cough seven to 14 days after coming into contact with the ailing bird.

The antibiotics shorten the course of the disease so it is not feared as much as in the past. The condition is suspected in a bird that looks listless and has diarrhea, nasal discharge, and ruffled plumage or if the little fellow dies. Some birds are carriers even though they had not been ill.

NERVOUS TEMPERAMENT

Mrs. D. writes: Can nervousness be cured?

REPLY

Yes, provided the cause is known and eliminated. This is not easy because nervousness is deepseated and stems from emotional insecurity in childhood and youth. For this reason, physicians say a person must be born again to be cured. Nevertheless, many things can be done to ease tension and anxiety.

GROWTH UNDER NAIL

B. J. L. writes: What can be done about a thick, fibrous growth under a toe nail? When my doctor was taking care of an ingrown nail he noticed this growth.

REPLY

Complete excision of this growth is needed if it is subungual exostosis. These lesions arise from cartilage but later become bony. The cause is unknown.

IN THE MIND

C. M. writes: Bad smells make me vomit. Is this due to a physical or a psychic disorder?

REPLY

Psychic.

CYSTS VARY

J. E. writes: Are cysts malignancies?

REPLY

Cysts are sacs that contain liquid or semi-fluid material. They usually are benign but some may become malignant.

HAIR GRAYING

Mrs. L. writes: At what age is graying of the hair considered normal?

REPLY

It is normal for men in their 40s but premature when it occurs in women that age.

TOMORROW: The pre-diabetic state.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

One contemporary American author genuinely appreciated in Italy is John Steinbeck. A baker in Rome actually reproduced a half dozen covers of Steinbeck novels in pastry form. John Fuller called the window display to the attention of Steinbeck, who dutifully bought "The Wayward Bus," and had it for dessert that evening.

"This is the first time," notes Fuller, "that I ever saw an author eat his own words."

A couple of Texans were driving through California's famed redwood forest. In the very heart of the grove, with giant trees towering on all sides, they stopped for a snack. One Texan eyed the redwoods appraisingly, then drawled to the dinette proprietor;

"Say, Bud, how much further we gotta ride to get out of this underbrush?"

Sellout Crowd Of 49,000 To Attend All-Star Contest

Willie Mays To Lead Off For National

Spahn Will Oppose Turley; American Loop 13-10 Choice

By JACK HAND

BALTIMORE (AP) — Warren Spahn to pitch and Willie Mays to lead off were Manager Fred Haney's surprising choices for the National League Monday to face bullet Bob Turley of the American League in Tuesday's 25th All-Star baseball game.

Haney tossed the book out the window when he turned to his 37-year-old Milwaukee left-hander as the National's starter despite an American line-up that will include only one left-handed batter —second baseman Nelson Fox of Chicago. Spahn has appeared in five all-star games, starting in 1949 at Brooklyn and winning on relief in 1953 at Cincinnati.

"He gets the right-handers out just as easy as the left-handers," Haney explained. "He hasn't pitched since Friday and so will have three full days of rest. And don't forget this is a big ball park with plenty of room to catch a fly ball."

Mays To Lead Off

The selection of Mays to lead off caused almost as much comment as the choice of Spahn (10-5). The San Francisco center fielder with a .358 average and 16 home runs has been batting No. 3 in the Giant line-up.

"You figure to pinch hit at least three times for your pitcher in this game," said Haney. "If the pinch hitter comes through, then you have Willie coming up next. I couldn't think of anything nicer than that."

Casey Stengel, the New York Yankee manager who will be managing his eighth All-Star team (he has a bad 2-5 record) went along with his ace Yankee right-hander, Turley. The no-windup pitcher is the top winner in the majors with a 12-3 record and four shut-outs among 11 complete games.

Although Turley was named to two other teams he never pitched before. He last worked Friday.

Mickey Draws No. 2

Stengel didn't let Haney, his 1957 World Series conqueror, get away with all the surprises. He moved Mickey Mantle, the Yankee switch hitter, to the No. 2 spot in the order to give him that many extra chances at National League pitching.

Jackie Jensen of Boston, who tops both leagues in homers (24) and runs batted in (68), bats behind Mantle. Then comes Bob Cerv of Kansas City, the clean-up man, who is second to Jensen with 22 homers and 62 runs batted in. That's the outfield — Cerv in left, Mantle in center and Jensen in right.

Nellie Fox, the league-leading batter from Chicago with .327, leads off.

After Cerv comes Bill Skowron of New York on first base, Frank Malzone of Boston on third, catcher Gus Triandos of Baltimore, shortstop Luis Aparicio of Chicago and Turley.

A. L. Is Favorite

Neither Stengel nor Haney would name any definite pitchers after their starters in this silver anniversary game. The American League holds a 14-10 series edge and is a 13-10 favorite, although the National has won six of the last eight. The Americans won last year at St. Louis 6-5 with each team scoring three in the ninth.

Baltimore is all set to welcome its first All-Star game with a sell-out crowd of about 49,000. The players will be driven through the streets in convertibles on the way to the park—just like Milwaukee.

The game starts at 12 noon (EST) and will be beamed across the nation on network (NBC) radio and television as usual.

After leading off with Mays, Haney follows with his two left-handed hitters, Skinner and first baseman Stan Musial of St. Louis, who breaks a record every time he turns around in this his 15th All-Star game.

Aaron In Cleanup

Haney has right fielder Hank Aaron of his Braves in the clean-up spot despite his .289 average. Then come shortstop Ernie Banks of Chicago and Thomas who leads the National with 22 homers and 67 runs batted in.

Mazeroski, catcher Del Crandall of Milwaukee and Spahn round out the batting order.

Bob Friend of Pittsburgh, everybody's guess as the National starter, now appears to be in line as the second pitcher.

Entertain Foes

For the first time since 1949, West Virginia will play both Pitt and Penn State, its chief football rivals, at home in 1959.

William D. Gilmour of Ridgeway, Ont., was the second leading harness driver in 1958 with 152 winners, four less than Bill Haughton.

ALL-STAR GAME STARTERS—New York Yankee righthander Bob Turley, left, will be the starting pitcher for the American League in today's All-Star game in Baltimore. Milwaukee Braves' southpaw Warren Spahn, right, is scheduled to work the first three innings for the National League. Turley is top winner in the majors with a 12-3 record. Spahn has a 10-5 won-lost mark. (AP Photofax)

Fugitt Is Honored
Jesse Still On Top
Big 4th For Corle
To Race Under Stars

By C. V. BURNS

WILLIAM R. FUGITT'S elevation to the presidency of the National Federation of High School Athletic Associations comes as pleasing news to our West Virginia neighbors and Western Marylanders who had the pleasure of meeting the Baron of Beckley during his visits here in recent years for the football clinics arranged by Arthur G. Ramey at the board of education building.

Mr. Fugitt became president of the organization which governs high school athletics in practically every state in the union at the annual convention held in Santa Barbara, Calif.

He has long been a power in the national organization and he has done a great job as executive secretary of the West Virginia Secondary Schools Activities Commission.

At the time Mr. Fugitt took over the duties as president of the national federation, another veteran, H. V. Porter stepped down from his long-time job as executive secretary. The latter has been succeeded by Cliff Fair, his assistant.

It is a coincidence that Fugitt and Porter figure in the news at the same time as both were in Cumberland in recent years at most of the grid clinics. Ramey became acquainted with Porter and Fugitt while attending national conventions and they readily accepted invitations to come here.

Fugitt is expected to retain his post with the West Virginia association and he will likely have an assistant at his Beckley headquarters.

JESSE MARKLEY, whose strong right arm helped Fort Hill High School win county championships in 1955, 1956 and 1957, is the current pitching sensation in the Pen-Mar League with an 8-0 record.

To date he has beaten every team in the league at least once but Hyndman.

The slab ace of the Barrelville Old Exports has whipped Grantsville, 9-2, Zihlman 1-0, Mt. Savage 9-4, Salisbury 13-0, Flintstone 19-1 and 16-6, Wellersburg 4-3 and 8-3. He has yielded only 19 runs in eight games for an average of 2.37 and his earned run mark probably is lower than that.

Markley holds the distinction of pitching for three county league championship teams at Fort Hill, Fort Cumberland Post teams that copped Mountain District Legion titles in 1955 and 1956, and Barrelville's Old Exports, 1957 playoff champs of the Pen-Mar loop.

At Fort Hill he won 28 and lost 5 in four seasons, posted an 8-2 record for Fort Cumberland Post and won six and lost one at Barrelville last season. His 8-0 mark this season ups his total wins to 50 in five years against eight losses.

Jesse is a product of the Hot Stove League where he hurled for the Rotary Club. He made his debut in the Legion League with Fulton Myers Post in 1954.

HERE ARE the records of leading pitchers in area baseball and softball leagues for games through last Sunday:

Baseball:
PEN-MAR LEAGUE: Markley, Barrelville, 8-0; Robert Keister, Grantsville, 5-0; Jim Leydig, Hyndman, 3-0; Bob See, Hyndman, 3-0; Bobby Dawson, Grantsville, 4-1; Glenn Deremer, Hyndman, 5-2; Bobby Raines, Barrelville, 4-2; Ralph Dickel, Mt. Savage, 5-3; Jim Robertson, Salisbury, 5-3.
BI-STATE PONY LEAGUE: Billy Lovett, Cresaptown, 7-0; Bobby Wharton, LaVale, 4-2.
TWILIGHT LEAGUE: Grover Fazenbaker, Barton, 5-0; Ollie Smith, Westernport, 4-0; Billy Johnson, Barton, 4-0; George Winters, Midland, 4-1.
HOT STOVE LEAGUE: John Price, Kiwanis, 4-0; James Stewart, Cumberland Optimists, 3-0; Ronnie Evans, Lions, 3-0; Glen Shipway, Elks, Phil Barbe, Jaycees, 3-1; Jimmy Seeders, Bedford Road Optimists, 3-1.
PEN-MAR LITTLE LEAGUE: Terry Wendt, Cresaptown, 5-0; Don Engle, Barrelville, 4-0; Frank Morgan, Ellerslie, 3-0; John Wright, Tri-State Memorial, 5-1; Steve Vandenburg, Cresaptown, 5-2; Ralph Wilson, Barrelville, 4-2.
Softball:
COUNTY LEAGUE: Art Raygor, Corriganville, 12-3; Curt Hosselrode, Stringtown, 4-1; Ray Troutman, Stringtown, 7-3; Vern Lowery, Kennell's Mill, 5-3; Jerry O'Baker, Maple Inn, 7-5.
ROCKING CHAIR LEAGUE: Pete Elliott, V.F.W., 5-0; Charles Day, V.F.W., 4-0; Dick Klavuhn, Elks, 7-2; Al Sheetz, K. of C., 5-2.
CITY REC LEAGUE: Don Decker, Local 26, 5-0; "Pickles" Doolan, Local 26, 5-1; Regis Fair, Don McIntyre's, 3-1; Denny Knippenberg, Western Maryland, 3-1; Gene Hess, Ridgeley Legion, 6-4; Jim Lease, Keech's Drug Stores, 3-2; Billy Manges, Marine Reserve, 3-2.

BOBBY CORLE, the Bedford, Pa., apprentice rider, continues his dazzling performances at the Delaware Park race meeting.

Corle celebrated the Fourth of July by registering a "triple" with His Proof ($16.80), Royal Spy ($11.20) and Princeton ($10) and on Saturday he booted home his 20th winner of the Stanton session aboard Dr. Link for a return of $8.20. Yesterday he upped his wins to 22 aboard Lady Jonage and Betty C., which paid off at $7 for $2.

Bobby has 15 seconds and 15 thirds and now is in third place in the jockeys' race. Eldon Nelson with 40 winners is first and Steve Brooks is runner-up with 25.

FROM Wheeling comes the report that Trainer J. Richard Long of Cumberland has been allotted eight stalls for the summer meeting of 36 nights which gets under way at the West Virginia track July 28.

Long handles the 5-year-old handicap mare Atheneum, racing in the silks of Frederick Jackson. Roue is another owned by Jackson while Louis E. Torreyson is the owner of Tintern and Quick Sand.

Long's own horses are Sun Tint, Blue Dancer, Defenseless and Varga.

Defenseless won at Charles Town July 4 and rewarded backers with $14.80 for each $2 played on the nose.

COACH Bill Hahn reports that Larry Hansrote, regular center on Fort Hill's 1946 football team, and former local sandlot pitcher, is being sent by the Air Force to M. I. T. (Massachusetts Institute of Technology) for an advanced science course.

Midland tied Barton for first place in the Twilight Baseball League yesterday by defeating Wright's Crossing by the score of 9-4 while Lonaconing and Barton were battling to a 14-14 tie in a game halted by darkness at the end of the 7th inning in Barton.

The Indians larruped the offerings of two Wright's Crossing pitchers for 18 hits. George Miller and Bill Ultis sparked the assult with three blows each. "Slug" Robertson, who toiled on the rubber for six innings, got credit for the win. Jack Bahen and Eddie Finn had two hits each for the losers.

In the game at Barton Ellis Fazenbaker had a double and two singles and Mike Muir slammed a double and single to pace the Braves while "Ebb" Spiker garnered three safeties and "Cokie" Robertson socked a triple and single for 'Coney.

The game will be replayed Friday at 5:30 p. m., in Barton.

Carl Emerick and Wayne Bridges limited Finzel to four hits as Zihlman won on its home field by the score of 11-2. Relief pitcher Bridges, who got credit for the win, struck out seven.

Jack Robeson, Jim Keister, Robert Keister, Jack Anderson, Jack Downton and Harold Buskirk shared 12 of the winners' 14 hits. Robeson and Buskirk clouted homers. Jack Burner had two hits for Finzel.

Westernport outslugged Cumberland to win at Westernport by the score of 11-10.

The victors racked up 14 hits. Joe Niland banged a double and two singles, Ollie Smith rapped a trio of singles and "Kip" Montgomery belted a homer. Leatherman, Cage and Whisner had two hits each for Cumberland. Smith, who replaced Montgomery in the fifth, notched his fifth consecutive win of the campaign. Scores:

The Kiwanis Club extended its winning streak to four games by defeating B'nai B'rith yesterday at Fort Hill Field by the score of 6-4 and took a one-game lead in the Hot Stove Baseball League.

"Butch" Bosley scattered eight hits, whiffed eleven and notched his second win against a single loss as Manager Wayne White's tossers registered their sixth win in eight starts.

The league leaders obtained 11 hits, including a triple and two singles by Jimmy Powelson, a three-bagger, double and single by John Price and a circuit clout and pair of one-base blows by Charley Boone.

Norris and Cox collected three hits each for B'nai B'rith.

Ronnie Manges gave up nine hits fanned nine in twirling Lonnie Jackson's Rotary Club tossers to a 6-4 decision over the Jaycees at Penn Avenue Field.

The Rotarians garnered only four safeties, including a two-run homer by Joe Ranker in the first frame. McKay, Jaycees' hurler, struck out ten and collected two of the losers' nine bingles.

Billy Stakem's single scored Jim Angellatta with the run that gave the Elks a 5-4 victory over the Cumberland Optimists in a night contest at Penn Avenue Field.

The winning blow came in the top of the 7th inning after Angellatta had walked, pilfered second and advanced to third when the ball thrown by the catcher struck him on the back.

Glen Shipway, who pitched until the 7th, got credit for his fourth straight win of the season. He fanned ten and issued five passes. Ray Redinger finished on the mound for the Elks, replacing Shipway after Long had walked to open the final frame.

John Rice, Stakem and Shipway of the Elks and Bill Sheetz of the Optimists garnered two hits each. Scores:

National League May Expand To Ten Teams

Tempting Offer Is Received From New York City

BALTIMORE (AP) — The National League, acting after receiving a tempting offer to return to New York City, Monday authorized the appointment of a committee to study the feasibility of expanding the league to 10 baseball teams.

The league owners, after an all-day meeting, directed President Warren Giles to name three committee members to consider the increase in membership. Giles said it would take some time to pick the committee.

The resolution authorizing the committee study referred to the lure dangled before the league by Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City this morning.

The mayor told league officials the city was fully ready to put up 12 million dollars for a baseball stadium and charge reasonable rent.

Wagner, moving boldly to recoup from New York's loss of the Giants and Dodgers to California, said the city was prepared to erect a 52,000-seat ballpark in return for a franchise.

Although Giles and club owners generally were impressed by the offer, they made no commitment beyond the decision to set up the study committee.

As Giles put it, there are only two choices if the New York offer is accepted.

"A present club would have to move in or the membership increased," he explained.

Expansion would mean going from eight to 10 teams for scheduling simplicity. Present club owners seemed to feel this would be the answer, if any.

Late Rally Beats McIntyre's, 9-8

Rallying in the late innings for six runs, the Ridgeley American Legion came from behind to defeat Don McIntyre's in a Rec Softball League game yesterday at East Side Field by the score of 9-8.

McIntyre's scored eight runs in the second inning after two out but were blanked the remainder of the route by Gene Hess. Scott's single followed by two errors gave Ridgeley the tying and winning runs in the final frame.

Leasure, who replaced Regis Fair in the 7th inning, was charged with the loss.

Dave Baker of Ridgeley and Dale Fuller of McIntyre's led the stickers with three hits each. Van Parsons, of McIntyre's, and Hess and Scott of Ridgeley, had two bingles each.

The win was the 7th for Hess, who has lost four games. Score:

Archers Plan Tournament At Keyser Sunday

Fourth Annual Event To Start At 9 A.M.

KEYSER — The Green Mountain Archers of the Keyser area, will hold their fourth annual "Open Shoot" Sunday, July 13.

Registration for the event will be conducted at 8:30 p. m. DST, and the tournament will get into full swing at 9 a. m. The morning event will be known as the "28 target field round," which entails going around the 14 target course twice.

Each contestant will shoot four arrows at each target and his total for the morning, classifies him for the afternoon event.

The afternoon event will call for 28 targets broadhead around and is a modified version of the field round. Spectators will be welcome but are advised to dress for weeds, walking and climbing.

Registration for contestants is $1 per person. There is no charge for spectators.

This "open shoot tournament" is the largest archery affair in this area and each year shows an increase in attendance, both by participants and spectators. Invitations have been sent to approximately forty registered archery clubs, some from as far distant as 400 miles from Keyser.

The local range is located six miles east of Keyser on State Route 46. Directions from Keyser, turn off "46" to the road directly in the rear of the Stop-In Restaurant on "46" and proceed a quarter mile to Archers Range Parking Area.

Local 26 To Drill

Local 26 of the Rec Softball League will hold practice today at 6 p. m., on the Rolling Mill diamond.

Cresaptown's pace-setting Lions hung up a season scoring record yesterday when they routed the last place Ellerslie team by the score of 34-7 in a Bi-State Pony Baseball League game at Ellerslie.

The Lions scored in every inning but the fourth, opening with an eight-run spiurge in the first and closing with an 11-run explosion in the 7th.

Cresaptown's victory coupled with Frostburg's 10-7 defeat at the hands of LaVale enabled the Lions to increase their lead to 1½ games over the Mountain City nine.

The league leaders racked up 28 hits and among them were circuit clouts by Lewis, Cecil, Mikesell and Bird. Ernie Stouffer pitched the first four innings and notched his third win of the season. John Lowery collected two of Ellerslie's five hits.

LaVale scored all of its runs in the last four innings to pull the game out of the fire at Frostburg.

Evan Smith sparked the 12-hit attack with two homers, Ted Femi slammed a triple and two singles, Mike Scaletta had two hits and Dick Shaffer banged a two bagger. Jim Sittig hit safely thrice, Rich McKenzie homered and singled and Jack Stevenson obtained a double and single to head the Frostburg batsmen.

Kenny McCormick hurled a three-hitter as Lonaconing took the measure of Mt. Savage on the latter's field by the score of 10-2. The loss was charged to Joe Nolan, relief hurler.

Wilson collected two of 'Coney's six hits. Mt. Savage's three hits were singles by Deffenbaugh, Green and Blank.

A league meeting will be held today at 8 p. m., at Frostburg City Hall. Managers of all teams are urged to attend.

Manager Bob Ziler's Athletics handed the front-running Dodgers their first defeat of the season in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League yesterday at East Side Field, winning a free-hitting affair by the score of 11-9.

The A's spotted the league leaders eight runs in the first two innings and came from behind to snap the Dodgers' five-game winning streak. The victory put the Zilermen a half game out of first place.

Ronnie Isner, who supplanted Greg Skidmore in the fifth inning received credit for the win, giving him a 3-0 record for the campaign. "Rocky" Klosterman went the distance for the Dodgers and now is 2-1.

Allen Cross with a double and two singles and Paul Light with a three-bagger and pair of one-base knocks sparked the A's 11-hit attack. Isner rapped a double and scored the 10th and deciding run with a single in the 5th. Greg Shaffer collected two singles.

Diamond, Lease and Gary Imes belted homers for the Dodgers. Diamond also collected two doubles, Shook had three singles and Stitcher garnered a triple, double and single. Score:

John Mills tossed a one-hitter and mowed down an even dozen on strikes as the Forty Niners chalked up their third straight win of the season in the City High School Baseball League by downing Gurley's yesterday at Taylor Field by the score of 9-1.

Wayne Shook's single in the first inning was the lone safety yielded by Mills, who notched his second victory of the campaign.

The winners collected eight hits, including a homer and two singles by Jim Hammond and a three-base wallop by Dick Peck.

At Fort Hill Field, the V.F.W. shut out the Top Shop, 6 to 0, in a game halted by darkness after six innings were completed.

Each team was limited to three hits. Richard Marriott, Clarence Kean and Fred Schindler obtained the V.F.W. bingles while Puffenberger said Henry rapped singles and Spier collected a triple for the Toy Shop.

Roger Manges, V.F.W. twirler, fanned 12 batsmen. Nines was the losing hurler. Scores:

Senators Will Not Pull Out Of Washington

Griffith To Keep Team At Capital

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Washington Senators backtracked Monday on any notion they may have had of making a quick pullout from the nation's capital.

After a 3½-hour closed meeting of American League club owners, Senators' boss Calvin Griffith said the team would stay in Washington indefinitely.

Griffith had remarked on entering the meeting he would ask fellow owners whether they believed the league would be better off with the Senators in some other location. During the weekend he had cited a steady slump in gate receipts as one factor that might persuade his own board of directors and the league itself to accept the hospitality of fans elsewhere.

Recent franchise shifts to Milwaukee, Baltimore and Kansas City have been financially rewarding. Griffith wanted to sound out opinion on another shift, to Minneapolis or some other city.

Dallas, Houston and Toronto also had been mentioned in the speculation.

Earl J. Hilligan, head of the American League Service Bureau, came out of the pre-All-Star game meeting to tell newsmen Griffith had not requested authority to move.

Frank Lane, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, commented that Griffith "either repented or changed his mind!"

Jim Wilson's Red Sox increased their lead to 1½ games in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Little League by edging the Pirates yesterday at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 4-3.

Lee Miller, Red Sox relief pitcher, who replaced Richie Robinson in the 5th, won his own game in the fifth by driving home the deciding tally with a two-base wallop. The win was Miller's third in a row. He fanned five in the two innings he worked. Robinson also whiffed five. Jewell, Pirates' hurler struck out six.

Shelley's circuit blast in the 5th enabled the Pirates to knot the score at 3-3.

In a game punctuated by four homers, the Giants downed the Phillies at Post Field by the score of 6-4.

Billy Seeders and Gary Elliott hit four-baggers for the Giants and Terry Deremer and Vinnie DelaGrange hit round-trippers for the Phillies. Seeders, Hamilton, Elliott and Fred Jackson had two hits each for the winners. One of Hamilton's clouts was a triple. Jerry Young limited the Phils to five hits, including the two homers. Scores:

Baldoni Wins At Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — The slugger beat the boxer Monday night as Tony Baldoni scored a technical knockout over Johnny Cunningham in 2:58 of the fifth round of a 10-round middleweight bout.

Baldoni weighed 158 and Cunningham 152. Both are Baltimoreans. It was Baltimore's first professional boxing match in two years.

Cunningham was ahead on every card until the fifth, when Baldoni dropped him with a right. Baldoni sent his lighter opponent to the floor four more times before Referee Eddie Leonard halted it.

The National Boxing Assn. three knockdown rule doesn't apply in Maryland, where calling a TKO is left to the referee's discretion.

It was Baldoni's first fight in about two years. He went into semi-retirement then after losing to Joey Giardello and Ralph (Tiger) Jones.

Three Players Tie In Publinx Golf Tourney

Essig Is Among Leaders With 71s

CHICAGO (AP) — Defending champion Don Essig, a sales representative, and a park district employee, Monday shot 2-under-par 71's for a three-way first round qualifying lead in the National Public Links Golf Tournament.

The gently rolling Silver Lake course, with its 6,866 yardage and 38-35—73 par, proved a severe test for the field of 150 shooting for 64 match-play spots. Only nine players matched or bettered par, the final 18 hole qualifying trial will be Tuesday.

Joining Essig, a 19-year-old former Indianapolis caddy and now a member of the Louisiana State University golf team, in the lead were Frank Schmidt of Dayton, Ohio and Walt Durdle of Peoria, Ill.

Schmidt, 24-year-old sales representative who won the 1952 Ohio High School crown, authored three birdies and needed only 31 putts in a 38-33—71 effort.

Husky 25-year-old Durdle, playing in the last threesome of the day, also had only 31 putts, in fashioning 36-35—71.

Durdle keeps the greens in shape on the Park District courses in Peoria.

Eddie Arcaro Scores With Outer Space

Annexes Jamaica's Opening Feature

JAMAICA, N. Y., July 7 — Driving between horses in a furious stretch charge, Mrs. Gerard S. Smith's Outer Space captured the $22,200 Liberty Belle Handicap as Jamaica race track opened a 20-day summer meeting.

Outer Space, 4-year-old daughter of Saggy-Supersonic, ridden by Eddie Arcaro, won by half a length from Cain Hoy Stable's Nile Lily, who took the place by three quarters of a length over Brookfield Farms' I Offbeat, who set all the pace until well inside the sixteenth pole. The six furlongs was run in the blazing time of 1:10.

It was the third winner of the day for Arcaro, who previously won with Cain Hoy Stable's Hidden Talent, $2.60, and Mrs. Joan G. Van De Maele's Merry Hill, $3.70.

Outer Space earned $14,180 net for Mrs. Smith, a resident of New Canaan, Conn. Coupled with William Haggin Perry's Alanesian as the favorite with the crowd of 24,156, Outer Space returned the across the board mutuels of $5.10, $2.90 and $2.20. Nile Lily paid $7.00 and $3.50 and I Offbeat was $2.90 to show.

Braves' Gate May Be Lowest For Six Years

Braves Are Lucky To Hit 2 Million

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves, who set a National League attendance record of 2,215,404 last year when they won the world championship, will be lucky to reach the two-million mark this season.

William Eberly, the Braves' ticket director, said Monday that there is a possibility the attendance will be the lowest in the club's six years here.

With the halfway mark of the season behind them, the Braves have drawn 892,276 for 36 home dates. That is 83,088 under last year's total for the same number of dates. Their lowest season draw to date was 1,826,397 in 1953, their first year here.

"We've averaged 24,785 per date so far," said Eberly. "That's about 5,000 below our average for the last five years. In order to better our record attendance of a year ago, we would have to average 37,792 for our remaining 35 home dates. Even without a rainout, that is extremely unlikely."

Eberly said the poor Milwaukee attendance has been due to three major factors:

Cold, rainy weather and a crowd of only 23,706 July 4; the general business recession; and an unfavorable schedule.

Scores Triple

OCEANPORT, N. J., July 7 (AP) — National riding champion Bill Hartack registered three winners among his seven mounts to headline the program today at Monmouth Park. This was the fourth time during the current meeting, that the Charles Town, W. Va., jockey had scored a riding triple.

The 26-year-old reinsman captured the featured Hasty Road Purse with Mrs. J. Bowes Bond's Alstar, a $7.20 for $2 chance in the seventh race. Hartack won the second half of the $21.20 daily double, composed of Djezac ($6.00) and Some Tan ($5.60). He also scored with Countless Marcy ($5.80) in the sixth.

Irregular Gains Advance Market To New 1958 Peak

NEW YORK (AP) — Irregular gains pushed the stock market to another new peak for 1958 Monday in fairly active dealings.

The advance was the eighth straight for the list on average. Monday's rise was moderate, similar to the seven preceding.

Stock prices moved higher against a heavy supply of stock available for sale. The rise was marred by some conspicuous losses and it was highlighted by some fairly wide gains, especially among secondary issues.

A string of gains appeared among steels, motors, rubbers, farm implements and electronics. Rails were a shade lower on average. Oils changed little, although West Coast oil imports were reduced under a presidential order.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 50 cents to its new high of $176.10 with the industrials up 90 cents, the rails down 20 cents and the utilities up 30 cents making a new '58 high for this component.

Of 1,192 issues traded, gains totaled 541 and losses 384. There were 116 new highs for the year and 7 new lows.

Volume was 2,510,000 shares compared.

The opening was irregularly higher, with an assortment of sizable blocks following the three-day July 4 weekend. Prices improved gradually until late in the day when there was profit taking.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed on volume of 910,000 shares compared with 1,060,000 on Thursday.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures worked slowly and steadily higher Monday on the Board of Trade while other grains and soybeans held within fractions of a cent of the previous closes, some higher, some lower.

All wheat contracts finished with gains of more than a cent despite widespread expectations that hedge selling from the new winter crop would come in heavy volume and depress prices further.

The harvest is at or near its peak in Kansas, the major producing state, and there normally is a pressure at that time each year.

Wheat closed ¼-1½ cents a bushel higher, July $1.82⅝-½; corn ½ lower to ½ higher, July $1.31⅝-¾; oats ½ lower to ⅝ higher, July 63⅝; rye unchanged to ¾ higher, July $1.25; soybeans ⅜ higher to ⅝ lower, July $2.24⅜-¾; lard 12 cents a hundred pounds higher to 5 cents lower, July $12.42.

The nearby corn deliveries eased slightly mainly because of more liberal cash receipts over the weekend.

Church To Honor Rev. Culp And Wife

A "welcome back" celebration will be held today at 6 p. m. in Grove 2, Constitution Park, by First Methodist Church in honor of Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Culp. Rev. Mr. Culp has been returned by the Baltimore Conference to the local church for another year.

A musical program will be presented after the picnic by the Methodist Men's Club of the church.

Winners Listed In Playlot Event

Debbie Beckwith dancing and singing "The Chicken Cha-Cha" won the talent contest held at Pine Avenue Playground and will compete in the intra-city event Friday.

Winners of the stuffed animal show held last week were: Prettiest, Lynn Travis; largest, Carole Meekings; smallest, Debbie Beckwith; most unusual, Marcellus Wells; oldest, Kay Yates, and largest collection, Sherry Beard.

Today voting for the playground will be held. A dance will follow from 8 to 11 p. m.

Wednesday at 7 p. m. a doll show will be held with ribbons being given to winners. A movie will be shown at dusk.

Thursday will be picnic day with children bringing lunches and hiking to Constitution Park.

Association To Meet

The Corriganville Light and Improvement Association will hold its tri-monthly meeting today at 8 p. m., at the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Department. A financial report will be given from the recent ice cream socials.

The western tip of Virginia is farther west than Detroit.

Playlot Voting To Pick Queen

Voting for the queen of Gephart Playground began yesterday and will continue until Wednesday at 9 p. m.

Today at 7:30 p. m. the teenage club meeting will be followed by a movie.

Wednesday beginning at 12:30 p. m. will be picnic day with each child bringing his own lunch. Thursday at 7:30 p. m. will be crowning of the playground queen.

½ ton pickup

This like-new pickup has always been here at the garage. We used it for small parts pickup. It has not been titled and will carry a new truck warranty. The six cylinder engine and standard shift make this very economical to operate. The mileage is low and the tires are good. It has heater, defroster, signal lights, and the paint is not scratched. This is a wonderful opportunity to buy a like-new pickup for less than book value at our low price of

W. Va. Has Drop In Tax Collections

CHARLESTON (AP) — Collections of both the soft drink tax and the cigaret tax were lower in June than in the preceding month.

Tax Commissioner John A. Field Jr. announced Monday that the soft drink tax had brought in $284,835 in June, compared with $295,254 in May.

For June of 1957, collections from this tax amounted to $304,448.

Field said that the cigaret tax was down to $710,155 in June, from $886,799 in May. In June a year ago, the cigaret tax yielded $650,075.

For the full fiscal year, the soft drink tax collections have come to $3,402,740, while cigaret tax collections have totaled $8,938,372.

For fiscal 1956-57, comparable soft drink collections were $3,205,767, indicating an increase of 6.1 per cent for fiscal 1957-58.

Net collections of the cigaret tax for fiscal 1957-58 showed an increase of 3 per cent over 1956-57, when the total was $8,676,121.

Paul L Brothers, supervisor of the cigaret and soft drinks division, theorized that the comparatively cool weather of the past month, along with high unemployment, was partly responsible for the lower soft drink tax yield.

He said he expected a big pickup this month, if warm weather continues.

Brothers pointed out that the largest decline came in taxes collected on bottled soft drinks retailed to the public. Cash crowns were down to $23,497, compared with $38,640.

Brothers noted increases in the two revenue sources affected by the Legislature's extension this year of soft drink taxes.

Syrup stamps for June were up to $67,282, compared with $40,389 a hear ago. Soft drink stamps shot up to $2,575 from $658 in June of 1957.

Two Persons Lone Seekers Of Road Jobs

The deadline for applications to take the promotional examination for the posts of supervisor of the Allegany County Roads Department and for a foreman's position has passed and there was only a single applicant for each job.

Harry T. Skelly, 40, LaVale, who has been assistant supervisor of the department for some years, is the lone applicant for the position which will be vacant with the retirement of J. Walker Chapman, effective July 31.

Skelly served as a technical sergeant with the Air Force during World War II in an administrative capacity. He was also employed by Albert Paye, who conducted an engineering firm at one time here. Skelly entered the service of the County Roads Department in 1947.

He has been acting supervisor during the vacation of Chapman.

Price, who is a carpenter, worked on the Pennsylvania Turnpike project and also on the Big Inch pipeline before entering the County Roads Department service in 1943.

The Allegany County Civil Service Commission will conduct the promotional examination in the near future. After the tests the two men, if they qualify, will automatically assume the posts for which they have applied.

It will then be necessary to hold a promotional examination for a successor to Skelly. A man will also be added to the Roads Department in the Little Orleans-Oldtown area to replace Price.

Termites Attack Town's Floodwall

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—Ashland has termites in its floodwall.

And it ain't funny, McGee.

Floodwall Supt. L. E. McGuire estimates that it will cost the city $5,000 to repair the damage in a section of the concrete wall about eight blocks long. The bugs have eaten out a cork-type substance which had been used to fill the seams in the wall—the joints of the upright wall sections.

McGuire discovered the termites in a routine inspection last fall. A U.S. Corps of Engineers expert from Washington investigated and directed that 290 seams in the wall be cleaned out and refilled with a termite-repellent sealer.

McGuire said similar infestations had been reported in floodwalls at Huntington, W. Va., and at Ironton and Portsmouth, Ohio.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

7-8

Do you use a sachet prized for its many uses and its sustained fragrance as an everyday part of being beautiful?

Sachet Sense

One of the loveliest and daintiest of all personal accessories, the sachet, is most often overlooked.

Sachet, when properly used and placed, can give a sustained fragrance. If used properly, it will trail a magnetic aroma wherever you go. It becomes part of you—a distinct facet of your personality.

Choose the scent best suited to your personality. A floral fragrance, for instance, is an especially happy choice right now through the warmer months.

Slip sachet bags into the pockets of clothes. Scatter them among pieces of your lingerie, gloves, scarves, and handkerchiefs. Also put them in your hat boxes and hang them over your dress hangers. This will give a day long and night long aura of fragrance.

If you place sachet powder in open bowls, it will fill a room with a pleasant fragrance. Alongside your bed, it woos sweet dreams.

Women who find that liquid fragrance stales on their skin have been very successful with sachet-saturated cotton pellets worn inside their bras. Should you find that perfume "just doesn't cling," learn to use a liquid skin sachet.

Once you form the delightful "sachet habit" you'll start being remembered for a lovely fragrance. This can, of course, be one of the nicest compliments you can pay those around you.

TOMORROW: Refresh Your Disposition.

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

Whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same—YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a pattern of safe, laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin, plus stamped self-addressed envelope.

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 heart	2 clubs	Pass
Pass	Double	Pass	2 spades
Pass	2 no trump	Pass	3 spades
Pass	4 spades	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Club jack.

It is going to be extremely difficult to induce West to double anyone from now on. Previously a hand was presented in which, holding a side ace and K-Q-5 of trumps behind the declarer, he was unable to defeat a contract of five clubs doubled. Today's hand was the very next one dealt in the same game.

"This couldn't happen to me twice in one rubber," he announced as he doubled the final contract of four spades after his partner had made a vulnerable overcall at the level of two. Following a slight slip in the defense at trick one, the defenders were helpless against South's plan of attack.

The jack of clubs was opened, ducked in dummy and permitted to hold. Had East overtaken with the king and cashed a high club the contract could have been set two tricks, and the menacing appearance of the heart suit should perhaps have convinced him of the necessity for taking club tricks immediately, but West was in and shifted to the eight of diamonds.

This was taken in dummy and the ace and king of hearts were cashed. South discarding a club. When East's queen dropped, the heart honors were continued as declarer threw his low diamonds.

Now a diamond was led to the king and a successful finesse was taken in spades. The ace of trumps was cashed and the last heart ruffed with the four of spades as West was forced to follow. West had nothing but the king-ten-nine of trumps left and he was obliged to win South's trump return, cash, the king of spades and then present declarer with the fulfilling trick on the last trick.

Appointment Last Business Of Old Council

The last official order of William V. Keegan, retiring commissioner of the police and fire departments, was confirming Lloyd H. Day as a regular member of the Fire Department.

The order stipulated that Day would become a regular member effective Friday, after being certified by the Civil Service Commission as a result of an examination July 3.

The city auditor was authorized to issue a check in the amount of $2,378.90 to the Stept Construction and Sales Company for the installation of a backstop and base line fencing at Stitcher Field.

Also ordered issued was a check for $15 to Elsie Orndorff, 461 Central Avenue, for overpayment of 1957 real estate taxes. The Liller Brothers Company was ordered paid $4,833 for improvement made to Reginia Avenue, the amount to be charged to the General Improvement Bond account.

The retiring Council also ordered the city auditor to issue a check for $100 to Walter E. (Pat) Kline for property on Ascension Street. The amount is to be charged to the Contingent Fund.

The city was enriched by $305.62, the amount of a check from the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company for materials taken during May from the city-owned Walnut Island property. The firm leases the island and pays the city a royalty for material used in its business.

W.Va. Air Guard Will Fly To Camp

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP) —Most of the members of the 167th Fighter Squadron, West Virginia Air National Guard, will travel to and from their summer encampment via commercial airliners.

The officers and men—about 239 strong—will leave here July 20 aboard four large commercial transports for Savannah, Ga., and two weeks of training.

The Air Guard Bureau approved use of Delta, Mackey and Trans-Caribbean airlines to transport the men from Municipal Airport here. Squadron pilots, however, will fly the unit's 25 F86 jet fighters and two T33 jet trainers to Savannah.

Last year, the bulk of the squadron traveled to camp on a special train.

Parish Welcomes New Minister

MT. SAVAGE — The parishioners of Mt. Savage Methodist Church entertained with an open house and reception for the new minister, Rev. Harbold and Mrs. Harbold and family. The parsonage was open for inspection after being completely renovated for the minister and his family.

A program was held in the church recreation room. Mrs. Mary Deffenbaugh gave a skit entitled, "Gwennie's First Day at School." Mrs. Margaret Haus accompanied Donna Huff, Janet Pressman, Faye Markwood who sang several selections. Amy Twigg accompanied Kay Ann Robinette, Susan Winebrenner and Nancy Dickle as they sang. Louis Haus was master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Martha Truly and Mrs. Mary Best presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Lucille Miller and Mrs. Amy Stewart were in charge of serving ice cream and Mrs. Alice Shipe and Mrs. Rose Denniser were in charge of the cookies.

The Rev. Harbold served in the Marine Corps for 25 years. He was at Knox Hill for seven years and he is coming to this parish from Urbana where he served five years. The Rev. and Mrs. Harbold have eight children and seven grandchildren.

Entertains At Dinner

MT. SAVAGE—Mrs. Lawrence Winebrenner entertained recently with a family dinner honoring her husband on his birthday. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Tabler, Ridgeley; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Huston, Frostburg; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dorman, Mt. Savage and Miss Georgianna Terrall and Miss Patricia Terrall, Puerto Rico.

Auxiliary Unit To Name Delegates

WESTERNPORT — Delegates to the state convention to be held at Baltimore July 16-19 will be selected at the monthly meeting of Victory Unit, American Legion Auxiliary at the Post home this evening.

Plans will also be made for representation at the Mountain District meeting at Grantsville, Sunday, July 13.

Winners Noted

MT. SAVAGE — Court Theresa CDA held a public card party recently in the St. Patrick's Parish Hall. The following were prize winners: Mrs. Pearl King, Mrs. Isabel Fair, Mrs. Adelaide Logsdon, John Rubbenkamp, Joseph Malloy, Edward Malloy, and Mrs. Isabel Adams. A special prize was awarded to Mrs. Belva Miller.

Dark Vintage Cops Pollyanna Stakes At Arlington Park

CHICAGO, July 7 (AP) — North Star Ranch's unbeaten Dark Vintage, an odds-on favorite, won the $18,575 Pollyanna Stakes by 2½ lengths as Arlington Park opened its 49-day meeting today.

A record opening day crowd of 16,240 saw Dark Vintage score her fifth victory.

Hal Price Headley's Aesthetic was second in the 5½-furlong dash for 2-year-old fillies. Morrie A. Moss' Lam, a 103-1 shot finished third in the field of 13.

Dark Vintage, ridden by John Heckmann, paid $3.40, $2.60 and $2.40. Aesthetic returned $4.60 and $3.80. The show price on Lam was $17.40. The time was 1:04 4/5.

The winner, owned by E. E. Voynow, of Chicago, and Stanley Hubbard of St. Paul, earned $11,600 to boost her winnings to $37,750.

Middles Signed

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Dockery of Brooklyn, and George Benton of Philadelphia, a pair of middleweights, signed Wednesday to meet in a televised 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena on Monday, July 7.

There are almost seven pounds of calcium in a 150-pound man—99 per cent of it in his teeth and bones.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

X S U B L P M K B J V K Z W S F Q R P X T F X A P W N F B D Z J, W N F B R P M J V, X U Q W N F P X M U B U D — Q B K M X P F B.

New Mayor, Council Take Office

Cumberland's new Mayor and Council began a four-year term yesterday morning after brief inaugural ceremonies in the packed Council Chamber at City Hall.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech received the gavel from outgoing Mayor Roy W. Eves, along with Mr. Eves' best wishes and the oath of office administered by Joseph E. Boden, Circuit Court clerk.

John J. Long, only holdover member of the Council, was named commissioner of streets and public property, a new position for him. In previous administrations he has served as commissioner of police and fire, and most recently, as finance commissioner.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder was appointed to succeed Mr. Long as finance commissioner. The only woman ever elected to Council, Mrs. Roeder had served two terms as street commissioner before losing to Mr. Eves in the 1954 mayoral race.

Requests Surveys

Philmore F. Fleming was named police and fire commissioner, and G. Ray Light, commissioner of water and electric light. Both are newcomers to the city political scene, having succeeded in their first bids for office last month.

William R. Carscaden was appointed city solicitor, succeeding Thomas B. Finan.

Mayor Keech, in his acceptance speech, called for a survey of the city's finances, and for appointment of a charter study commission.

Said the new mayor:

"We hope that we will be able to satisfactorily meet the responsibility that you have laid on our shoulders. I can assure you that we will make every conscientious effort to do so.

Will Begin Study

"The problems facing any city government are similar to those facing any business and when you consider that the city of Cumberland has an annual budget of over $2,000,000, you can realize immediately that this is truly one of the large and important businesses in this area.

"With the rising cost of living over the past year and the decline in revenues from state sources, your new administration must make every endeavor to see that the city is operated in a most efficient manner in order that it can adequately supply you with needed services.

"In order to accomplish this, I am going to propose that this Council make a very careful analysis of our financial position. We are faced with the necessity of passing the annual appropriation and revenue ordinances as of the last week in August. Accordingly, such a study will be commenced immediately. I propose that this study be far more extensive than one required to merely meet the budgetary deadline, and that the same be continued until we have established a full and complete picture of what cost and expense the city will face in the next four years, as well as its possible sources of revenue.

"Since the efficiency of government is dependent upon the form of government, to a great extent, I am further going to propose to the council that consideration be given to this. It has been a decade since we have had a review of our form of city government by a non-partisan charter commission. I am going to recommend to the Council the appointment of a new charter commission and the submission of the findings of that commission to the people. I do not think that the council should pass on this matter of any change in the form of our government, if such should be recommended, but all such changes should be left to the vote of the people by way of referendum.

Asks Proper Pay Scale

"In fairness to our city employes, who work long and faithfully for our people, I feel that an adequate and proper pay scale should be devised as part of our approach to the problem of efficient government. To get competent people in our Civil Service, we should have a fair and impartial Civil Service system and adequate compensation for the people composing the same. Only in this manner can we increase the efficiency of our services to the public.

"In conclusion, may I say that I am proud to be associated with the members of this Council. While we are going to work together as harmoniously as possible, it is only natural that from time to time differences will arise. It is my belief that we will be able to solve these differences with mutual understanding and cooperation, and it is my hope that that we can give to every citizen of Cumberland a sound city government of which he may be justly proud."

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson was master of ceremonies for the inaugural ceremony.

Shockley Heads Lab Unit Of Paper Plant

Westvaco To Make Building Products

A native of Cumberland will direct the Products Development Laboratory of the million dollar flakeboard plant which West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company puts into production in Tyrone, Pa., today.

William H. Shockley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harvey Shockley, 210 Schley Street, will head the facility which is unique in the particle board industry.

While technical service director of the Westvaco Building Boards Division, he directed the group of researchers and product engineers who carried out the technical work related to the development of the new flakeboard products.

Was On West Coast

A 1940 graduate of Western Maryland College, Westminster, where he majored in chemistry and physics, Mr. Shockley was a member of the staff of the Institute of Paper Chemistry at Appleton, Wis., and worked as a new products development engineer for a major west coast paper company before joining Westvaco at Tyrone in 1956.

The complex engineering problems relating to the design of the new flakeboard plant were handled by John H. Christ, chief plant engineer, whose experience with the company covers 25 years at the Luke and Tyrone mills.

A graduate of the University of Detroit, with a B. S. in chemical engineering, Mr. Christ joined the company at Luke as a laborer and quickly rose to the position of steam and power engineer.

He went to Tyrone as power engineer in 1946 and the following year was appointed chief plant engineer.

Enters New Field

The new operation will mark the entry of the company, one of the nation's leading manufacturers of paper and paper products, into the building products field.

The Tyrone plant will manufacture a full line of flakeboard products for uses in furniture, cabinets, flush doors, counter tops and floor underlayment. Board with paper and plastic overlays and veneers will be made for interior paneling and siding.

West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company was formed at Luke in 1888 when William Luke, a master papermaker from Scotland, and two of his sons produced the first commercially successful sulphite chemical wood pulp in North America.

The firm now employs 14,000 workers and has annual sales of over $200,000,000.

Legion Post Takes By-Law Vote Tonight

Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the post home.

Paul Weisenmiller, post commander, said a vote will be taken on a proposal to amend the by-laws for the purpose of increasing the amount of the annual dues. Twi-thirds of the members present must vote in favor of the by-law change before it can become effective, he said.

A report will also be given on the caucus held by Mountain District Legion posts at Oakland on Sunday.

Births

Dr. and Mrs. C. F. McCuiston, Arlington, Va., announce the birth of a daughter there yesterday. The mother is the former Miss Mary L. Shober, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Shober, 111 North Allegany Street.

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sullivan, 304 Magruder Street, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Richards, Frostburg, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wilkinson, Westernport, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Booth, Keyser, W. Va., a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance Chucci, RFD 3, Keyser, W. Va., a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hamburg Jr., RFD 1, city, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald C. Smith, LaVale, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Mooney, 412 South Cedar Street, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh R. Beeman, National Highway, a son Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hershberger, RFD 1, Cash Valley Road, a son last Friday.

New Faces At City Hall

Mayor J. Edwin Keech tries out the mayor's desk just after taking office yesterday. With him is City Attorney William R. Carscaden, appointed yesterday by the new Mayor and Council as it took office for a four-year term. Council members are John J. Long, Lucile W. Roeder, Philmore F. Fleming and G. Ray Light. Mr. Long is the only holdover member.

Flintstone Boy Wounds Self

A 14-year-old Flintstone area boy was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday after being accidentally shot at his home.

Arnold Wanless, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wanless, Flintstone, RD 1, had pellets of a .22 calibre shell removed from his chest and left arm.

Attaches said the youth had finished cleaning the rifle in a shed near his home and was going to try it out.

He pulled the trigger. The cartridge apparently exploded in the chamber and pieces of it hit him in the chest and arm.

Searchers Find Missing Man

Volunteer firemen of Barton, other residents of the community and State Police last night located an 35-year-old man who had been missing from his home since about 10 a.m. yesterday.

Archibald Broadwater, a retired carpenter who lives across the street from the Barton fire hall, was located about 7:30 p.m. on Swanton Hill, where he had gone berry picking earlier in the day.

Fire Chief James Lamberson said about 35 volunteer firemen were called to join in the search about 7 p.m. A number of the firemen got on one of the pumpers and headed for Swanton Hill. They spotted Mr. Broadwater from the road in the vicinity of the city reservoir.

Firemen said Mr. Broadwater apparently became confused, lost his way and wandered over the area.

Permit Is Sought For New Armory

The State Department of Public Improvements, through the John I. Vandegrift Company, yesterday applied for a city permit to build the new National Guard Armory here.

The Maryland National Guard recently recommended that the firm's $351,080 bid for the structure be accepted.

Ridgeley Children Get An Additional Playlot

A second playground recently completed in Ridgeley is providing children with facilities for a lot of fun this summer.

Mayor Charles H. Fryer said about 40 children are playing each day on the grounds located on Williams Street in the rear of the city building.

A grader of the E. J. Albrecht Company, flood control contractor, was donated for use in leveling the ground. Playground equipment purchased sometime ago by the Lions Club of Ridgeley has been placed on the field.

There are six large swings, four see-saws and a sliding board. A merry-go-round will be installed as soon as a necessary part is replaced.

The equipment was formerly located on the Ridgeley High School grounds but when the flood wall levee was built, the playlot had to be abandoned.

Neighbors are keeping an eye on the new playground and are making sure the children play in an orderly manner. It will be maintained by the city employes, Mayor Fryer said.

A large playground is located on Silver Street and the job of keeping the grass trimmed is being done by Charles and Lloyd Coffman and Ralph Hornick, who live in the neighborhood.

About 75 children use the facilities of this lot, which has a baseball diamond and other playlot equipment.

Kiwanis Club To Visit Camp

The Kiwanis Club will hold its regular meeting this week at Sunshine Camp instead of Central YMCA. The meeting is called for 12:15 p.m. Thursday, and Albert D. Darby Jr., president, has appealed for 100 per cent attendance.

Child Health Conferences Keep Well Babies Well

This is the fourth of a series of articles outlining the aims, services and future of the Allegany County Health Department, based on the booklet, "Your Health Department."

The Allegany County Health Department last year conducted 210 child health conferences for more than 7,000 pre-school youngsters.

The primary function of these conferences is to safeguard the normal growth and well-being of children from birth to school age.

It really is a program of "keeping well babies well."

The conferences are held in 16 health centers located throughout the county and are scheduled monthly for the first year of a child's life and twice a year thereafter.

The services are available to all who are unable to obtain them from their private physician, or are referred to clinics by private physicians.

Children suffering from acute illnesses are not seen at the clinics. If a sick child is erroneously brought to a clinic it will be seen but the mother will be advised to take it to a private physician.

Notices are cent by the Health Department to all new mothers, stating the date, time and location of the conference nearest her home.

At these conferences, a family history is taken by the public health nurse. The child is weighed and measured by a lay health worker and the nurse interviews the mother on the child's general health and asks if there is a particular problem with which she desires help.

At least one physical examination is conducted by the clinician, who discusses with parents any abnormalities found and makes recommendations for corrections. He also checks the child's formula and diet and makes recommendations for changes when needed.

Immunization against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus or polio may be advised and given under the clinician's supervision.

All health supervision of foster children is given through the child health conferences.

Amcelle Honors 26 Veterans

Twenty-six employes of the Amcelle plant were presented gold watches recently in recognition of 25 years of service with the Celanese Corporation of America.

W. E. Crooks, plant manager, presented the watches while section superintendents awarded five-star service emblems to the following:

Textile Manufacturing — Mildred B. Boggs, Nellie O. Fultz, Elsie S. Hausrath, Helen R. Jenkins, Mary V. Kasecamp, Rudolph B. Lewis, Isabell J. Nightengale, Anne W. Robinson, Catherine M. Rogano and Helene V. Schutz.

Extrusion Manufacturing — Alma L. Beeman, Jesse W. Blank, Robert C. Cook, Martin D. Cuff, I. Woodrow Malone and George C. Rowe.

Engineering — John D. Morgan and Theodore R. Hansell.

Solvent Recovery — John F. Crowe and Joseph P. Montana.

Personnel — H. Vernon Adams.

Police Investigating Gas Station Theft

State Police are investigating a breaking and entering and theft of several cartons of cigarets from a service station in McCoole.

An employe reported for work this morning and found the gas station operated by Thomas Nash had been broken into and 19 cartons of cigarets stolen.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya who is investigating with Tfc. R. C. Deshong said the station was entered sometime between 8 p. m. Sunday and 8 a. m. yesterday.

Entry into the building was gained by forcing a door of the side of station. The money in the cash register was not taken, Mr. Lilya said.

Meeting Called By Conciliator

Officials of Local 453, Teamsters Union, and the Green Spring, W. Va., plant of the Koppers Company will meet here for a contract negotiating session July 15.

The meeting at 7 p. m. in the union offices was arranged by Commissioner James Holden, of the U. S. Conciliation Service.

C. E. Stutzman, union business agent, said workers recently rejected a three-cent wage offer for a contract to replace a pact which expired June 1.

The company employs about 85 hourly-rated employes in the wood preserving plant at Green Spring.

Allocations Are Made To CUF Agencies

Fund Set Aside For Health, New Units

Twenty-nine health, welfare and character building agencies of this area have received 1958 allocations from the County United Fund.

Allocation of the 1958 campaign funds was made recently after the CUF Allocations Committee, headed by J. Kenneth Morgan, met with agency officials to review budgets for operations during the current year.

The Allegany County chapter of the American Red Cross was allocated $35,700, the Mineral County Chapter of the American Red Cross, $3,400 and the Piedmont Red Cross branch, $1,500.

The Associated Charities here received a total allocation of $39,439.58 and the Baby Welfare Society $3,439.58.

Receive Allocations

Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, was allotted $21,833.33 from the 1958 campaign funds.

Friends Aware of Handicapped Children of Cumberland will receive $3,000, the Frostburg unit $1,600 and the Westernport Friends Aware chapter $1,400.

Frostburg City Library, another CUF agency, will get $5,000; Cumberland Council, Girl Scouts, $13,806.25 and the Keating Day Nursery here $8,189.13.

The Keyser-Mineral County Library was allocated $2,370, Lonaconing Health Center $600 and the Midland Health Center $300.

Piedmont Public Library received a 1958 award of $120 and the Salvation Army of Cumberland $37,766.66 while the travelers Aid Society will get $1,732.66.

The Tri-Towns Girl Scout Lone Troop's allocation totals $680 and the United Charities of Keyser $5,000.

Set Aside Fund

The United Family Service, Frostburg Area, Inc., organized this month, received a $3,000 allocation and the United Organizations of the Tri-Towns will operate under a $5,250 allocation.

The Allocations committee set aside $1,275 for the Westernport Health Center and $1,050 for the Westernport Library.

Central YMCA was allocated $38,906.71, the USO, $2,000 and the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation $3,000.

The committee set aside $24,000 for health purposes or newly affiliated local agencies of the County United Fund.

Report Shows June Wetter, Cooler

During the month of June total rainfall in Cumberland was 4.31 inches, or 0.43 inches above the June average. The average daily temperature here was 67.1 degrees, which is 3.8 degrees below the recognized normal.

At the Wiley Ford gauge of the North Branch of the Potomac River, the observed stream flow for June varied between 954 cubic feet per second or 617 million gallons per day on June 22, and 235 cubic feet per second or 152 million gallons per day on June 11. The average flow for the month was 384 cubic feet per second or 248 million gallons per day, which is 44.5 per cent of the 29 year June average.

A slight decrease in storage in the Savage River Reservoir caused an average increase of one cubic foot per second or 646,000 gallons per day. This represents 0.3 per cent of the flow at Cumberland.

The report is prepared each month by members of the Geological Survey crew here.

Woman Dies In Wreck In California

Mrs. Leona Nelson Was Native Of City

A former local woman was killed early yesterday morning in a one-car accident in Vallejo, Calif., where she had been residing.

Relatives of Mrs. Leona Nelson, 45, were notified here yesterday of the accident. The relatives reported that no details of the mishap were available except that Mrs. Nelson was traveling alone when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Nelson was a native of Cumberland, and was the daughter of the late Phillip and Anna (Marley) Hess. She had been residing in California since after World War II.

She is survived by her husband, Harry Nelson; two sons, Nelson, Vallejo, and Daniel Nelson, San Francisco, Calif.; two brothers, Ernest Hess, this city, and Roland Hess, Vallejo; five sisters, Mrs. John Copel, Friendsville; Mrs. George Winters, Baltimore; Mrs. Clifford Crowe, College Park; Mrs. Esther Lancaster, Cresaptown, and Mrs. Harold Bartlett, this city, and three grandchildren.

Services and burial will be held tomorrow in Vallejo.

Rubber Workers Plan Strike Vote

Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the Rubber Workers Hall to begin taking a strike vote, according to A. E. Johnson, union president.

The vote is being taken in connection with current wage negotiations with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Voting will be continued tomorrow at Frank's Tavern from 6 to 8 a. m., 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., 2 to 4 p. m., 6 to 7:30 p. m. and 10 p. m. to midnight.

Plans for the special meeting were announced yesterday as company and union negotiators continued a series of meetings on the union's request for a wage increase under a reopening clause in a contract which expires next May.

Mr. Johnson said there was "no settlement as yet" but that negotiations will resume today at 10 a. m. at the Kelly plant.

The strike vote is a formality under the union's by-laws. If approved, it authorizes the negotiating committee to take strike action if needed.

Local 26 represents about 1,600 hourly rated employes of the local tire plant.

Goodyear and Goodrich workers last week accepted an eight-cent wage increase which is expected to set the industry pattern.

Four Marines Get Promotions

They are Carl F. Miller, 4 John Street; Marshall L. Montgomery, 314 Emily Street; James E. Weakley, of 105 North Johnson Street; and John W. Wilson, 314 Willison Street.

Promotion certificates will be presented by Captain Billy C. Menges, commanding officer of the unit, at a company formation during field training at Little Creek, Va.

Everybody Out!

Each carrying his own weapon, members of the Sixth Infantry Company, local Marine Corps Reserve unit, and its satellite unit from Frederick, debark from buses which took them to Little Creek, Va., where they began training yesterday. From front to rear are Pfc. Wayne Lawson of Frederick, Pfc. Joseph J. Footen, 202 Maple Street, Cumberland; Pvt. Warren C. Larken, Frederick; Pfc. Thomas E. Hartman, Limestone Road, Keyser, W. Va., and Pvt. Carl F. Miller Jr., 4 John Street, Ridgeley.

Local Marines Start Training At Little Creek

Reservists Study 'Amphib' Tactics

Local Marine reservists launched an intensive two-week training schedule yesterday at Little Creek, Va., where 58 members of the company and its satellite unit at Frederick were taken by bus Sunday.

During their training session, the Cumberland reservists will be schooled in the latest techniques of amphibious warfare. Each man also will spend four days on the rifle range firing the M-1 rifle, .45 calibre pistol, and the Browning automatic rifle.

Shooting scores attained by unit personnel will be compared with the marksmanship scores of 18 other Marine Reserve units training at Little Creek this summer. A trophy will be awarded to the unit with the most outstanding performance record.

Highlighting the training period will be a vertical assault by helicopter. Vertical envelopment is a new assault concept, developed by the Marine Corps, whereby Marines are swiftly lifted into combat positions by troop-carrying helicopters.

Captain Billy C. Menges, commander of the Sixth, remarked upon arrival: "We welcome this opportunity to become more familiar with the new atomic-age techniques of helicopter and amphibious assault. Every man in our company will benefit from this special training, just as Maryland and the entire nation will benefit. Only through intensive training can we keep our Marine Corps Reserve the finest force-in-readiness in the world."

Captain Menges, who resides at 27 Woodlawn Ave., LaVale, has taken two weeks' leave from his position as a technical writer at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory to lead his men at summer training.

Next weekend the men will have an opportunity to visit Virginia Beach and the historic cities of Williamsburg and Jamestown, Va., all of which are near the base.

At the conclusion of their training on Friday, July 18, the Sixth will return to Cumberland.

Bowling Green Motorist Hurt

John Longerbeam, 46, of Bowling Green, was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday afternoon with injuries sustained when the car he was driving skidded into a tree along Braddock Road.

Attaches said the man sustained a possible fractured left arm. X-rays were taken.

The accident occurred about 4:25 p. m. near 927 Braddock Road. Officer Harold Gibson said the driver told him he was traveling to Cumberland, and a shower had left the highway in a slippery condition.

While descending the hill, he hit the brakes and the car skidded to the left of the road and into a tree, damaging the fender, grill and bumper. Damages amounted to about $250, the policeman said.

Mr. Longerbeam was taken to the hospital by a passing motorist.

Cancer Society Lists Services

The citizens of Maryland have been most generous in their support of the 1958 Cancer Crusade, according to the county chapter.

The Maryland Division, American Cancer Society, feels that people are entitled to know how the funds received are allocated, and what services are available to the cancer patient.

The state unit maintains 23 detection centers in the counties where persons residing in the state may receive free examinations.

Tumor clinics also are operated to provide consultation and treatment for routine and special cases of cancer. Three treatment clinics are loacted in Baltimore, and there are five diagnostic clinics in the counties. Requests for these services may be made through local county health departments.

Some medical care for cancer patients financially unable to defray costs also is provided. These services include radon seeds, prosthesis, drugs, nursing care and other benefits. Persons needing these services in Allegany County may contact the local office of the Cancer Society at 111 Union Street or by calling PA 2-2145.

Deaths

Caviness, Mrs. Elizabeth, 52, former resident.

Kirby, Walter P., 55, formerly of Frostburg.

Lindner, Frank L., 65, of 26 Schiller Terrace.

Ryan, Milton H., 58, of 1400 Virginia Avenue.
